TITLE 1-A, TITLE IV-A, SRSA (REAP)
A targeted Title I program provides additional academic support to students identified as needing extra help in reading or math. Services are focused on specific students rather than the entire school, using evidence-based interventions during or outside the regular instructional day.

LAP and LAP High-Poverty funds provide supplemental academic supports for students who are performing below grade level in core subjects. Services focus on evidence-based reading and math interventions, small-group instruction, and targeted skill-building to accelerate student learning.

Supervision responsibilities focus on promoting safety through active monitoring, early intervention, and maintaining orderly spaces, while also applying PBIS strategies such as positive reinforcement, teaching expectations, and modeling respectful interactions. Staff support a predictable, safe school environment where students understand and practice appropriate behaviors.

Office coverage staff ensure uninterrupted service by supporting student medical needs, maintaining timely communication with parents, and relaying essential messages to teachers. This role requires attentiveness, clear communication, and calm problem-solving to keep daily school operations running smoothly in the main office's absence.
