

REFLECTIONS

Reflections from the past behind,
Come now, again, into your mind,
With memories of plans you made
When you were small and unafraid.

For years ago you looked ahead;
Chose paths to walk, but now instead,
Perhaps you find you'll walk not run,
And wonder if it can be done.

Is all worth having had with ease?
The wind works hard to make a breeze.
For in the work you find, you see,
The knowledge of ability.

The greatness now will come within,
Reflecting from the things you've been,
And if you've tried the best you can,
Your greatness will be great to man.

LEADERSHIP

Linda and Joe represented Newport at Twinlow this year. Twinlow is a school of student government.

Linda Waring and Joe Sherman.

The purpose of Boys' and Girls' State is to teach that good citizenship is the basis of our American way of life. It is basically a 1 week course in American government. Also, it is a wonderful opportunity to learn about other people, because "politics is people." Mike attended Boys' State on the Gonzaga U. campus and Kaye was at Central Washington State College for Girls' State.

Mike Rusho and Kaye Lenzi.

MAJORETTES

Mr. Brown's yearly letter to Santa presented at the ASB Christmas assembly

Dear Santa Claus:

We sincerely hope, Santa, that you will take special note of the early date on which we are addressing this letter to you. You have, generally speaking, been quite generous with our requests, but we have some this year which we really hope that you can see your way to deliver. Others, we have just thrown in for good measure. Also, we have tried to be more realistic in our requests this year, after all who can expect Randy Butler or Darrell Elmer to get a haircut? Nonetheless, we hope that you will be as generous this year, as you have been in the past. With that in mind, may we submit the following:

For Susan Balcom, along with other ladies, (LADIES!!!) of our student body, a continued mild winter, because in a severe one, they would most surely freeze to death.

For Mrs. White, a new desk so that she won't have to cry during the Debate practice when she can't open the one she has.

For Mike Scott, a very long, intensive course in Driver Education, so that he can drive more defensively.

For Debbie Vaughn, a seat cushion for a certain pickup, so that she won't strain her shoulder reaching for the driver of same.

For Steve Yergens, Lannie Hughes, and Arnie Knuth, the good sense to know that candy is something you eat, not throw around the halls.

For Mr. Nickelson, a new cat to help clean up his upper lip.

For Dennis Gibson, some pre-game butterfly pills.

For the 7th period German class a reminder that when a test is given, everyone is expected to take it.

For Pat Burke, a nice, new, sharp, close cutting pair of hair clippers.

For Larry Richter, an Ag teacher who will give him a chance to work.

For Mr. Shaw, a new "curly Q" comb so that he can place those seven hairs on top of his head more strategically.

For some of the female students, a reminder that their skirts can have more than 0 yards of material in them.

For Cindy Schwab, a reminder not to leave her shoes in a certain car, then expect her principal to pick them up.

For Beth Barr, to please settle on one guy, so that we don't have to see Beth and Steve--Beth loves Monte--Beth likes John, etc., etc., etc., all over the building.

For Mr. Yahn, a seeing eye dog to help keep him on the highway on his way home.

For Steve Bischoff, a physique to fit his great big feet.

For Mr. Bredberg, a reminder that the Kennedy hair-do is no longer the "in" thing.

For John Lowry, someone to read the Bruin Guide to him so that he won't be all worn out from working after school.

For Mr. Musso, well, Santa, Mr. Musso said that you have never delivered for him yet, so why bother you, but we are reasonably sure, that if you can find more shooting nights like his team had against Selkirk, he'll be much less cynical.

For Allen Elmer, the thought to never tell his principal that the board is too big to swing.

For Randy Butler, a new set of "Toni Curl."

For Kevin Hughes, a way to shorten up that trip to Sacheen Lake.

For Nancy Holmes, the thought that if she is going to write a phony excuse for some guy, that she make sure that she isn't in the principal's English class.

For Mr. Noble, a sure, sudden cure for this new "do hang disease." You all know what that disease is??? It surely do hang over your belt.

For Ken Parks, a reminder that school is in session five days a week.

For Tim Town, a little more grace on the basketball floor so that he can stay off the crutches.

For Ken Elmer and Henry Hood, the good sense to never try to bargain with the principal for more vacation.

For Helen Heibert, that when she has to borrow a dress for a picture in the yearbook, please borrow one that doesn't embarrass her.

For Barbara Orr, an off-on switch so that Mr. Noble can turn her off, permanently.

For Dan Roseburrough's girlfriend a reminder to get him home earlier so that he won't have to sleep in class.

And please, Santa, pretty please, don't ever mention to Mr. O'Connor any machine that even looks like a Universal Gym.

And finally Santa, keep sending us the kinds and types of students who make being their principal a pleasure and the dedicated unselfish staff members who make working with them such an easy time.

Thank you Santa, and Merry Christmas.

Mr. Brown, Principal

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. George H.
Anderson
Superintendent

Mr. Raymond Brown
Principal

A hard day at the office

On July 1, 1950 a very wise Board of Education elected to place the Newport School systems and its programs under the direction of George H. Anderson, superintendent. In the ensuing twenty years of unstinted, dedicated, quiet and persistent leadership, there has been a steady, upgrading course of progress in program, policies and building.

Under Mr. Anderson's leadership many improvements to and innovations of the curriculur program have been initiated. While many of these are not visible and can best be appreciated only by some 1200 students who progressed through them. Among the visible accomplishments which will stand in testimony of his leadership are the Sadie Halstead Grade School, the Vocational Agriculture Building and the L. E. Johnson Gymnasium.

Mr. Anderson has always evidenced an interest in the students of the Newport Schools, not just as students, but as individuals and in their lives when they take their place in society.

And so, Mr. Anderson, in our farewell to you, we the faculty, the students, and the members of the community recognize our good fortune in having worked with you, and, inadequate though words be, we wish you well in your retirement. May it be long, happy and most enjoyable.
