New Vendor- Mama Farm Spotlight

REGENERATIVE FARM EDUCATION · BROOKHAVEN HAMLET, LI

Cultivate the next generation of environmental stewards and entrepreneurs through hands-on learning at a 28-acre regenerative farm. Explore sustainable agriculture, meet rare heritage livestock, discover heirloom crops, and experience the Farm to Fashion program—following the journey from raw fiber to finished garment while learning about farming, sustainability, and creative career pathways.

Immersive, hands-on workshops connect agriculture, science, art, sustainability, and entrepreneurship in meaningful ways that inspire curiosity and creativity.

Fleece-to-Fabric Workshop- Follow the journey from fleece to fashion through a live sheep shearing, cashmere goat combing, and hands-on fiber processing. Discover how raw fleece becomes yarn before visiting the Wool Lab to explore fiber arts, fashion, and creative careers.

Flower Farm Experience- Tour beautiful flower fields, harvest blooms, and learn professional bouquet-making techniques to create a stunning arrangement.

Regenerative Agriculture & Food Systems- Meet heritage breed animals, explore heirloom crops, and discover regenerative farming practices while learning about ecology, sustainable food systems, and environmental science.

Entrepreneurship on the Farm- Go behind the scenes of a working farm to see how it becomes a small business, creative enterprise, and community hub. Learn about entrepreneurship, innovation, and the many opportunities within agriculture.

Botanical Natural Dye Workshop- Explore the farm to identify flowers and dye plants, then learn natural dye extraction techniques and the art of creating color from nature.

Natural Indigo & Food Waste Shibori Workshop- Create beautiful textiles using locally grown New York indigo and food waste natural dyes. Learn traditional Japanese shibori resist-dye techniques while exploring plant science, sustainable textiles, and zero-waste practices.
