School District of Holmen

Partners in Quality Education

In the School District of Holmen, we believe students learn best when families, schools, and communities work together. The following promises are voluntary commitments made by individuals to themselves and others.

As a student, I promise to…

- be kind and respectful to everyone
- come to school to learn
- do my best in school
- tell my family about what I am learning
- ask for help whenever I need it
- try to read at home every day

Parents/caring adults, As you read over the following parent commitments, you may notice you are already doing many of these things. That was the main request by Title I parents as we worked together to develop the compact. They wanted simple, yet important, commitments that parents were already doing and felt comfortable supporting. Together we can provide a quality education for each child and promote lifelong learning.

As a parent/caring adult, I promise to…

- respect cultural and individual differences of others
- see that my child attends school regularly and arrives on time
- communicate regularly with school staff to support and challenge my child
- talk with my child every day and encourage good study habits
- read to or read with my child and read for myself every day
- encourage my child to use math in everyday situations

As a school staff member, I promise to…

- respect our diverse community of learners
- help students and parents feel welcome in school
- communicate and work with families to support student learning
- ensure a safe and nurturing learning environment
- read to or read with my students and read for myself every day
- demonstrate math thinking and strategies with my students every day
