DROP-OFF WRITING REVIEW

Summary Feedback Form

Strengths: Great topic! Good Flow!

Weaknesses: We have some places where we can cut words and phrases to give you more space to answer the questions we didn't really touch on enough from the prompt.

Recommended Next Steps: After you work through these changes, make sure you read the essay out loud to make sure everything is good to go! ☺ Don't be discouraged— my application essay took 11-12 drafts to be really ready for submission to a highly competitive school. You're doing a fabulous job, and you're really close to being finished! :D You got this!!!

2. Every person has a creative side, and it can be expressed in many ways: problem solving, original and innovative thinking, and artistically, to name a few. Describe how you express your creative side. (MAX 350 words)

Things to consider: What does creativity mean to you? Do you have a creative skill that is important to you? What have you been able to do with that skill? If you used creativity to solve a problem, what was your solution? What are the steps you took to solve the problem?

How does your creativity influence your decisions inside or outside the classroom? Does your creativity relate to your major or a future career?

This is a great aspect of your personality to highlight :) Good choice! My biggest critique of the piece is that we don't really answer the yellow highlighted stuff, which is an important set of questions to answer. (Half a sentence to answer both question does not really count @) Fully answering those would add another dimension of your personality to the essay, making you a more dynamic character and making your hobby more relevant to your college career. It would also help make your paper less repetitive.

A few years ago, I started to write stories in a free online storytelling community known as  ad[zero readers and zero followers] when I posted the first chapter of my first story, even weeks after it was published. It was difficult and discouraging at times, but I did not let that stop me from doing what I enjoyed. The number of views gradually built up at a turtle's pace, ~~with only~~ a handful of readers ~~at a time~~ but I continued to post chapters. ~~Eventually, after what felt like forever,~~ the views began to show a significant increase. Now, that same story has over six million views and has also been ranked number three on the Hottest Romance Stories list on Wattpad.

If I had given up right away as I wanted to, I probably would not have discovered ~~my~~ skill for writing I did not know I even had, and my stories would not have been read by so many viewers. ~~Although it may seem like a small feat to some people,~~ this accomplishment ~~has encouraged me greatly and~~ has given creative writing a whole new meaning to me. ~~This~~ experience has shown me that I have the ability to give readers ~~the~~

~~a similar joy similar and thrill to what~~ I have felt from reading great books. It showed me

Let me mark that on the board for us, and then we can start connecting our points to draw the line

You

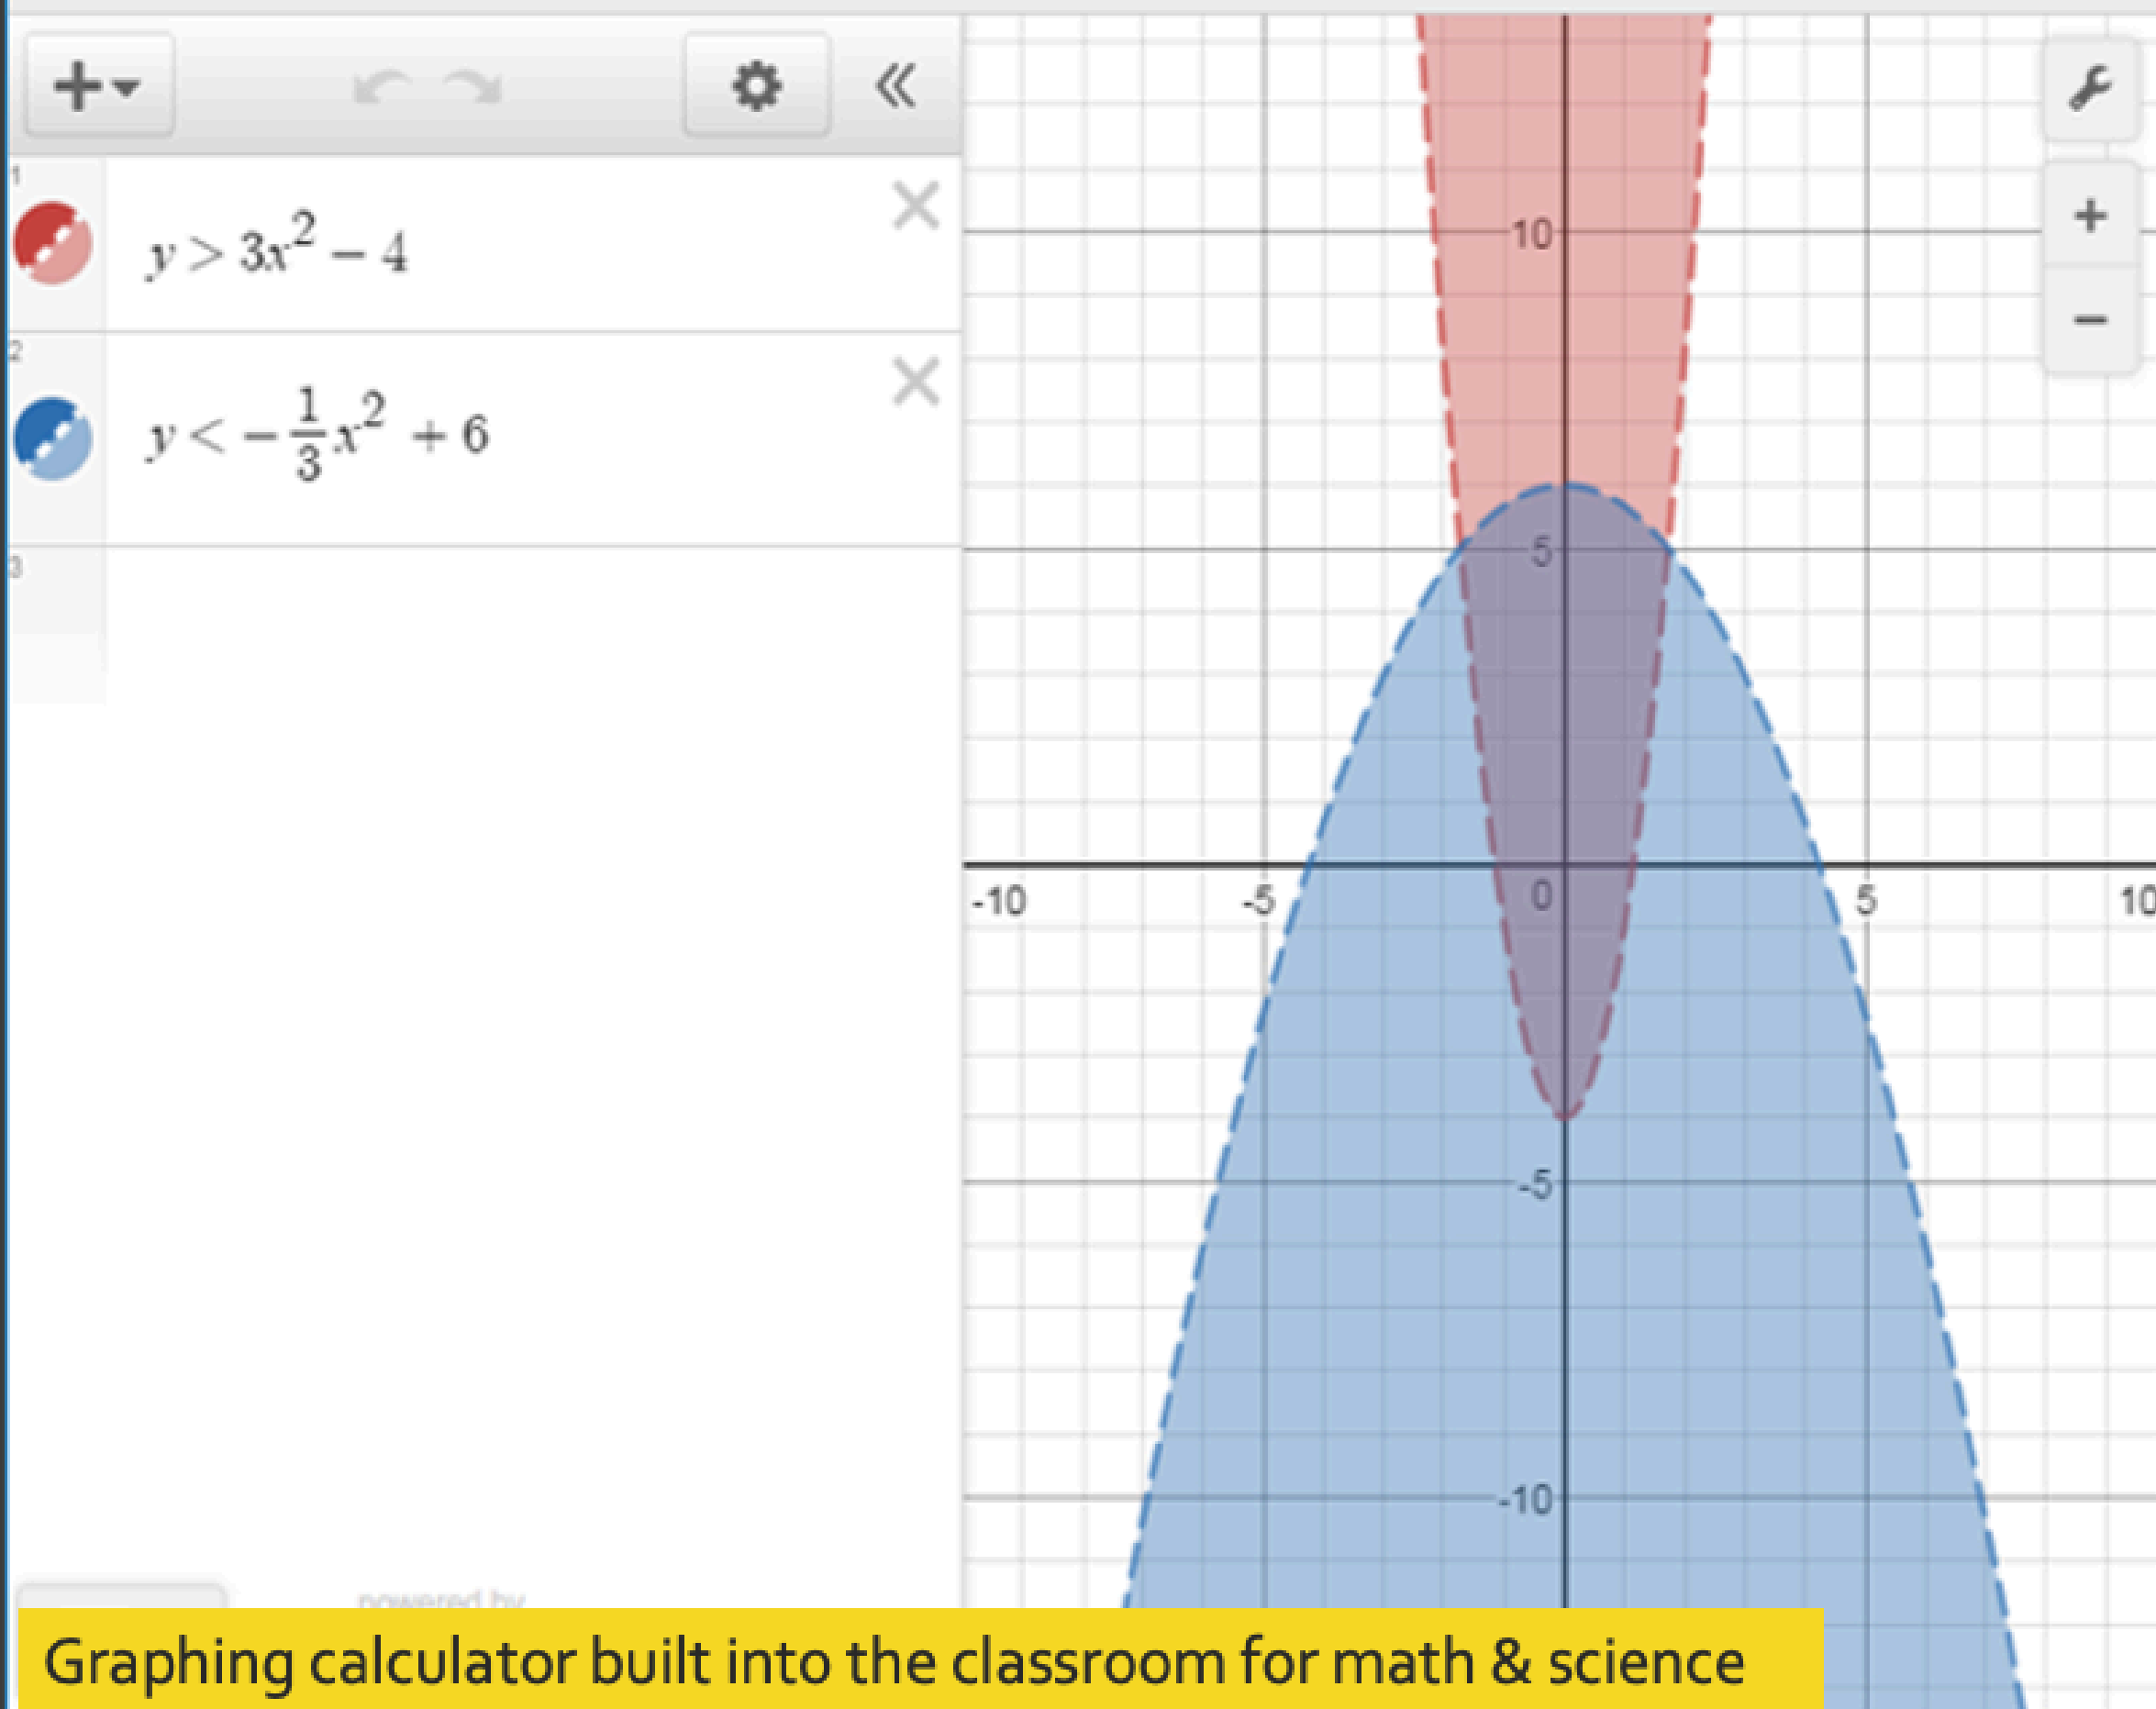

Ah, OK, I think I understand...

Then we would just connect those points you've marked, right?

Exactly right! Great job

Got it - thanks

At the top, a toolbar includes options like Whiteboard, Graphing Calculator, Code Editor, Text Editor, Share File, Print, Settings, and Add to Favorites. Below this, a message states: "You are viewing a desktop application that your tutor is sharing!". The main area shows a Microsoft Word document titled "poetry essay - first draft [Compatibility Mode]". The document content includes a paragraph about negative emotion and longing, followed by a paragraph about William Shakespeare's "My Mistress' Eyes are Nothing like the Sun", and another paragraph about Henry Constable's "My Lady's Presence Makes the Roses Red". The chat window on the right shows a conversation between "Margaret A (Tutor)" and "You". The chat messages include: "Margaret A (Tutor): Perfect!", "You: OK, now that I'm looking at the essay, one of the first things that jumps out at me is your use of citations.", "Margaret A (Tutor): For example, take a look at the portion I'm highlighting now...", "You: Sure, let's do it!", "Margaret A (Tutor): I'd be happy to help you with your citations", "You: I'll open up the text editor, and then you can paste in your essay, OK?", "Margaret A (Tutor): So it's this second paragraph that I'm really struggling with".
