

A 5x5 grid of squares. The background is a light gray color. Overlaid on this is a grid of darker gray lines that form the boundaries of the squares. In each of the 25 squares, there is a small, dark gray square located in the top-left corner. This small square is positioned such that its bottom-right corner is at the intersection of the grid lines. The overall effect is a pattern of light gray squares with a darker gray grid and small dark gray squares in the top-left of each cell.
