Together UPWARD

Unity of people, faith, and charity, is the perfection we strive for at Red Bank Catholic High School. Looking up and constantly reaching greater heights in the pursuit of academics, spirituality, and service. The motivation that moves the Caseys forward is a strong force derived from catholic values and community. Every person here shares the mindset that when push comes to shove, looking up is the way to go. With everything we do God is watching us along the way, that is why we look to him when we struggle and know that he will see us. “Together Upward” is the theme we are standing by and a motto we hold ourselves to. If you were to walk through the halls, the staff, the students and clergy will always shine. Every class has their own unique traits and attributes that make them special.

Where it all LEADS

From our first nervous steps through the front doors to our final hike up the stairs, every hallway, class, and late-night study session has shaped who we are. We've cheered under the Friday night lights, laughed through dress down days, and grown closer with every moment that made this place feel like home. Now, standing at the edge of what comes next, we look back with gratitude and forward with purpose. We celebrate the Class of 2026, the friendships, the memories, and the countless small moments that became our story. Our time here has come full circle, but the journey continues…"Together Upward."

From the first to THE FINAL STEPS

It feels like just yesterday we were walking into our very first classroom, backpacks almost bigger than we were, eyes wide with excitement and a little bit of fear. The first day of Pre-K was where it all began. Those tiny steps through the classroom door marked the beginning of a journey that would shape who we are today. From circle time to graduation caps, we've grown together every step of the way. That first day of Pre-K wasn't just the start of school—it was the start of us!

Morning moments
IT'S THE TRADITION

On the first day of school, seniors gather in the Teak parking lot for their annual “last-first day” photos—a tradition passed down each year. Music, laughter, and early morning excitement fill the lot as friends reunite, comparing schedules, uniforms, and summer stories. There’s a special energy in the air, a shared feeling that this year is different. Seniors stand at the start of their final year, not ready to say goodbye, but proud of how far they’ve come. The pictures taken here aren’t just photos—they’re souvenirs of early morning drives, hallway memories, long practices, late-night studying, and inside jokes. They capture what it means to be together, and to own this final chapter. When the bell rings and the parking lot clears, the meaning stays. These pictures become a symbol of friendship, tradition, and the spirit of senior year—a reminder that everything they once hoped for is finally right in front of them.

SENIORS AT LAST
After years of walking past this lot, the Class of '26 finally rolled in as the ones behind the wheel. A quick stop for pictures marked the start of something bigger.

THE TEAK LOT LEGACY
Above Eileen Cruz, Nicole Ranieri, Jessie Lazewski hold Hannah Nappi in a moment that sums up the Teak Lot tradition: laughter, friendship, and the feeling of finally being seniors.

Fitted and Fleeced
ANOTHER TRADITION

The senior fleece, another tradition. Wearing them isn’t just about staying warm—it’s about everything we’ve given and gained along the way. The warmth comes not only from the fabric, but from the pride of knowing we’ve made it. It’s the moment when wearing your heart, and your school spirit, on your sleeve becomes the coziest form of being a Casey.

Lifting off and READY TO RISE

The underclassmen may be just starting their journey here at Red Bank Catholic High School, but they're already leaving their mark. Their energy, growth, and determination are the beginning of big things to come. Whether it's through their dedication in the classroom, their passion on the field, or their creativity in the arts, these students are setting the foundation for future success. As they continue to learn, lead, and embrace the Casey spirit, they remind us that every great tradition begins with fresh inspiration and the courage to take the first step.

Honoring the Journey

The Junior Ring Ceremony is a formal and distinguished tradition that marks a significant milestone in a student's high school journey. As members of the junior class, students have demonstrated perseverance, growth, and commitment to academic excellence. The presentation of the class ring symbolizes not only their achievements thus far, but also their connection to the values, traditions, and community of the school. It serves as a lasting emblem of unity, responsibility, and leadership as they prepare to enter their senior year. This ceremony honors both their accomplishments and the promise of continued success in the year ahead.

More than jewelery; it's the memories attached to it.

CORT HOOKER & CAMRYN PINGUELO read at the Junior Ring Ceremony Mass. The rings were blessed by Father Al.

"I love the tradition of a school ring, especially when there is a ceremony to bless it. There is something about school pride and God that you can not take away from a person. It is also a tradition that parents love, and that I, as a future RBC parent am excited to share with my own kids one day."

Genene Tosto JR. CLASS MODERATOR

TYLER ROCHA views receiving his class ring as a meaningful milestone in his high school journey, symbolizing both growth and the completion of an important chapter. It is more than just a keepsake, but a reminder of being part of something bigger than himself and of the time he has spent building his identity within the school community. The ceremony represented both an ending and a beginning, a point where reflection meets the excitement of what lies ahead.

OLIVIA RICH "When I got my ring at the ceremony I was so happy my family made the time to come and see me. When I look at my ring, I will always remember everyone who helped get me to this point."

CHACE SCHELL shows off his ring, with a proud smile. It is a symbol of commitment, growth and everything that led to this moment.

SHINE ON

The Red Bank Catholic Sophomore Semi-formal was a night full of energy, laughter, and school spirit. Dressed sharp in red and black, students packed the dance floor, posed for photos, and sang along to throwbacks and current hits. The decorations and music kept the excitement high all evening, while friends made memories they'll never forget. Teachers even joined in, adding to the fun atmosphere. From start to finish, the Red Bank Catholic community came together for a fun, unforgettable night that brought the class closer together. As the night went on, the dance floor only grew more lively, with everyone showing off their best moves and cheering each other on. Cort Hooker has quickly become a standout presence in the RBC school community. Through his initiative, leadership, and passion for sports broadcasting and acting, he founded a new T-Day club called the "Green and Gold Mic Club," creating opportunities not only for himself but for others who share his interests. His efforts have already made a big impact, as he has announced major school events such as Battle of the Classes and RBC wrestling matches, bringing energy and professionalism to each occasion.

Beyond sports broadcasting, Cort is also deeply involved in theater. He discovered his love for acting in middle school, and performing on stage has helped him develop strong communication skills, and an ability to truly engage an audience. Whether he is announcing, managing events, or acting in a production, Cort continues to grow in his talents while inspiring others to get involved and step outside their comfort zones.

In addition to his school activities, Cort faithfully serves his parish community as an Altar boy. Through his service at Mass, he displays responsibility, reverence, and dedication. Cort shows what it means to lead with both talent and character.

Growing Together
SOPHOMORE RETREAT

The 10th Grade Retreat at Red Bank Catholic High School provides sophomores with a meaningful opportunity to reflect on their personal growth and deepen their understanding of our Catholic values. Throughout the day, students stepped away from their busy academic routines to focus on spiritual and personal development. Through guided discussions, team-building activities, and interactive games, they strengthen their relationships and build a greater sense of community. The retreat encourages students to reflect on their goals and consider the kind of individuals they strive to become. During the retreat, students celebrated a traditional Latin Mass and spent time in Eucharistic Adoration, providing an opportunity for prayer and a deeper encounter with Christ. In addition to reflection and community-building, students also demonstrated their commitment to service by bringing in nonperishable goods to benefit the St. Crispin Food Pantry and the surrounding community. This retreat remains a valued tradition that nurtures community and personal growth.

FAITH IN ACTION Mateo Guerrero '26 and Anthony Russo '27 carry boxes of donated goods into the food pantry, helping restock shelves and organize supplies. Their teamwork ensures that families in need will have access to essential items.

SPIRITED MOVES Iris Veracosta and John-William Zziwa engage in playful dancing, laughing with carefree energy as they enjoy the moment together.

"My Sophomore Retreat was a lovely experience. John and I choreographed a dance for a competition, and even though we did not compete, we still danced to our choreography with minimal music and it was such a fun experience. Hearing Siena and Cort speak about their love for God evoked lots of reverent emotions, and it helped deepen my bond with Jesus.

Iris Veracosta '28

SERVING SOON Cort Hooker and James Gallagher prepare to enter the church and serve at Mass before students participate in a traditional Latin Mass. As they get ready to begin, they focus on their roles and responsibilities, showing reverence and dedication as altar servers.

PANTRY PREP Christian Favorito unloads his bag of canned goods, placing them on the ground as he prepares to sort and organize the items for the food pantry.

FAITH JOURNEY Siena Marino leads a small group where she shares a heartfelt testimony about her love for Jesus, speaking openly about her faith and the impact it has had on her life.

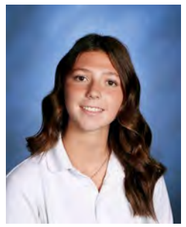

ROLL CALL Ms. Bischoff takes her homeroom's attendance before sophomores leave for the retreat.

Helping HANDS

We want to take a moment to sincerely thank our incredible cafeteria staff for everything they do for our school each and every day. From the early mornings to the last lunch wave, they do more than serve meals, they serve kindness, patience, and smiles. Mrs. Gerry, lovingly nicknamed “Mrs. Cookie,” perfectly represents the heart of our cafeteria. When asked, “What’s your favorite part about this job?” she shared, “My favorite part of work is seeing the kids and making connections with them. God always has a plan, all you have to do is follow it.” That spirit of connection and faith is something we feel every time we walk through the lunch line. Thank you to our cafeteria team for nourishing not just our bodies, but our school community. We appreciate you more than words can say.

Our days
OUR STORIES

At Red Bank Catholic High School, campus life is more than academics—it's a community built on faith, service, and tradition. Grounded in Catholic values, our campus life fosters unity, leadership, and lifelong friendships. Whether in the classroom, on the field, or in service to others, RBC students live out the motto: "Together Upward."

Student Leaders

Our school's student leaders play a huge role in making our community stronger and more connected. Through groups like Student Council and National Honor Society, they organize events, lead service projects, and represent the voices of the student body. Whether they're planning fundraisers, welcoming new students, or helping run school activities, they show responsibility, teamwork, and school spirit. Student leaders set a positive example by balancing academics, extracurriculars, and community involvement, proving that leadership is about dedication and lifting others up. Their hard work often goes unnoticed, but it truly shapes the culture and energy of our school.

In the Classroom
LIFE ON CAMPUS

Learning happens in many different ways throughout our classrooms. From religion lessons that encourage reflection, to creativity in the arts, critical thinking in forensics, innovation in STEM, and more, students explore new ideas every day. Each class brings its own challenges and discoveries, helping students grow, collaborate, and prepare for the future.

CHRISTIAN LIVING
A LESSON IN COMMITMENT
Every year, students participate in a unique classroom lesson taught by Mrs. DiBetta and Mrs. Regan. It is centered around a mock wedding that brings learning to life. One bride and one husband are chosen, supported by a full wedding party that included bridesmaids, best men, a flower girl, and a priest. Each role came with responsibilities that required communication, planning, and cooperation from everyone involved. Through this experience, students learned that marriage is not just about the ceremony, but about teamwork, commitment, and shared responsibility. While the wedding took place in the chapel, the lessons reflected real-life relationships and collaboration.

SPANISH 3
LEARNING THE HERITAGE & CULTURE
The Spanish Heritage Month celebrates the rich culture, history, and contributions of Spanish speaking communities, honoring their vibrant traditions and impact around the world. It is a time to recognize and appreciate the diversity and achievements of Hispanic and Latino heritage. It also provides an opportunity to learn about the art, music, and cuisine that have shaped cultures across generations. This encourages unity and pride among people of all backgrounds. Most importantly, it reminds us that diversity strengthens our communities and helps build a more inclusive environment for everyone. In a class at the cultural center, they learned and practiced dances from Spanish culture. It was a fun experience that helped everyone better understand the traditions while bringing everyone together. The teachers that put this together are Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Mercer, and Mrs. DelValle and of course with the help of Mrs. Kelly.

STEM/ENGINEERING
INSIDE THE INNOVATION

Mr. Nesci's class periods are always fun and creative. During his class, the students worked on making catapults, which encouraged them to use their imagination and develop hands-on skills. They also spent time creating nutcrackers, carefully assembling each part and adding unique details to make every project different. These activities required patience, focus, and creativity, helping students learn the value of following steps while still expressing themselves. Overall, the projects made the class more engaging and enjoyable, turning each period into a productive and memorable learning experience. Students learned how to work independently and collaborate with classmates when needed. Mr. Nesci provided guidance and support throughout each project, making sure everyone understood the process. His class helped students build confidence in their creativity and craftsmanship.

SCIENCE: FORENSICS & ANATOMY
FROM BODY SYSTEMS TO CRIMES SCENES

In Mrs. Flanagan's Anatomy Class, students explore the systems of the human body, focusing on their structure and how they function. Through hands-on activities, students gain practical experience, including observing how blood typing is performed. They also have the opportunity to listen to their own heartbeats using a stethoscope and learn how to measure blood pressure. In addition, the class examines various diseases and disorders that can affect each body system. This engaging approach helps students build a deeper understanding of human health and how the body works.

Meanwhile, in Mrs. Fioretti's Forensics Class students learn every contact leaves a trace, and how to learn how to find it. Forensics turns the lab into a crime scene and students into investigators. Students are given the opportunity to develop their observational, organizational and cooperation skills. The course encourages the use of critical thinking that integrates several science disciplines.

AP PSYCHOLOGY
CARE, CRACK, LEARN

Mrs. Supp's AP Psychology Development Egg Project gave students a hands-on look at human growth by tasking them with the constant care of an "egg baby." This simulation of real-world caregiving allowed students to apply developmental milestones and theories to a tangible, creative experience. Ultimately, the project deepened their understanding of psychology while instilling a newfound respect for the complexities of parenting. Students also learned responsibility by managing their time and prioritizing their "egg baby's" needs throughout the day. The project encouraged students to think critically about concepts such as attachment, temperament, and the impact of environment on development. By documenting their experiences, students were able to connect their daily challenges to key psychological theories studied in class. Through this immersive activity, students built empathy, patience, and a deeper appreciation for the realities of raising a child.

CRAFTED BY HAND

The Ceramics Class, led by Ms. Hands, is a place where creativity and craftsmanship come together. Students spend the quarter learning the art of ceramics, shaping clay into unique sculptures, and other pieces. Ms. Hands encourages students to experiment with different techniques and designs, helping them turn simple clay into works of art. The ceramics room is full of creativity, hard work, and excitement of seeing ideas come to life.

In Mrs. Habeck's Crafts Class high school students partner with preschoolers to design a personalized craft inspired by each child's favorite stuffed animal. Through this activity, older students learn about the interests of their younger buddies. It encourages collaboration as students transform ideas into unique, meaningful creations. Preschoolers are excited seeing their beloved stuffed animals re-imagined in a new form. This experience fosters connection, creativity, and a sense of community between age groups.

Mrs. Habeck's Crafts class drops off the projects they made for the St. James preschool.

One School
ONE SPIRIT

Our schoolwide Mass brings the entire Casey's community together in faith and unity. The Eck Center, our recreational gym, transforms the familiar space into a place of reverence and reflection. Leading up to the Mass, staff and RBC alumni work together to prepare the altar and arrange the space, ensuring every detail, from decorations to seating, is ready for the celebration. On the day of the Mass, the gym is filled with students, faculty, and staff, all gather to participate in prayer, song, and reflection. The priests who join us in Mass are Reverend Monsignor Joseph N. Rosie, Reverend Al Gamalo, and Reverend Wynne Kerridge.

CHRIST'S GIFT

After Reverend Monsignor Rosie breaks the host, each student receives the Body of Christ —a beautiful reminder of Jesus' love and the unity we share as a school.

REVEREND APPRECIATION

Father Al delivers a message about faith and unity, made to last and resonate with everyone. Inspiring everyone from the newest class to the most veteran staff.

"It is an honor getting to represent our country by singing the National Anthem at school and around our community. I look forward to it. Haunted HALLS

Halloween at Red Bank Catholic High School is fun for everyone. Every year is something new and exciting, introducing new ways for people to express their creativity. Seniority does play a role in Halloween here as only the seniors are allowed to dress up. They get to have a little fun as it's their last year here. The faculty also participates, and each department comes up with a theme and engages in the Halloween spirit.

Giving Back
ONE ACT AT A TIME

Charity and service are core values at Red Bank Catholic High School and are deeply rooted in its faith. The school hosts food drives to help combat hunger and provide meals for those in need, as well as clothing drives that collect winter essentials such as socks, mittens, and hats to help individuals stay warm during the colder months. Red Bank Catholic also organizes baby diaper drives to support young families who may struggle with the high cost of diapers and other necessities. In addition, monetary donations are collected to further support various charitable organizations and community members in need.

Beyond traditional drives, students extend their impact through creative and personal efforts. Crafts made by students are donated to hospice patients, bringing joy and companionship to residents, while Easter basket drives provide children with festive gifts during the holiday season. During the winter holidays, the school also holds toy drives where students donate new toys, games, and books so children can experience the joy of receiving gifts.

Through these efforts, Red Bank Catholic demonstrates its commitment to compassion, generosity, and living out its faith through meaningful service to others.

Organized by the National Honor Society in support of the Team Jack Foundation, the drive encouraged students and staff to give back and help brighten the holidays for children in need. Clubs and Activities ON THE CLIMB

Each club at Red Bank Catholic High School, is unique and inspiring. From charity work to extra help, every club has something for everyone. There are many Casey clubs that do a lot of charity and awareness work. We also have clubs like the International Food Club, Gardening Club, or Crochet Club, where it's more fun and relaxing. There are so many other clubs to choose from. Regardless of what club someone picks there will always be a space to have fun and feel comfortable. Students also get the chance to meet new people and form friendships they might not have made otherwise. Joining a club can even help students discover new interests or talents they didn't know they had. Overall, these activities help strengthen the sense of community that makes RBC so special.

WOMEN IN STEM This club helps encourage the amazing young minds of the strong, smart and courageous women at our school. Run by Ms. Kearney this club is loved by many for how truly inspiring it is.

CASEYS4LIFE is centered around protecting all life. The club members help through charity and community involvement to help those in need or those who are contemplating life. The work they do is truly amazing.

Each time, members learn about that culture's traditions, history, and especially its popular foods. Students can share dishes, present interesting facts, and experience music, clothing, or customs from around the world. It's a great way to bring people together, try new foods, and appreciate the diversity in our school community.

Spotlight STUDENTS

Every student has a story, and our school is fortunate to be filled with truly great students who inspire those around them every day. Embracing this year's theme, Together Upward, we selected students from each grade level with an inspiring story to tell—whether it's overcoming challenges, chasing big dreams, or making a difference in their community.

Kendall Martinez is a dedicated and passionate young musician whose primary instrument is the electric guitar. Since moving from Utah four years ago, she has used music as a way to connect with her new community, turning to the guitar after previously playing piano and violin. Music quickly became not just a hobby, but a central part of her life and identity.

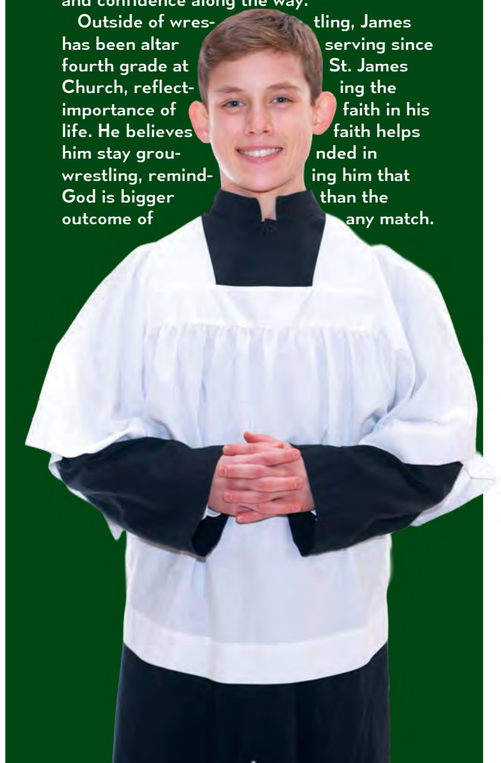

Kendall now performs with multiple bands outside of school, approaching rehearsals and live shows as opportunities to grow as a musician. She has played at notable venues including the Asbury Park Boardwalk and the rooftop of Robinson Ale House, gaining experience and confidence with every performance. While her bands mainly perform cover songs, Kendall is eager to explore solo work and original songwriting in the future, pushing herself creatively.

James Gallagher has been involved in wrestling since he was seven, inspired by his father, a wrestling coach. What began as curiosity quickly became a passion, and the sport has since become a major part of his life. Competing at 106 pounds this season, James values both the intensity of wrestling and the strong camaraderie among his teammates, describing the team as a family that supports one another. James is especially grateful for the support of his older brother, who also wrestles. He relies on his brother for guidance, encouragement during tough moments, and for working through drills together, building both skill and confidence along the way.

Outside of wrestling, James has been altar serving since fourth grade at St. James Church, reflecting the importance of faith in his life. He believes faith helps him stay grounded in wrestling, reminding him that God is bigger than the outcome of any match.

Caroline Kaytan, a junior and dedicated dancer, began dancing at the age of four when her mother enrolled her in classes. What started as a simple activity quickly became a true passion, a place where she not only honed her skills, but also formed lasting friendships. Since the age of 15, Caroline has traveled into the city to teach young girls dance, sharing her love for the art while serving as a mentor and role model. The experience has made her independent, confident, and resilient; even when the commute can be exhausting.

Beyond teaching, Caroline balances her commitments with maintaining strong academic performance, participating in cheer, and competing in Ukrainian dance competitions, demonstrating remarkable discipline and time management. She has learned to prioritize self-care amids her demanding schedule, finding moments of relief in walks, gym sessions, or quiet reflection. Caroline believes in seizing every opportunity and pursuing what she loves, embracing her passions with both heart and determination.

In 2016, Dylan Horstman attended the Little League World Series with his father and saw the Challenger Exhibition game, a game between two special needs baseball teams from around the world. Inspired by the volunteers helping the athletes play, Dylan decided to bring the experience to his own community and founded the Manalapan Challenger Baseball Program.

Over the past ten years, the program has taught children with physical and cognitive disabilities how to play baseball, basketball, and kickball. The organization also hosts an annual tournament in Manalapan for special needs teams across the state and plays an exhibition game against the Freehold Challenger Baseball team at Blue Claws every year. Having grown up alongside these athletes, he has witnessed firsthand how forming bonds with the children and their families has impacted their lives. The program provides each child with practice, games, and opportunities to have fun no matter the obstacles they face. "It is my greatest achievement to see these kids play."

Hollywood HOMECOMING

Red Bank Catholic High School proudly celebrated its first Homecoming in nearly 18 years, marking the long-awaited return of a beloved tradition. Two weekends were filled with excitement, school pride, and a deep sense of community as students and faculty came together to celebrate. RBC's homecoming dance's theme was "Hollywood Homecoming." The Saint James gymnasium was transformed into a glamorous scene with the red carpet photo booth, sparkling lights, and atmosphere that made every student feel like a star. Students filled the dance floor, moving to a mix of classic hits and current favorites that kept the energy high all night long. Laughter and music echoed through the room as friends posed for pictures and made memories to last a lifetime.

Spotlight STUDENTS

Brody Menago has embraced the transition to high school with growth and adaptability, especially coming from a complete public school background to attending a Catholic school. Adjusting to changes like a dress code, and longer days while learning to stay productive has been a big step, and Brody has approached it with maturity and determination.

Faith has become central to his experience, with opportunities like attending Mass, participating in religious events, and preparing for confirmation helping him feel closer to God and the school community. Outside the classroom, Brody is heavily involved in football, building relationships, learning the playbook, and developing discipline and teamwork. He has also enjoyed meeting students from different towns, gaining new perspectives, and stepping outside his comfort zone.

From the very first day of varsity soccer, it was clear Alexis Sinatra was stepping into a world that demanded more; more speed, more skill, more confidence, than she had ever faced before. As a freshman, walking onto the field surrounded by older, stronger, and more experienced players was intimidating. She feared making mistakes, questioned whether she truly belonged, and felt the weight of being seen.

Over time, that fear began to transform her. Every practice, every misstep, and every moment she pushed through discomfort helped build resilience and confidence. What once felt overwhelming slowly became familiar, and she began to find her place on the team. Now, everything feels different. This season, the team's culture is stronger than ever, built on support, trust, and unity. The players push one another, celebrate each other's successes, and share a deep commitment to the team above all else.

Siena Marino has made a meaningful impact on her school community through her dedication to campus ministry, her faith, and her passion for theater. What began as a simple connection during her freshman year quickly grew into a central part of her high school experience, giving her a place to belong and grow closer to God. As a core member of campus ministry, Siena helps lead retreats and school-wide events, embracing her role with both confidence and compassion.

Siena's role as a Eucharistic minister is especially significant to her, inspired in part by watching her father serve in the same way. Serving at Mass allows Siena to actively live out her faith with humility and care. She values the trust placed in her and finds deep meaning in sharing the Eucharist, creating a strong sense of connection with those she serves.

Alongside her ministry work, she has pursued a lifelong love of acting. Through theater, she has developed confidence, creativity, and a strong connection with others. Whether leading a read or performing on stage, she brings authenticity and heart to everything she does.

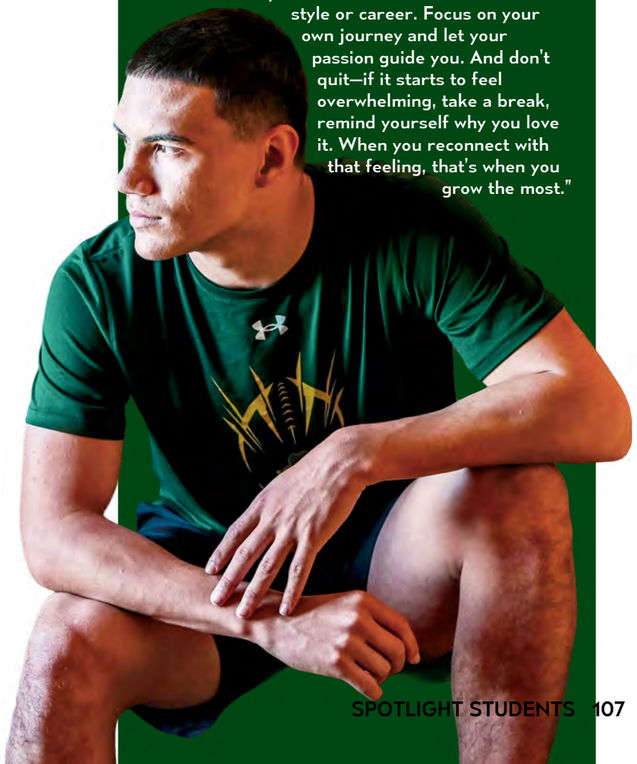

Javi Guzman is not someone you come across every day. With an already impressive list of accomplishments, he continues to push himself toward even greater heights. Transferring during his senior year to join the school's sports and dance programs was a difficult decision, but one that proved to be more than worth it.

Balancing athletics and the arts, Javi is the definition of a true student-athlete. He stands out on the football field and wrestling mat with strength and determination, while bringing creativity, passion, and self-expression to the dance studio. In Mrs. Kelly's class, he doesn't just participate—he shines.

Javi has been dancing for most of his life, including six and a half years performing for the Knicks and dancing as part of a skeleton crew for a K-pop band at the VMAs. His ability to excel in both sports and dance makes him a truly dynamic and inspiring individual.

Despite his success, Javi stays grounded and focused on growth. He shares, "Everyone's path in dance is different, so don't try to copy anyone else. Don't try to recreate someone else's style or career. Focus on your own journey and let your passion guide you. And don't quit—if it starts to feel overwhelming, take a break, remind yourself why you love it. When you reconnect with that feeling, that's when you grow the most."

Born to be King

THE NATIVITY

The Nativity is a deeply cherished and sacred part of the Christmas season for Christians, as it beautifully reenacts the birth of Jesus and reminds us of the true meaning of the holiday. Each year at Red Bank Catholic, this powerful moment comes to life in a very special way. Students are given the meaningful opportunity to step into the roles of that holy night long ago, bringing the story of Christ's birth from Scripture to the present day. It is a longstanding and beloved tradition within the school community, one that students look forward to and take great pride in participating in.

As Jesus, Mary, and Joseph are portrayed surrounded by grace and reverence, the Wise Men and shepherds gather in awe, witnessing the miracle of the Savior's birth. Through their dedication and heartfelt performances, the students help the entire school pause and reflect on the significance of Christmas. Performing the Nativity for their peers is not just an assignment, but an honor—one that unites the school in faith, joy, and celebration. Everyone involved in making this tradition possible is truly a blessing. From the performers to those working behind the scenes, their love, commitment, and spirit shine brightly each year, keeping this beautiful custom alive for the rest of the school to experience and cherish.

CAMRYN PINGUELO telling the audience of how the Angel of Gabriel came to visit Mary and Joseph and tell them of their son's future.

RYAN SAXTON & NOLAN DAVIS play the Shepherds and are seen here moving up towards the Altar to gaze at the beautiful Baby Jesus.

SIENA MARINO & DYLAN HORSTMAN play Mother Mary and Joseph during this year's Nativity. They kneel and look adoringly at the Baby Jesus.

AVERIE BISHOP as one of the narrators of this years Nativity, she recites part of the story of the birth of Jesus.

THE NATIVITY is once again created by the students all standing together at the Altar.

WHAT'S THE THEME?

Casey Pride is RBC's spirit in action. Known for being loud, energetic, and impossible to ignore, it's where students gather to support their classmates, show pride in their school, and bring energy to every game. Each year, a new group of seniors takes on the responsibility of leading Casey Pride, keeping the tradition strong and inspiring the crowd. This year, Bash Chenery, Chris Gibson, and Aiden Funk guided the team with themes, chants, and game day energy. Every week, students waited anticipating the Instagram post announcing the theme for Friday nights game, looking for last minute outfits and props. They waited all day in school on Friday to go home with their friends and get ready to support the teams. Casey Pride isn't just about cheering, it's about community, shared experiences, and the memories that connect students across grades.

Spotlight ATHLETES

Every athlete has a story, and our school is fortunate to be filled with dedicated competitors who inspire those around them every day. Embracing this year's theme, Together Upward, we highlight athletes who push themselves and each other to grow—on and off the field. From overcoming challenges and chasing big goals to showing leadership and teamwork, these athletes represent the heart, determination, and spirit of our school.

Rahmir Rivera and Gabe Kemp have always been a duo. They've been playing football together since they were about 11 years old, and from the start, it was understood, where one goes, the other follows. That mindset carried into high school. Rahmir stepped in as the starting quarterback and Gabe as the running back on varsity. It wasn't easy, and respect didn't come immediately. Rahmir had to prove he could lead and by the first few games, he started earning trust, and soon everything began to feel natural. As a quarterback, he relied on what he knew best, Gabe. Their chemistry was already built. As the season went on, both settled into their roles. Rahmir threw for 2,180 yards, breaking the NJ Freshman Passing Record, while Gabe rushed for 1,847 yards, setting a Freshman Rushing record himself. Both were finalists for Freshman of the Year Among Shore athletes. They made a decision that reflected who they've always been, a duo. They shared the award. Rivera and Kemp will still be at their best when they're on the field side by side.

Grace Lombardi began playing softball at the age of four, inspired by her parents, who both played softball and baseball. She primarily plays middle infield, focusing on shortstop and second base. Her journey hasn't been without challenges. In eighth grade, she was diagnosed with a neck tumor that required major surgery. Doctors initially warned she might never play again, and the recovery required her to take a full season off. Despite this, she committed to rehab and physical therapy, relying heavily on the support of her family to stay positive and focused. Returning to the field at Red Bank Catholic, Grace gradually regained her form. By her freshman year, she was getting comfortable again, and her sophomore summer marked a breakout season that earned her multiple college offers. She ultimately committed to Penn State, following in her mother's footsteps, a decision she describes as instinctive. She knew it was the right place the moment she stepped on campus.

Curtis O'Brien didn't start track until his Junior year, but he quickly made a name for himself. Already a standout football player, he brought his speed, power, and competitive drive from the field onto the track. While training with Coach Gallagher, he tried the long jump, and it didn't take long to see that it came naturally to him. He was the only long jumper on the team at first, but he threw himself into practice, refining his technique and building consistency with every jump. By his Senior indoor season, the first year the event was offered, Curtis made history, setting the Shore Conference record with a leap of 21'6", which also became the school record. He went on to win the Shore Conference title and placed second at the Monmouth County Championships, proving himself as one of the top competitors in the area. His combination of natural talent, hard work, and dedication made his final season one to remember.

Addy Nyemchek has established herself as one of the most accomplished athletes in Red Bank Catholic history through her dedication, leadership, and consistent excellence on the basketball court. A standout guard, she has become known for her skill, court vision, and ability to perform under pressure, leading her team through some of its most successful seasons. Her senior year has been filled with major achievements. Addy was named the 2025–2026 Shore Sports Insider Girls Basketball Player of the Year and earned the prestigious Gatorade Player of the Year honor, recognizing not only her athletic performance but also her academics and character. She also reached a historic milestone, becoming the all-time leading scorer in RBC girls' basketball history with 1,780 points. On the national stage, she was selected to play in the McDonald's All-American Game, where she stood out among the best in the country. During the game she received the 2026 McDonald's All-American Girls Sportsmanship Award, given to a player who demonstrates exceptional character, leadership, and fair play. Addy is equally committed in the classroom. As a member of the National Honor Society, she balances academics and athletics, proving that success comes from hard work. Her impact on the school community will be lasting, both for her record-breaking and the example she sets.

Passion SHINES BRIGHT

This year, our performing arts students brought stories to life through powerful acting, unforgettable music, and captivating movement. From thrilling musical productions to inspiring dramatic performances, from the soaring voices of choir to the dynamic rhythms of band, and the graceful energy of dance, every artist create moments that will be remembered long after the final curtain call. Together, they made the stage a place of magic, connection, and expression.

Living on the DANCE FLOOR

Kelly Gemellaro, RBC Head of Performing Arts and Dance Director, leads a vibrant dance program built on creativity, dedication, and teamwork. Students have many opportunities to explore dance throughout the school, whether by taking dance classes during the school day or participating in after-school groups; such as Dance Company, Dance Team, and after school dance. Throughout the year, dancers share their talents in performances like the Christmas Cabaret and Freshman Convocation while continuing to grow their technique and confidence in rehearsals. Memorable experiences also take dancers beyond the classroom, including a trip to New York City where students participated in a workshop with the Rockettes before seeing the show, and an exciting trip to Disney World where dancers performed and took part in a professional workshop. With so many opportunities available, the dance program allows students to develop their skills, express themselves creatively, and share their love of dance with the school community.

FRESH START Dressed in white, the dancer moves across the gym floor with quiet confidence, drawing in the crowd as Freshman Convocation begins. Surrounded by a sense of unity and new beginnings, the performance reflects both grace and strength, welcoming the incoming Caseys with something truly memorable.

"Performing in the Freshman Convocation dance made me feel closer to God and reminded me how meaningful it is to express faith through movement. Being a dance captain makes that experience even more special, as I get to guide others, share the joy of movement, and inspire my team to shine together."

PETER & THE STARCATCHER

"I know that I will carry these relationships with me for the rest of my life."

-NIKO SAKELARIS '26

NIKO SAKELARIS '26 STARRED AS 'THE BOY'
"From the moment I stepped into the theater as a freshman, I knew it would always have a special place in my heart. That hasn't changed by senior year. No matter the role, I've stayed committed, and each year my love for theater has only grown stronger. It's become more than just an activity, it's part of who I am.

My favorite memory was the 2025 California trip. Not only did we give an amazing performance, but I also built deeper friendships and experienced a new part of the country. It was a trip I'll never forget."

A young orphan and his mates are shipped off from Victorian England to a distant island ruled by the evil King Zarboff. They know nothing of the mysterious trunk in the captain's cabin, which contains precious, otherworldly cargo. At sea, the boys are discovered by a precocious young girl named Molly, a Starcatcher-in-training who realizes that the trunk's precious cargo is starstuff, a celestial substance so powerful that it must never fall into the wrong hands. When the ship is taken over by pirates–led by the fearsome Black Statue, a villain determined to claim the trunk and its treasure for his own–the journey quickly becomes a thrilling adventure.

CATCHING MAGIC The Orphans beat the odds by outsmarting the pirate Black Stache and forge their own destiny.

DYNAMIC DUO Max Speiser & John-William Zziwa rocked the stage with their performance, making it unforgettable for anyone watching.

CAPITAN CORT Cort Hooker dove deep into the mind of Captain Hook, playing the role with passion. Despite only being a Sophomore, he takes the stage with the confidence of a Senior.

FRIENDS FOR LIFE Friendships are constantly blooming in the drama department, you'll never leave a practice without a friend!

BETTER WITH FINS "Mermaid Outta Me" is a beautiful song about connection, longing, and being between two worlds. Our talented RBC drama made this charming song come to life. According to the cast this performance was a crowd favorite!

SENIOR STORM Maeve Thurman is a devoted Senior, shes been in the drama since Freshman year and is always a joy to have on the stage!

HIGH SEAS In a burst of daring bravery, Peter hijacks the pirate ship and seizes the ship's wheel, outsmarting the crew. By saving the trunk of starstuff, he protects the magic at the heart of the adventure and proves himself a true hero.

STARLIT DREAMS Siena Marino '27 and Niko Sakelaris '26 share a heartfelt moment that captured the magic of the night. Side by side, the world seemed to fade away, leaving just two dreamers and a sky full of possibilities.

AT THE HELM As the final chapters of their journey unfold, Siena Marino '27, John-William Zziwa '28, and Maxwell Speiser '28 stand united at the helm, guiding the ship away from Neverland.

PIRATE SERENADE Avery Owens '29 and Evelyn Laible '29 lead a cheerful choir, bringing playful charm and harmonies to the high-seas adventure unfolding on stage.

HARSH AUTHORITY
Kylie Schneider '27 performs an emotional monologue as Grempkin, the sadistic schoolmaster of St. Norbert's School for Lost Boys.

DECKSIDE DELIGHT
Maeve Thurman '26 as Pirate Smee standing ready for her next adventure. In bold stripes and sea-ready style, she brought humor, heart, and a hint of mischief to the deck.

Moments in MOTION

The Dance Department at Red Bank Catholic High School, under the direction of Kelly Gemellaro, offers students many opportunities to grow as performers both in and outside the classroom. Students can take dance electives beginning freshman year, with options continuing through senior year, including advanced courses and a senior choreography project. Beyond the classroom, dancers can participate in Dance Company, Dance Team, and the After-School Dance program. The Dance Team performs at football and basketball games, pep rallies, and community events, while Dance Company performs at school showcases, special events, and even national dance festivals.

LEADING THROUGH DANCE

Dance Company Cpt, Hannah Beatty looks back on what dance means to her. "I have been dancing since I was four years old, and over the years, it sometimes felt like something I had to do rather than something I truly enjoyed. Competing since I was seven, I made the difficult decision to stop competing for my senior year, and taking that time to dance for myself helped me rediscover my love for the art. Being captain of the dance company has taught me how to motivate and trust my teammates, guiding thirty dancers to move as one not just in choreography, but in the feeling of the performance. One moment that will always stay with me was my last time on a competitive stage, dancing with three of my best friends for the final time before we went our separate ways. Knowing it was our last national performance, I left it all on the stage and will never forget that feeling."

PURE ENERGY Members of the RBC Senior Dance Class leap into action, showing energy and unity during rehearsal in the performing arts studio as they practice choreography and showcase their passion for dance.

"For more than two decades, I have dedicated my career to performing arts and dance education at Red Bank Catholic High School. My goal is to foster an inclusive, supportive environment where every student feels empowered to create and shine. I believe performing arts teaches resilience, teamwork and self-expression skills that extend far beyond the stage. It is an honor to guide students as they develop both as performers and individuals."

A Year in MEMORIES

MS. HANDS & MRS. FIORENO

From the first days to the final moments, the Yearbook Staff worked hard together to capture the heart of this school year. Centered around our theme, Together Upward, we grew as a team, lifting each other up to create something meaningful for everyone. We hope these pages bring back memories, spark smiles, and serve as a lasting reminder of the friendships and experiences shared. Most of all, we hope you enjoy looking through this book as much as we enjoyed creating it for you.

Jackson SPEISER

"I have loved working on the Yearbook, it has been so fun. Learning how to edit and create things was something I won't forget. Spending time with my friends was something so amazing, and not just friends I already had, but talking to new people and making new friends. I'm so grateful for my teachers pushing for me to do more because it was so worth it. This is the best Yearbook ever from RBC. I truly treasure every single moment spent with everyone involved I wouldn't have changed anything."

CAMPUS LIFE EDITOR

Brianna DAVENPORT

"Being in the Yearbook this year ended up being a lot more fun than I expected. I started out mostly working on Senior pages, which was cool because I got to help put together everything for our last year. After a while, I started getting added to other pages too, so I wasn't just focused on one section anymore. It made things more interesting and gave me a chance to try different stuff. Overall, it felt good being part of something that everyone will look back on later."

SENIOR SECTION EDITOR

"As a yearbook designer, I put my best into every page, every layout, and every detail. Working mainly on the Campus Life Section was really fun, and I was able to capture all the everyday moments that made this school year so special. This class has been such a fun and meaningful adventure into digital media. I'm really going to miss it. I'll always be able to look back at this Yearbook and remember the teamwork we all shared throughout the year."

CAMPUS LIFE EDITOR

Jordan WARD

"Being part of the Yearbook Staff this year was an incredibly rewarding experience. As the first year the yearbook was fully student-led, it was exciting to help shape the book and bring new ideas to life. I especially enjoyed learning more about page design and getting the opportunity to focus on creating Faculty Sections that highlighted the teachers who make our school community so special. One of my favorite additions was helping introduce Teacher Superlatives, which added a fun and personal touch to the book. Working on the Yearbook allowed me to be creative, collaborate with others, and help capture the moments that made this year memorable."

EDITOR IN CHIEF & FACULTY SECTION

Bailey BAXTER

"Serving on the Yearbook Staff was a meaningful experience, especially in my role co-leading the Underclassmen Section with Antonella. Together, we were responsible for organizing and creating pages that highlighted underclassmen, including selecting photos, writing captions, and ensuring everything was completed on time. This role required strong collaboration, attention to detail, and time management as we worked to meet deadlines and produce a polished final product. Being in charge of an entire section allowed me to contribute directly to the Yearbook and take pride in creating pages that accurately represented the student body."

UNDERCLASSMEN EDITOR

Kathryn DENZLER

"As part of the Yearbook Staff this year, I had a lot of fun and learned how to collaborate with others to bring each page together. I worked mainly on Sports, but also had the opportunity to contribute to Performing Arts, Casey's Pride, and Student Candid pages. Each section gave me a chance to capture different parts of our school community and tell unique stories. I also learned about layout design, writing, and meeting deadlines throughout the process. Working with everyone made the experience even more enjoyable and memorable."

EDITOR IN CHIEF & SPORTS SECTION

Alice KELLY

"This year, I worked on the Yearbook, focusing on the Performing Arts pages. I helped gather photos, write captions, and organize content to highlight different performances. It was really fun getting to see all the talent and hard work from students involved in theater, music, and dance. I enjoyed collaborating with others and being creative with the page designs. Being part of the Yearbook team made me feel more connected to school activities. Overall, it was a great experience that I'm glad I got to be part of."

PERFORMING ARTS EDITOR

Matthew FEITER

"Being part of the Yearbook this year turned out to be way more enjoyable than I thought it would be. At first, I mainly worked on the Sport pages, which was pretty meaningful since I was helping capture such an important year for them. As time went on, I got the chance to work on other sections too, so I wasn't stuck doing the same thing all the time. That variety made it more fun and let me try out new ideas. In the end, it felt rewarding to contribute to something that people will be able to look back on in the future."

SPORTS EDITOR

Taya JONES

"Working on the Yearbook has been such a wonderful experience. Every class is filled with dedication and pride. I love designing pages and bringing people together through photos and captions. I have learned so much through this experience and I would do it all over again. The donuts are a plus too! :)"

PERFORMING ARTS EDITOR

Antonella VELASQUEZ -MOLINA

"Being part of the Yearbook has allowed me to be part of an amazing group of creative people. Bailey and I worked on the Underclassmen Section, where we worked together, learned, and helped each other. I learned that every photo tells a story worth keeping, and we were in charge of helping people feel heard and seen."

UNDERCLASSMEN EDITOR

"The yearbook is like a time capsule of the year, a tradition unique to every school. Being part of the Red Bank Catholic Yearbook team means a lot to me because I'm someone who holds onto everything. I take pictures of everything and want to make sure every moment is remembered. The Yearbook feels like a physical version of that. It gives me a sense of appreciation and even a feeling of pre-nostalgia , knowing it holds so many memories, not just mine but everyone's. Being part of something that captures our community like that makes me feel grateful for the experience and proud to be included in it."

SENIOR SECTION EDITOR

CLASS OF 2026

Dear Caseys,

As we close this school year at Red Bank Catholic, I am reminded of the meaning behind our theme, Together Upward.

At RBC, we do not grow alone. We learn, lead, pray, celebrate, and persevere together. This year, I have seen our students lift one another up in classrooms, on the field, on the stage, and in the many quiet moments that define a school community grounded in faith, friendship, and purpose.

To our seniors, this theme feels especially fitting. You have moved upward not only toward graduation, but toward the people you are becoming. You have led with spirit, created lasting memories, and helped shape the heart of this school year. As you leave RBC, I hope you carry with you the values that matter most—faith, integrity, gratitude, and the understanding that no one reaches great heights alone.

Thank you, students, faculty, and families, for all you have done to make this year so special. May we always continue moving together upward.
