Dear Parents and Students:

As a school district, we are committed to ensuring fairness and equity in our practices, procedures, and educational programs. Students are informed through their handbooks and school communications that they may contact the district if they have concerns regarding possible discrimination. The following information outlines the grievance procedures available to parents and students.

Title IX prohibits discrimination in educational programs and activities receiving federal funds based on sex and protects students and employees from discrimination related to gender, age, race, creed, disability, religion, ancestry, national origin, affectional or sexual orientation, English proficiency, or social or economic status.

Title IX requires that all students have equal access and opportunity with respect to:

- Participation in curricular and extracurricular programs;
- Treatment under policies governing student benefits, services, conduct, and dress;
- Admission to educational institutions;
- Access to employment opportunities within educational agencies; and
- The terms, conditions, and benefits of employment.

The Tenafly Board of Education has designated the Affirmative Action Officer/Title IX Coordinator to oversee compliance efforts and investigate complaints of discrimination. In accordance with federal requirements, employees, parents, and students are provided with the name, office location, address, and telephone number of the Title IX Coordinator.

Complaints should be addressed to:

Brenda Yoo
Assistant Superintendent of Schools
Affirmative Action Officer
