Back to School Training

The 2026–27 school year is off to an excellent start, and that success is a direct reflection of the hard work and dedication demonstrated throughout the month of August.

Assistant Director Sandy Short wants to acknowledge all that was put into training this year:

“Our management team, trainers, and crew put in tremendous effort preparing for the year ahead—completing training, sharing knowledge, addressing challenges, and making sure we were set up for success from day one.

We also greatly appreciate the outstanding support from the school district. Having the necessary tools and resources in place, from computers being prepared and ready to go to ensuring building access was available, made a significant difference in allowing our team to hit the ground running.

Thank you to everyone for your teamwork, preparation, and commitment to excellence. It is this shared dedication and collaboration that helps ensure we have a safe, successful, and smoothly running school year.”
