1 Chronicles 29:9

The Big Picture with Fr. Bob

Dear Friends,

On the second day of school, I had a short conversation with one of our little elementary school students. I greeted her with, "Happy second day of school!" She responded, "I still like it." I replied, "You still like it!?" And she said, "Kind of."

Well, another school year has begun! I know that students, parents, teachers and everyone else want it to be a great year. We may have various ways of measuring the success of a school year: sports, academics, friendships, to name a few.

Well, whether we are in school or not, I do believe we can all make this the best year ever! If we dedicate ourselves to the Lord, it will be a great year. If we decide this is the year I am going to forgive someone who hurt me recently, or long ago, it will be a great year!

As Mother Teresa has said, "Everything begins with prayer." We can do nothing on our own, but through prayer and an open heart, the Holy Spirit can accomplish anything!

So, let's allow this to be the best year ever! The Lord is not through with any of us. Without prayer, we can confuse worldly success as the greatest achievements. What we need to discern is what will be viewed as greatness in God's eyes. That is what we need to aim for. There lies our fulfillment, our peace and our joy. If something is not seen as great in God's eyes, it will be fleeting and empty. This can be a truly great year in each of our lives. Let us not settle for anything less than what God has planned for us.

May we be prayerful, obedient and joyful in living our lives for Jesus our Savior. He poured out His whole life for love of us. May we in return pour out our whole life for love of Him.

God's Peace and Joy,
Fr. Bob

Catholic Fun Facts:

Did you know some of the first schools in our country were Catholic?

Long before public school systems existed, Catholic missionaries were building schools alongside churches throughout the New World.

As we start to look ahead at the end of summer and the start of a new school year, it's interesting to remember that Catholics helped lay the foundation for education in the Americas.

Long before public school systems existed, Catholic missionaries were building schools alongside churches throughout the New World. Wherever they went, they went to preach the Gospel; they also taught children to read, write, and learn the faith. Education wasn't considered an "extra." It was part of the Church's mission.

In fact, some of the earliest schools and universities in the Americas were established by Catholic religious orders. Missionaries taught not only catechism but also languages, agriculture, music, mathematics, and the practical skills communities needed to flourish. The Church has always believed that education is about more than acquiring knowledge. It is about forming the whole person. This is because Catholics have always understood that the mind and the soul were never meant to be separated. The goal was to prepare students for a life of truth, wisdom, and ultimately, holiness. That vision remains at the heart of Catholic education today. Whether in a Catholic school, a homeschool, or around the family dinner table, parents remain the primary educators of their children in the faith. Every lesson, every question, and every act of wonder is an opportunity to lead young hearts a little closer to Christ. theCatholicCompany.com

Patriot Day

Heavenly Father, Creator of All,
 You have created the
 human person as good.
 You have placed us in the
 world as one human family,
 as sisters and brothers.
 We pray today for all victims
 of violence across the world,
 for the healing of their mind and body,
 for their mourning family members,
 for the repose of their souls.
 Jesus, You have told us to
 love our enemies,
 and to pray for those
 who persecute us.
 Give us the strength and
 courage to forgive.
 Remove all lingering desire for revenge.
 Holy Spirit, reveal to us
 the mercy of God.
 Give us the gift of Your peace
 that surpasses all understanding.
 Amen.

MICHIGAN
CATHOLIC CONFERENCE

Catholics should take time to learn about the candidates and their stances on the issues.

The faithful will also benefit from being “media mindful” when considering the credibility of information.

Being “media mindful” is a concept coined by the Daughters of St. Paul, a religious order of sisters who call themselves the “Media Nuns” and have made promoting digital literacy to Catholics their mission. Being media mindful means asking questions about or verifying information and its source.

Being Media Mindful

When reading or viewing political information, ask:

- Is this information complete, or could it lack important context?
- Is there more information that I need to make a more informed decision regarding this issue or this candidate?
- Does this content align with issues that the Church is calling Catholics to be attentive to and concerned about?
- Does this political content respect human dignity and respect other people?

Sister Nancy Usselman, FSP, director of the order’s Pauline Media Studies, said that an intentional approach to scrolling, reading, or viewing online media is important for Catholics because, “we have to live by our faith, values, and our virtues. We have to make that concrete in our everyday choices, our everyday engagement, and especially within our digital engagement.”

It is important to recognize that some platforms may not provide helpful political content, such as social media feeds. The algorithms developed by social media companies—which determine what users see on their news feeds—are driven by clicks, likes, and comments, making it more likely that sensational “clickbait” content will proliferate, Sister Nancy said.

Moving off the social media feed and evaluating candidate profiles—both their personal and campaign pages, if they have both—could be more beneficial when it comes to gleaning information from social media.

“By grouping people into bubbles of easy consensus and easy outrage, these [social media] algorithms reduce our ability to listen and think critically, and increase social polarization.”

Pope Leo XIV
Message for the 60th World Day of Social
Communications, January 24, 2026

There is also an increased presence of bad actors who are deliberately trying to mislead and misinform with false content. Not only does fake content exist, but it is becoming more difficult to distinguish it from real content. This is particularly the case with information or images generated by artificial intelligence, which is very accessible and continuing to improve at quickly processing information and generating content.

However, it is still fallible technology. AI platforms are known to “hallucinate,” or make up information, Sister Nancy said, in addition to re-presenting inaccurate information as fact.

“As we scroll through our feeds, it becomes increasingly difficult to determine whether we are interacting with other human beings or with “bots” or “virtual influencers.” The less-than-transparent interventions of these automated agents influence public debates and people’s choices.”

Pope Leo XIV
Message for the 60th World Day of Social
Communications, January 24, 2026

Being media mindful takes intentionality and thoughtfulness, which is challenging.

“We are often seeking the fast answer, the quick response, the instantaneous headline,” said Sister Nancy. “But if we want to truly live our Catholic faith within this political arena, we have to be better.”

Pope Leo XIV, in a message he shared regarding social communications and artificial intelligence, said, “it is increasingly urgent to introduce media, information and AI literacy into education systems at all levels.”

The Holy Father urged all stakeholders to be involved in “building and implementing informed and responsible digital citizenship.” That includes the everyday consumers of digital media, such as lay Catholics.

The tips offered by the Pauline Sisters to be media mindful are one path Catholics can take to practice responsible digital citizenship.

Family Prayer

God made us a family
We need one another
We love one another
We work together
We play together
We worship together
Together we use God's Word
Together we grow in Christ
Together we love all people
Together we serve our God
Together we hope for Heaven
These are our hopes and ideas
Help us to attain them,
O God, through Jesus Christ
our Lord.

Prayer for Archdiocesan Restructuring

Come, Holy Spirit.

Make Your presence known as we restructure the parishes and ministries
of our archdiocese.

Be our light on the path
we walk together.
Help us hear Your voice
in the quiet of our own hearts,
in the wisdom of others,
and in the world around us.

We know You are with us
in every step of the process.
Give us clarity, understanding,
and direction.
In all things, help us share the light of Your love.
Amen.

Ste. Anne, Pray for us.
Blessed Solanus Casey, Pray for us.
Mary, Mother of the Church, Pray for us.
