KoroBoro Celebrates: 51 Years of PNG Independence and 50 Years of IEA Education in PNG!

"Celebrate Our History, Inspire Our Future – Lead" - Success Being Your Own Best.

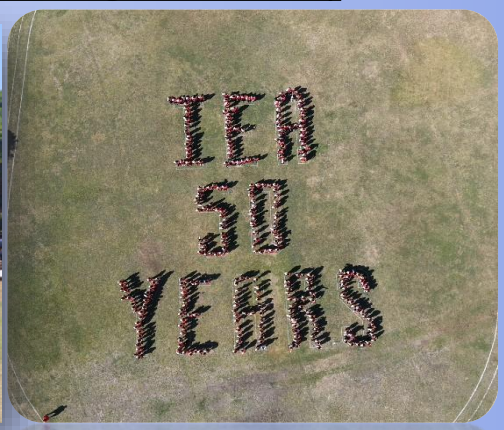

September is always a special month in Papua New Guinea. It is a time when we pause to celebrate who we are as a nation, reflect on how far we have travelled and look forward with confidence to the future.

This year is particularly significant as Papua New Guinea celebrates its 51st Independence Day, while the International Education Agency (IEA) of Papua New Guinea celebrates 50 years of providing quality education to the children of KoroBoro.

At KoroBoro International School, these two celebrations come together in a very meaningful way.

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

51 Years of Independence – The People are Proud to Be Papua New Guinean during this period of transformation in the land of the unexpected.

Independence is much more than a national celebration. It is about identity, belonging, responsibility and hope. It is about recognising the remarkable diversity of the country and the strength that comes from the many cultures, languages, communities and traditions.

For our students, Independence Day provides an opportunity to learn that they are not simply preparing for the future—they are part of Papua New Guinea's future.

At KoroBoro, we are proud to see our students develop as confident young Papua New Guineans and other students from other countries, sharing in the celebrations of this great land. KoroBoro gives so many opportunities for students to participate in academic, sporting, cultural, artistic and community activities. Whether they are representing the school on the sporting field, performing on stage, competing academically, working collaboratively in the classroom or demonstrating leadership and service, our students continue to show that there are many ways to contribute to this country, called Papua New Guinea.

Our responsibility as educators (Parents and Teachers) is therefore much greater than delivering a curriculum. We help young people develop the knowledge, skills, character and confidence they need to make a positive contribution to PNG.

We want our students to leave KoroBoro believing that they can make a difference.

That is at the core of our school spirit through our motto - Success Being Your Own Best.

Success is not measured only by awards, examination results or trophies. Success is also found in effort, resilience, kindness, leadership, improvement and the courage to have another go when something does not go according to plan. This is who the students of KoroBoro are and continue to be and this is why we celebrate - 50 Years of IEA Education – A Proud PNG Story!

For five decades, the International Education Agency has played an important role in the development of education in Papua New Guinea. From its beginnings 50 years ago, which started with the signing of the authorisation to be a legalised company to offer education in PNG, on the Koro campus oval. IEA has grown into a significant education organisation, supporting schools, teachers, students and communities across the country.

KoroBoro International School – the largest of all IEA Schools - is proud to be part of that continuing story.

For 50 years, IEA education has been about people and opportunity—giving students the opportunity to learn, teachers the opportunity to develop professionally and communities the opportunity to build a stronger future through education.

At KoroBoro, we see that legacy every day.

We see it in the dedication of our teachers and ancillary staff. We see it when students discover a new talent, overcome a challenge or achieve something they once thought was beyond them. We see it in our sporting teams, our performers, our artists, our classroom achievements and, most importantly, in the growth of our young people as individuals.

Our school is also fortunate to be part of a much larger IEA family across Papua New Guinea. Being part of IEA connects KoroBoro to a 50-year tradition of educational service and provides us with the responsibility to continue building on that legacy.

"Celebrate Our History, Inspire Our Future – Lead"

The celebration of 51 years of Independence and 50 years of IEA education reminds us that education and nation-building go hand in hand.

The Papua New Guinea of tomorrow will be shaped by the young people sitting in our classrooms today.

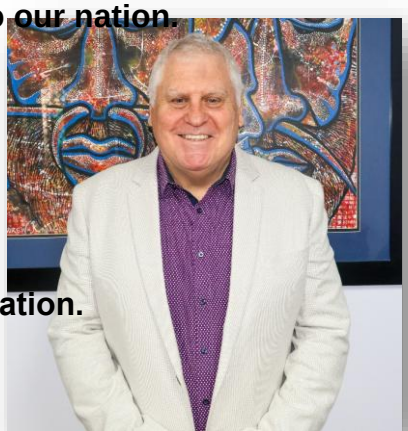

That is why KoroBoro remains committed to providing an environment where every student is encouraged to discover their strengths, challenge themselves, support others and strive for excellence.

We are proud of our achievements, but we are even more excited about what lies ahead.

As we celebrate the freedom of a nation and IEA's remarkable 50-year contribution to education, we also celebrate the people who make KoroBoro what it is—our students, parents, teachers, support staff, School Association, School Board and wider KoroBoro community.

Happy 51st Independence Day, Papua New Guinea!

Congratulations to IEA on 50 years of education and service to our nation.

And to our KoroBoro community:
Be proud. Be courageous. Be kind. Be your best.

Welcome to Prep BA

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

Prep BA students reflected on what they learnt about how people in Papua New Guinea celebrate their unique traditions through dances, songs, traditional clothing, storytelling, and ceremonies.

Students responded well by sharing their ideas and talking about their own cultures and traditions. They showed respect for different cultures and learnt why it is important to keep these traditions alive. The students are also excited and ready to take part in the upcoming Independence celebration and proudly celebrate Papua New Guinea's cultural heritage.

Students dicussing and sharing what they have learnt in our Inquiry lesson. Some students confidently modelled how it will look like on the Independence Celebration at Koro campus.

Students work sample showing one thing they learnt about Papua New Guinea's unique traditions.

Learning About Trading in Papua New Guinea

This term ,3NS students have been learning about trading in Papua New Guinea and how it plays an important role in our country's economy in our unit of inquiry learning . Through our lessons, we have gained a better understanding of how goods and services are exchanged between countries and why Papua New Guinea imports and exports products.

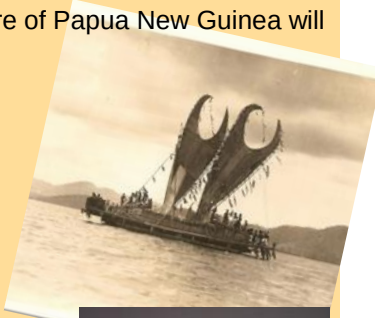

One of the key things we have learned is the importance of prioritising our needs and developing good spending habits. We discussed how individuals, families and even governments must make wise decisions about spending money. By planning carefully and avoiding unnecessary expenses, we can use our resources more effectively and prepare for the future

Our studies have also helped us understand the meaning of independence and what it means to be an independent nation. Since gaining independence, Papua New Guinea has continued to work towards economic growth and self-reliance. We learned that independence is not only about governing ourselves, but also about strengthening our economy and creating opportunities for our people.

As the future generation of Papua New Guinea, we have big dreams for our country. One of our hopes is to see more factories built here so that we can process our own raw materials and produce finished products locally. Instead of importing many goods from other countries, we want Papua New Guinea to manufacture more of its own products. This would create jobs, support local businesses and help our economy grow stronger.

Through learning about trade, spending habits and independence, we are developing important skills and knowledge that will help us contribute positively to our country. We believe that with hard work, good planning and innovative ideas, the future of Papua New Guinea will be bright and prosperous.

"The future of Papua New Guinea is in our hands, and together we can build a stronger and more independent nation."

Welcome to Grade 6DM

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

"Young Minds, Big Ideas: Small ideas today, big solutions tomorrow!"

Throughout the term, the 6DM class has been exploring real-world challenges and developing STEM-based solutions through inquiry, research, design, and experimentation. Students proudly and confidently showcased their projects to the wider school community and parents. They clearly articulated the problems their projects were designed to address and demonstrated how their solutions worked. It was inspiring to witness these young innovators and problem-solvers applying their creativity, critical thinking, and teamwork to create meaningful solutions for real-world issues.

Izar getting ready to present her project on the hydraulic powered crane.

Chrysolite testing her Water Filtration project.

Randall and the boys demonstrating their elephant toothpaste experiment.

Lalani and Thandeka showing their META stick - an innovative project to support blind people avoid accidents on the road.

Ravunama and Samson assisting fellow students to give feedback and questions about their smoke remover project.

Deborah explaining how a wind powered energy works and its benefits.

Welcome to KB Independence Committee

WELCOME TO THE INFORMER

KB Celebrated PNG's 51st Independence and IEA's 50th Anniversary.

KoroBoro proudly celebrated Papua New Guinea's 51st Independence Anniversary alongside the IEA's 50th Anniversary. The occasion was significant as it recognised PNG's journey of independence and IEA's five decades of contribution to the engineering profession.

The celebration brought staff, families and friends together in a spirit of unity, pride and appreciation. It was also an opportunity to reflect on past achievements and recognise the important role of engineering in supporting PNG's growth and development.
The event was a memorable celebration of our nation, our profession and our shared commitment to the future.
