SEAHAWK SPOTLIGHT - CONGRATULATIONS, ADRIAN JONES!

A story of commitment, resilience, and achievement

The Franklin County Adult Education Program proudly recognizes Adrian Jones, also known as "Pig," of Apalachicola for his dedication and perseverance as a student.

Throughout his educational journey, Jones demonstrated exceptional commitment, balancing full-time employment, coaching responsibilities and fatherhood while working toward earning his GED/high school diploma. He serves as an assistant coach with the Franklin County School (FCS) basketball programs and is the head junior varsity coach for boys basketball.

Jones successfully completed his final exam and earned his diploma, a milestone that program staff were honored to celebrate alongside him.

His determination and resilience serve as a powerful example of what can be achieved through hard work and persistence. Jones' accomplishment reflects a strong commitment to personal growth, and staff are confident his future holds continued success.

The program also extends sincere appreciation to instructor Stacey Carpenter for her dedication and continued support of adult learners. Her encouragement and guidance continue to make a lasting impact on students and the program. Congratulations to Adrian Jones on a job well done.

Individuals interested in earning a GED or high school diploma through the Franklin County Adult Education Program are encouraged to learn more. For additional information, contact Michelle Richards at 850-670-2800, ext. 4110.
