Jefferson School District continues to enhance and expand arts education opportunities for all students through Proposition 28 funding. During the 2026–2027 school year, the District began developing a new districtwide marching band program to increase student access to music education and create additional performance opportunities across grade levels. In addition, Proposition 28 funds were used to strengthen existing music and arts programs throughout the District. Investments included the purchase of concert risers to improve student performances at school music events, enhancing sound equipment to support district theater productions and student performances, and providing students with opportunities to attend live performances at local opera houses and other performing arts venues. These experiences expose students to high-quality performing arts while enriching classroom instruction and inspiring creativity. Through these investments, Jefferson School District continues to expand student access to high-quality visual and performing arts experiences, improve instructional resources, and foster creativity, collaboration, and artistic expression for all students.
