1. Narrative description of the Prop 28 arts education program(s) funded. (2500 character limit).

During the 2025/26 school year, the Academies of the Antelope Valley moved from the planning phase of Proposition 28 Arts and Music in Schools implementation to actively utilizing funds to strengthen and expand arts education opportunities for students. Building upon the needs assessment and program planning conducted during the prior year, AAV strategically invested Proposition 28 resources to supplement existing Visual and Performing Arts programming and increase student access to high-quality arts experiences. Proposition 28 funding supported the addition of a Site Arts Lead Teacher (SALT) and utilizing an Arts Industry Professional. The SALT provided site-based leadership for arts education by helping coordinate VAPA initiatives, supporting alignment with the California Arts Standards, identifying opportunities for program growth, and serving as a liaison between AAV and the broader arts education efforts of Antelope Valley Union High School District. The Industry Professional provided specialized expertise and authentic arts experiences that complemented existing instruction and strengthened opportunities for student engagement and skill development. These initial investments established a stronger foundation for continued growth of arts programming at AAV. In 2026/27, AAV will further expand its Proposition 28-supported programming through the addition of a guitar teacher, providing students with increased access to music instruction and an additional pathway for developing their creativity, technical skills, and artistic expression. In alignment with Proposition 28 requirements, AAV continues to prioritize funding for personnel who provide arts education and direct services to students, with remaining allowable funds supporting materials, supplies, and contracted services. Through the continued strategic integration of Proposition 28 resources, AAV is building sustainable arts education opportunities in music, visual arts, media arts, and performing arts while supporting equitable access and preparing students for college, careers, and continued engagement in the arts.
