Civil Rights Data Collection

How to Gather District Data for Timely Completion

The Civil Rights Data Collection (CRDC) is a biennial survey required by the U.S. Department of Education. The purpose of the survey is to collect data related to compliance with federal civil rights laws in the nation's schools. The survey is completed by all public Local Educational Agencies (LEAs) and public schools, including charter schools, alternative schools, juvenile justice facilities, and schools serving students with disabilities. The data collection includes information on student enrollment, educational programs, and related services. The CRDC is an important component of the U.S. Department of Education's strategy for enforcing the civil rights statutes for which it is responsible. This year's collection will focus on data from the 2025–26 school year.

In this session, we will provide:

- An overview of the process for completing the survey
- A review of changes for 2025-26 reporting
- An overview of resources available to assist with completing the survey
