Ale Course Learning Requirements:

Monthly Progress Review: State law also requires enrolled scholars to maintain monthly forward progress toward completing classes with success. Scholars are expected to complete one monthly module of at-standard work or have completed the teacher-prescribed plan as assigned by the certificated teacher of that course. If the assigned at-standard work is submitted, the scholar will be considered having made Satisfactory Progress. If the assigned work is not submitted and/or is not at standard, the scholar will be considered having made Unsatisfactory Progress. An overall Monthly Progress Review (MPR) score will be prepared in the ALE App and notification that they are ready to be viewed will be emailed to every family once a month by the Advisory/Homeroom teacher to communicate overall progress towards mastery and passing of the courses. Scholars are either making Satisfactory Progress or Unsatisfactory Progress. If a scholar is considered having made Satisfactory progress (by the individual teachers in individual courses) in 50% or more of their courses, they will be considered having made Satisfactory progress overall. If a scholar is considered having made Unsatisfactory progress (by the individual teachers in individual courses) in more than 50% of their courses they will be considered having made Unsatisfactory Progress overall. If a scholar is determined to have made Unsatisfactory Progress for consecutive months, the Advisory/Homeroom teacher will include escalating intervention plans each month in the Monthly Progress Review. If a scholar reaches 3 months of Unsatisfactory Progress they may be withdrawn by the administration.

Evaluation

Ale Course Evaluation Methods:

MPR

(Monthly Progress Review)

Each month teachers decide whether a scholar is making Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory progress in each course. Then the homeroom/advisory teacher will determine if scholar is overall Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory for the month.

Secondary (6-12) - to be overall SATISFACTORY for the month, a scholar must be passing half or more of their courses.

Three consecutive months of Unsatisfactory Progress will result in a course reduction - which may affect graduation for high school scholars.

Four consecutive months of Unsatisfactory progress will result in complete withdrawal from iA. Scholars withdrawn from iA for Unsatisfactory progress may not re-enroll until the following school year.
