CHIEF SCIENCE OFFICERS

Since 2017, the Chief Science Officers (CSO) Program has empowered STHS students to take an active role in shaping STEM opportunities across our school and community. As part of an international network of student STEM leaders, CSOs identify needs, develop action plans, and turn ideas into meaningful programs, events, and outreach experiences.

Each year, four student CSOs help lead initiatives that expand access to science, technology, engineering, trades, and mathematics. CSOs focus on creating opportunities that connect students with real-world STEM experiences, careers, and leadership.
