Building Belonging

The start of a new school year can bring excitement and a few jitters. One of the best ways to help kids feel confident is to build a strong sense of belonging at home and at school. Children who feel connected are more likely to try new things, bounce back from challenges, and enjoy learning. Families can create belonging through simple habits—like a handshake in the morning or sharing "one good thing" from the day at dinner. These small moments remind children that they are seen, valued, and part of something bigger.

Topics for the Month of August

This month our lessons will focus on:

- Building Community
- Getting to Know One Another
- How Your School Counselor Can Help

How to Help

Accidents happen and our goal is to get students back in the classroom with as little disruption as possible.

The counseling department is always accepting all sizes of new or lightly used clothing

- Girl's and women's leggings
- Boys and men's basketball shorts
- School appropriate t-shirts

Support Good Study Habits

Get Organized

- Keep papers in folders or binders
- Write down assignments
- Bring what you need to class

Study Smarter

- Review a little each day
- Quiz yourself
- Put distractions away

Use Your Support System

- Know who can help
- Ask questions early
- Accept help when you need it
