

Lilly Science Explorer Program

Eli Lilly & Company sponsors a coeducational Science Explorer Post that focuses on careers in science and medicine. Explorers learn about educational and career experiences from a number of scientists at each monthly evening meeting and are exposed to a broad variety of science fields and research disciplines ranging from Drug Development to Chemical Analysis to Forensics to Surgery. There are also opportunities at some meetings to visit scientific venues related to a wide variety of scientific careers such as biology, chemistry, medicine, genetics, forensics, biochemistry, astronomy, physics and engineering.

This program is the longest running Explorer Post in Indiana and has proven to be a valuable tool for students as they consider their future in the field of science. Each of the meetings covers a stand alone topic, so attendance at every meeting is not required. Further details are provided at the initial Open House meeting in the Fall of each year.

Contact: Guy Hansen (guy_hansen@att.net)
Lead Exploring Advisor and Coordinator