

At Oakwood High School, clubs give students the chance to explore what they care about and be fully themselves. Students can join an existing club or turn their own idea into a new one. Along the way, they build real leadership and teamwork skills, connect with their community, and make a difference for people near and far. They meet new friends, grow their confidence, and discover their own voice. Every club is grounded in Oakwood's core values of respect, service, honesty, kindness, and citizenship, so wherever students land, they become part of something that matters.
