

Dual Enrollment & Early College Credit

Earn Early College Credit While in High School

Dual Enrollment CCAP

College Courses for High School Students

Courses offered through College and Career Access Pathways (CCAP) are designed specifically for high school students.

- Tuition-free college courses
- Classes will be hosted virtually, at LBHS, or at the community college
- Class times will vary
- Open exclusively to LBUSD students
- Potentially earn both high school and college credit
- Aligned with career pathways and student interests
- Students must have high school site approval before enrolling
- Students receive grades/credits on their official community college transcript
- CCAP courses that have been approved for high school credits will also be listed on the high school transcript

General Dual Enrollment

Concurrent Enrollment

Students may independently enroll in the community college courses throughout the school year.

- Wide range of course offerings
- May require payment of fees depending on the course (students are responsible for the health fee and textbooks)
- Classes will be on-site at the community college or virtual
- Class times vary depending on the college's course schedule (make sure courses don't conflict with your LBHS classes)
- Students receive grades/credits on their official community college transcripts

Early College Credit

Articulated Credit

Students enrolled in select Career Technical Education (CTE) courses may be eligible to earn potential college credit through articulation agreements with local colleges.

- To earn potential college credit, students must earn a B or higher in the articulated course
- Students must complete the enrollment process for the college that is awarding the potential credits
