

In an effort to support our families following the wildfire, we simplified this year's school supply list. We removed some of the general classroom supplies that are easy to purchase in bulk and left some personal items that students may enjoy choosing for themselves.

As we prepare to welcome our students back, we know many of our families are just beginning to settle back into their routines, while others continue to recover and navigate the challenges of the past several weeks. Our hearts remain with everyone who has been affected.

As a school community, we will continue to support one another with kindness, patience, and understanding. We look forward to beginning a new school year together—one filled with learning, healing, hope, and the strength that comes from being together again.
