Recommenders and FERPA

 In progress

Recommenders are people who will submit forms to colleges on your behalf. This page shows which recommender types this college needs. Each college will have different requirements.

 FERPA Release Authorization

Before you can invite your counselor, teachers, recommenders, parents, or advisors, you must complete the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) release authorization process.

Signing the FERPA

The screenshot shows a web browser window titled "The Common Application - Mozilla Firefox". The address bar displays the URL: <https://apply.commonapp.org/ca4app#!m/238/RecAssign/?sid=1871543883&t=1438783910560>. The page content is titled "Release Authorization" in red. Below the title is a progress bar with two steps: "1 Instructions" (active) and "2 Form". The main text explains that the next screen will ask two important questions about FERPA release and access to educational records. It then lists three numbered questions with bullet points for each.

Release Authorization

1 Instructions > 2 Form

The next screen will ask you two important questions about your release of and access to your educational records under FERPA, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Since FERPA is a complex law, we want to provide some key information before you respond.

- 1. How does FERPA relate to your college application?

FERPA gives you the right to review confidential letters of recommendation under certain circumstances IF:

 - You are enrolled in college and that college saves the recommendations for enrolled students, OR
 - You are 18 or older.
- 2. In a moment you'll be asked if you want to waive this right. Why would you want to do that?
 - Waiving your right lets colleges know that you do not intend to read your recommendations, which helps reassure colleges that the letters are candid and truthful.
 - Some recommenders may refuse to write a letter for you unless you waive your rights. Check with your counselor or teachers to see if any of them follow such a policy.
- 3. Still unsure how to respond?
 - That's OK. Many students are. Before you move on, take a moment to discuss your decision with your counselor, another school official, or your parent/legal guardian. For more information about FERPA, visit the Help Center.

FERPA RELEASE AUTHORIZATION

The screenshot shows the 'The Common Application' website in a Mozilla Firefox browser. The address bar displays the URL: <https://apply.commonapp.org/ca4app#!m/238/RecAssign?sid=1871543883&t=1438784015887>. The page is titled 'Application' and shows '0 of 3 Completed'. The left sidebar contains three main sections: 'Questions', 'Recommendations and FERPA', and 'Review and Submit - Common App'. The 'Recommendations and FERPA' section is currently selected. The main content area is divided into three columns. The first column, titled 'FERPA Release Authorization', explains the process and includes a link to 'release authorization'. The second column, titled 'Counselor', provides instructions for counselor recommendations and lists 'Offline Forms' including School Report, Counselor Recommendation, Optional Report, Mid Year Report, and Final Report. The third column, titled 'Teacher', provides instructions for teacher recommendations and includes a link to 'offline form'. The right sidebar contains three sections: 'Recommender Information does not change', 'Resend a Recommender Invite', and 'Adding and assigning recommenders for Naviance schools'. The 'Recommender Information does not change' section states that once a recommender is added and invited, their name and title cannot be changed. The 'Resend a Recommender Invite' section explains how to resend an invite from the 'Recommendations and FERPA' page. The 'Adding and assigning recommenders for Naviance schools' section explains that if a school uses Naviance, users will not be able to assign Counselor or Teacher recommendations. At the bottom of the page, it shows 'Required: 0' and 'Allowed: 3'.

Release Authorization

1 Instructions

2 Form

The questions you will see on the next screen relate to your educational records. The first pertains to the transmission of your educational records from your secondary school(s) to the colleges to which you are applying. The second concerns your right of access to confidential letters of recommendation. Under the terms of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), you can review recommendations and accompanying forms if you are age 18 or older or upon enrollment at a postsecondary institution provided that institution saves the documents. You may, however, waive this right of access altogether. In a moment, you'll be asked if you wish to waive this right.

Why should you consider waiving your right of access? Waiving your right lets colleges know that you will never try to read your recommendations. That in turn reassures colleges that your recommenders have provided support that is candid and truthful. While you are free to respond as you wish, if you choose not to waive your right, some recommenders may decline your request, and some colleges may disregard recommendations submitted on your behalf.

After you make your selection about whether you want to waive your right of access, you will not be able to change your waiver selection. To ensure that you fully understand the implications of your decision, we urge you not to answer the waiver question until you have consulted with your counselor, another school official, or your parent/legal guardian.

From the menu at the left you can look up information on individual colleges, including student profiles, admissions data, test scores and costs. An application history of Red Bank Catholic students will also appear. Try the COLLEGE COMPARE prompt, where you can choose up to 10 colleges to compare. A chart will compare GPA and SAT averages for prior RBC classes applying to those schools. You can also generate SCATTERGRAMS, which plot the SAT's and GPA's of prior applicants on a graph, making it easier to see a pattern of acceptances.

Remember...there are many other factors that come into play with admissions decisions, but this is a good starting point.
