Skyline Pathways Newsletter March 2026

How has 2026 started at Skyline? Students have been ENGAGED and ENGAGING! From amazing Career Exploration Visits to Dolby, Apple, and local elementary schools, to college visits, museum exploration, and student leadership conferences, Titans have been learning about the world around them and thinking about how they want to be involved in it.

Student leadership continues to bloom – each pathway now has a robust student leadership group that is focused on building pathway pride and improving the student experience.

A few highlights from each of our 3 pathways are noted below, in addition to important cross-pathways events and activities.
Also see opportunities for involvement at the end of the newsletter!

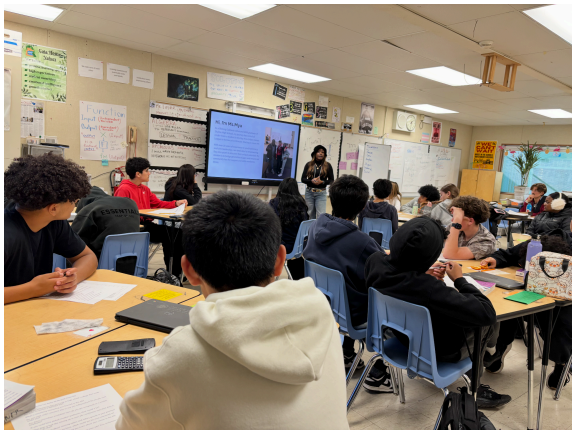

9th grade Career Day + Professional Meet-and-Greet for Pathway Students

On January 22, Career Speakers from business, law, digital media, environmental, and many other professions came to 9th grade classes to share about their career journeys. The visiting professionals, many of whom were Skyline alumni, offered reflection and advice to the students as they entered into their pathway selection and course request process.
10th-12th grade students had the opportunity to practice their networking skills, joining the career speakers for a meet-and-greet over lunch.
Thanks to our visiting professionals and to 9th grade host teachers for an amazing Career Day!

Learning and Leading in the Education and Community Health (CHED) Pathway

Education and Community Health students have been engaged in microinternships, in the study of history and significance of local history such as the Black Panther party and the Port Chicago 50. Among many other activities, they have also partnered with The Center in cooking challenges and took part in Outward Bound ropes courses. Microinternships, a new venture this year spearheaded by Pathway Director Edward Hill for his 11th grade Educational Psychology students, were led by CHED Advisory Board Partners at Asian Health Services. Through this microinternship, all 11th grade CHED students have now been trained in Healthy Relationships and Toxic Masculinity; they will publicly present their learning later this spring.

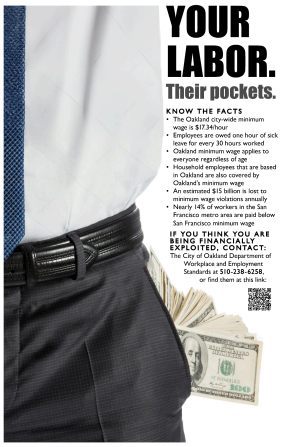

Students Make Headlines in the Arts Entertainment & Design Pathway

AED Students have been busy creating! They are complementing ideas and stories with digital tools, from advanced camera equipment, to animation and InDesign. Recent projects have included a Cold War interview integrated project in Multimedia Arts and US History and a PSA project in Art Design Foundations.

In December, AED students had the opportunity to work with IATSE and SAG-AFTRA professionals from Los Angeles on the annual Professional Film Project. The film, titled His Kind, directed by AED pathway director Dennis Spencer, is the third film that has served as a conduit to connect our students with union craftspeople currently working in the film industry. The Professional Film Project started in 2022 and has served nearly 60 of our Skyline students and alumni, granting real industry experience and giving each worker their own professional IMDB credit for their contributions as production assistants in the various departments. Watch out for a screening soon!
Also check out the recent SF Film Festival feature on AED's own Dream Campbell, Youth Filmmaker In Residence! Dream is the third SF Film Youth Resident to come from workers that gained their experience on the Professional Film Project.

Renewal and Future Planning in the Green Energy Pathway

Spring finds Green Titans engaging with the world around them in ways that contribute to sustainability locally and globally. From creek restoration and air quality monitoring, to following community input on the Port of Oakland redesign, Green students are learning how to meet the complex environmental, technical, and socio-political challenges of the day. They have also been engaged in career exploration with partners like Ignite, who held a career day in January to support female and non-binary students with planning for careers in STEM. Look out for amazing Green student presentations coming soon!

TITAN LIFE: Internships and Interviews!

While Seniors are preparing for Capstone Presentations and getting ready for graduation and post-secondary plans, Skyline 9th-11th graders are thinking about the summer and next year. Students are signing up for Summer ECCCO internships and preparing their resumes, while learning important 21st Century Skills like critical thinking and collaboration in their pathway classes. Events in March include the Opportunities Fair (March 24), College Fair (March 16), Community College Fair (March 26), and Mock Interview Fair (March 19).

Volunteers Needed! Please support our Juniors at the annual Mock Interview Fair on March 19!

SAVE THE DATE FOR CAPSTONE FAMILY & FRIENDS NIGHT, APRIL 22, 5-7 pm!

Happy Spring from Skyline Pathways!
