BULLDOG BOOKS

spotlights

Hispanic Heritage

Tigers, not Daughters

by Samantha Mabry

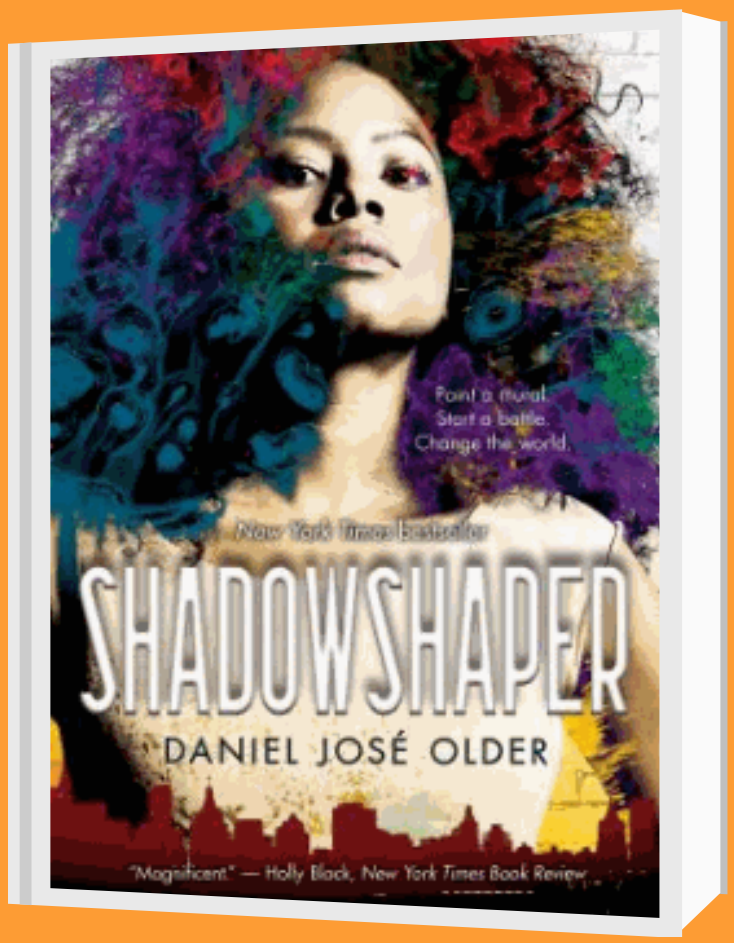

Three sisters in San Antonio are shadowed by guilt and grief over the loss of their oldest sister, who still haunts their house.

Shut Up, This Is Serious

by Carolina Ixta

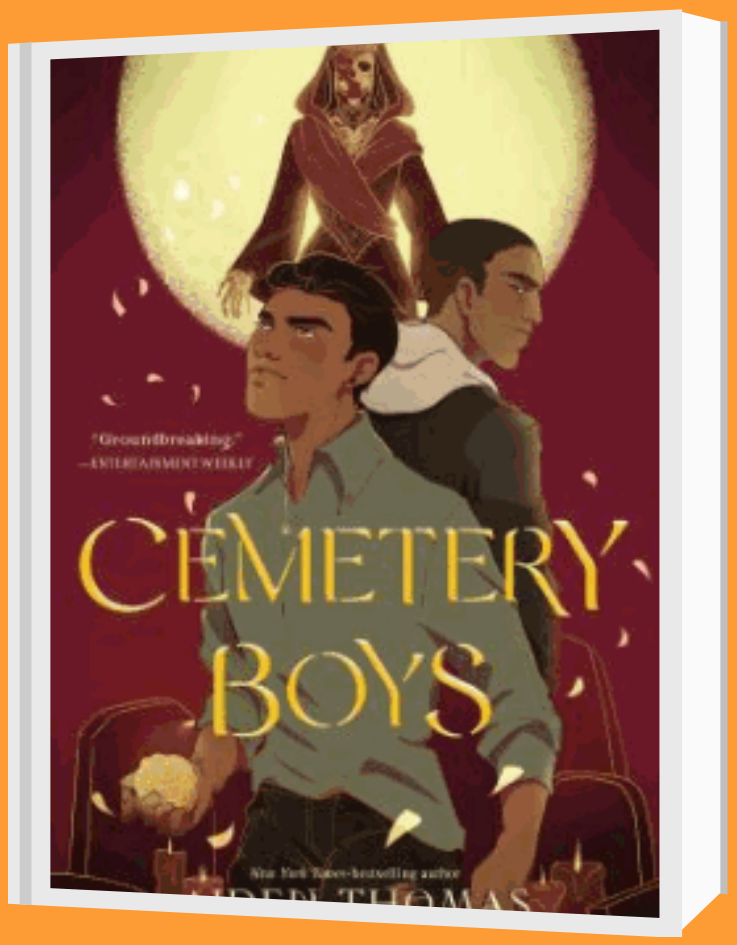

Weighed by a depression she can't seem to shake, Belén hangs out with an older guy, and cuts a lot of class. She soon realizes, though, that distractions are only temporary.

Shadowshaper

by Daniel Jose Older

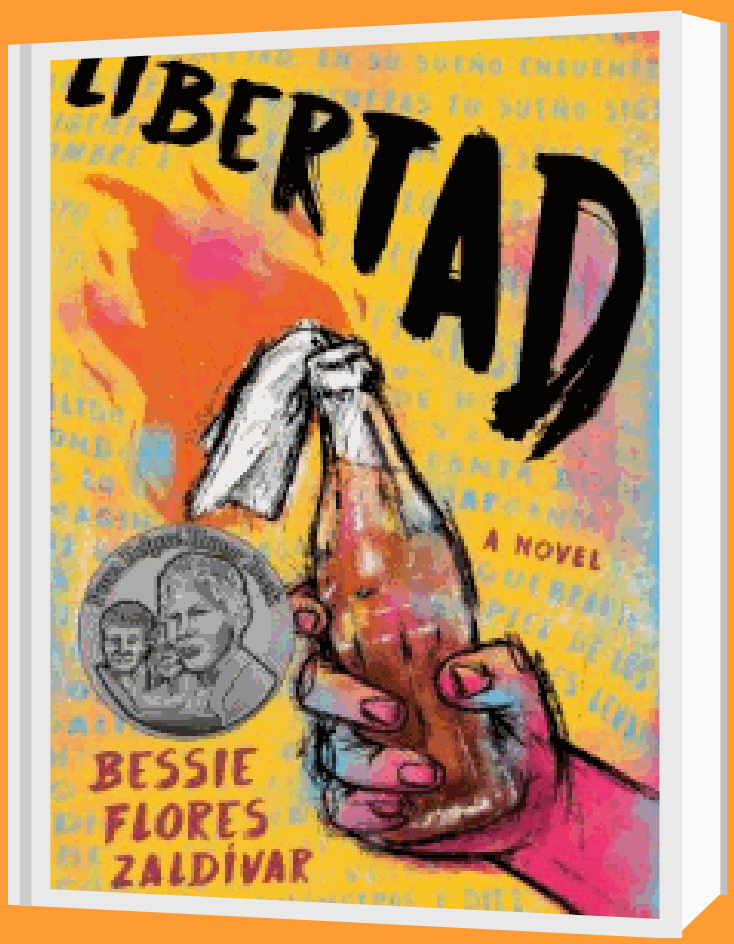

When her summer plans are interrupted by supernatural phenomena, Sierra uncovers the work of a magic-wielding killer who believes Sierra's family is hiding a powerful secret.

Cemetery Boys

by Aiden Thomas

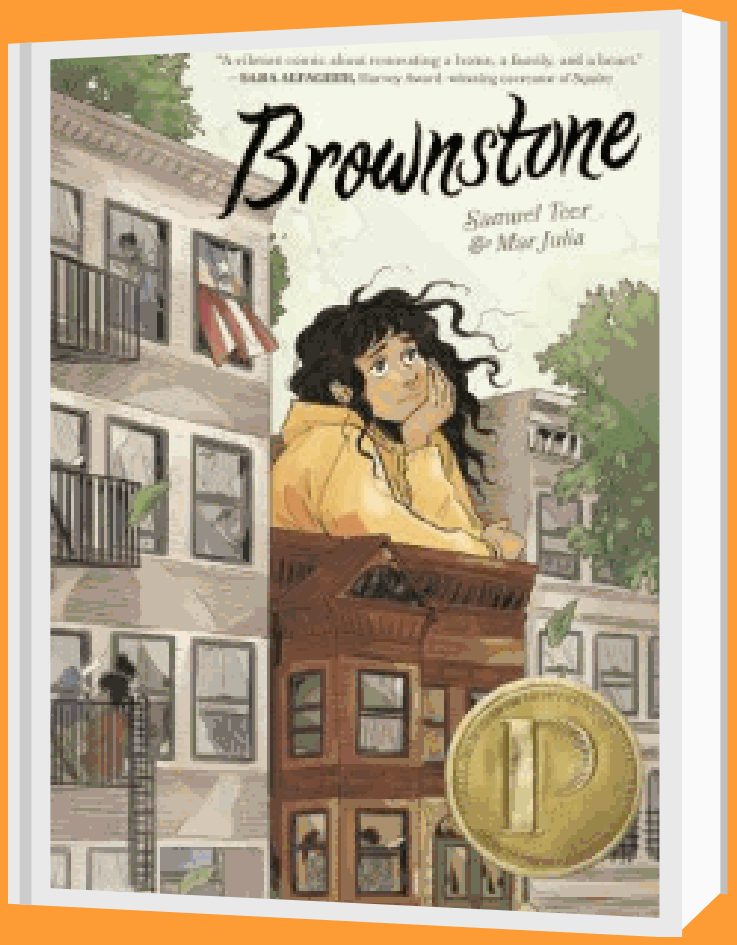

When his traditional Latinx family struggles to accept him, Yadriel is determined to prove himself as a real brujo. With help, he summons a spirit who refuses to leave.

Libertad

by Bessie Flores Zaldivar

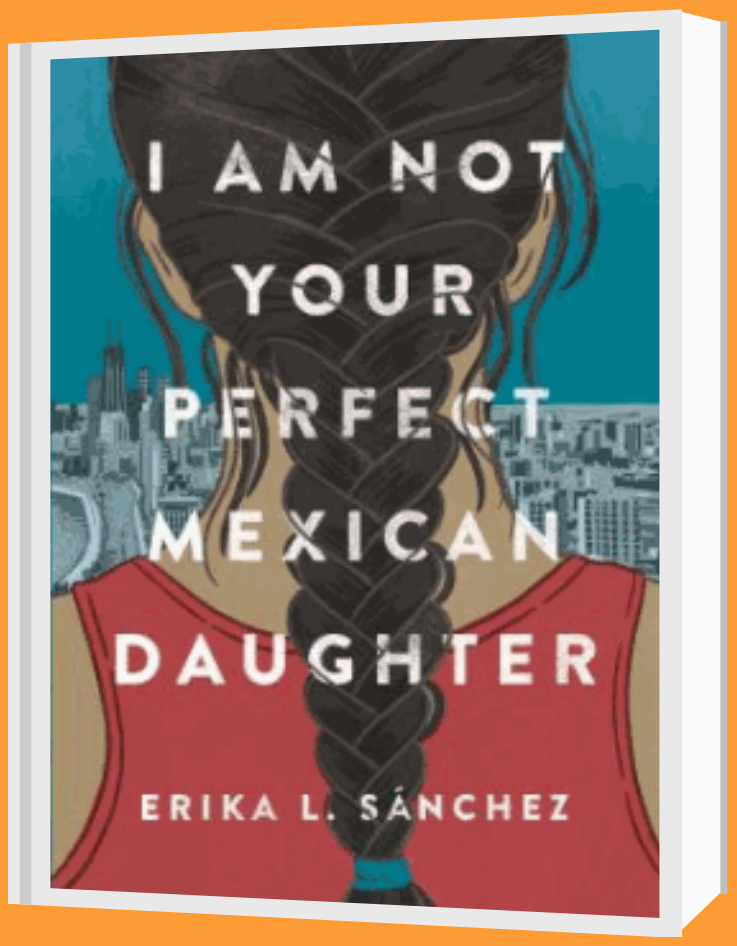

Libertad faces homophobia at home and school and threats to her political poetry online, and when tragedy strikes, she must speak her truth or leave the only home she's ever known.

Brownstone

by Bessie Flores Zaldivar

Almudena is sent to live with her Spanish-speaking father, and together they renovate a brownstone and build a relationship while Almudena navigates the Latin American side of her heritage for the first time.

I Am Not Your Perfect Mexican Daughter

by Ericka L. Sanchez

Julia help her family pick up the pieces after her sister, Olga, dies in a tragic accident. In the process, Julia learns that Olga may not have been so perfect after all.