Tri-Cities Prep

A Catholic High School

Tri-Cities Prep, a Catholic High School, is dedicated to providing the highest quality academic instruction in a faith-centered environment. While preparing students for higher education, we strive to form Christian leaders spiritually, intellectually, physically and culturally.

A high moral standard within the Judeo-Christian tradition provides the cornerstone for assisting our students in making sound decisions for a full and successful life.

Guided by the Gospel values of peace, love, and justice, students are challenged to critically seek the truth and dedicate themselves to improve the community and serve others.

A Message from the President

Dear Friends of Tri-Cities Prep,

It is with great pride and gratitude that I reflect on the remarkable past year at Tri-Cities Prep. Our school continues to be a place where faith, academic excellence, character, and community come together to form young men and women who are prepared not only for college, but for lives of purpose and service.

This past year provided countless opportunities for our students to grow. In the classroom, on the athletic fields, on the stage, in service to others, and through their faith, our students demonstrated the character, competence, and compassion that define the Tri-Cities Prep experience. Their accomplishments reflect the hard work and the dedication of the faculty and staff who challenge and support them each day.

We are especially grateful for the families who entrust their children to Tri-Cities Prep. Our parents are essential partners in creating a strong school community, and their commitment to our mission makes a lasting difference in the lives of our students.

We are also deeply thankful for the generosity of our alumni, donors, parishes, community partners, and friends. Your support allows us to provide opportunities for our students, strengthen our programs, improve our campus, and ensure that a Catholic education remains accessible to families throughout our greater community.

As we look to the future, we do so with confidence and excitement. We are committed to strengthening our Catholic identity, pursuing academic excellence, supporting the well-being and leadership of our students, growing our school community, and building a sustainable future for Tri-Cities Prep.

Our greatest measure of success is not simply what our students accomplish while they are here, but who they become because of their time at Tri-Cities Prep. We are blessed to walk alongside them during these formative years and to help prepare them to use their gifts in service to God, their families, their communities, and the world.

Thank you for believing in Tri-Cities Prep and for being part of our story. Together, we will continue to build a school worthy of the young people entrusted to our care.

Go Jaguars!

Reflection from the Board Chair

Walt Disney had unwavering faith in a vision no one else believed in. People mocked his early films and called Disneyland “Walt’s Folly,” certain it would fail. In many ways, Tri-Cities Prep’s story mirrors that same journey. When the idea of a Catholic high school in the Tri-Cities was first proposed, most people were convinced it wouldn’t last 25 months—let alone celebrate its 25th graduating class. But like Disney, our founders had faith in the story they were telling. And today, that story continues to unfold, shaped by the students, teachers, staff, families, and community who believe in it.

This year marked a new chapter as we welcomed our new President, Scott McNamee. It also ushered in an unprecedented period of growth on our campus. We enjoyed our first full year in the six new classrooms, dedicated the St. Michael’s Plaza, upgraded the HVAC system in our original hall, and built new dugouts for our softball field. Even our “landscaping project” became something more—a regulation practice and game field that not only supports our football program but also makes room for girls’ soccer to join our extracurricular offerings. And after several years of silence, our performing arts program returned to the stage with two successful, well-received productions: The Adventures of Sam Spade and You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown! These aren’t just improvements; they are signs of a school still writing its story with confidence, creativity, and faith in its mission.

That mission hasn’t changed, even though our mission statement has been refined. Today we say: Tri-Cities Prep is a Catholic, college-preparatory high school forming Christian leaders rooted in faith, character, academic excellence, and service. The words may be altered, but the heart of the message is exactly what the founders established 30 years ago. When our students graduate from Tri-Cities Prep, they are prepared—truly prepared—in ways that set them apart in our region. Last year alone, our seniors earned more than $13 million in scholarship offers. My own kids tell me the transition to Gonzaga University was surprisingly smooth because of the foundation they built here. That is the story we are telling: a school that believes in its mission, delivers on its promises, and forms young people ready to thrive.

As a board, our responsibility is to ensure that this mission endures—and that the story of Tri-Cities Prep is told clearly, boldly, and truthfully. We are stewards of a legacy built on faith in a vision that once seemed impossible, and guardians of a future that depends on our willingness to lead with purpose. This year reminded us that growth is not accidental; it is the result of intentional decisions, careful planning, and a community that believes in what this school stands for. The next chapter of Tri-Cities Prep will demand the same courage our founders showed 30 years ago, and the same commitment to forming young people who are ready to serve, lead, and thrive. Our story is strong—and it is ours to keep writing.

As always, Go Jaguars!

Gifts With Purpose

This year, our community was blessed with a generous $500,000 gift designated for 2026-27 tuition assistance. Because it is designated for next year, it is not included in this year's Operating Revenue above — but it gave the Board confidence in confirming 2026-27 tuition assistance offerings early in the year. Additionally, the Board designated $200,000 of fundraising revenue as an in-house line of credit, allowing Tri-Cities Prep to avoid drawing on — and paying interest on — a bank line of credit; this amount is also excluded from Operating Revenue above.

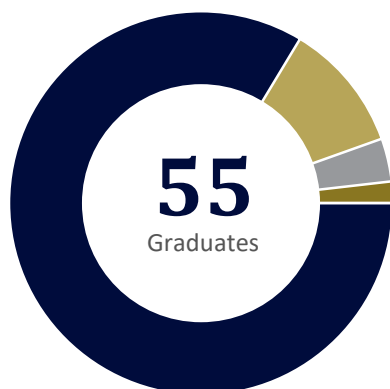

Academics

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; wisdom and instruction fools despise." — Prov 1:7

Our goal in the classroom is to help students understand both the world in which they live and the responsibility they have as young Christian men and women of action in that world. While at Prep, students are guided by a highly experienced faculty and staff who support them on an academic journey that includes opportunities to earn college credit.

College in the High School

Tri-Cities Prep students have the opportunity to earn college credit through our College in the High School (CiHS) partnership with Central Washington University, enabling them to maintain the full high school experience while getting a head start on their college education.

Courses available for college credit during the 2025-26 school year:

- Honors Algebra II (CWU Math 152) — 10 students
- Honors Psychology (CWU Psychology 101) — 16 students
- Honors Pre-Calculus (CWU Math 153 & 154) — 16 & 11 students
- Financial Literacy (CWU Finance 174) — 13 students

In 2026-27, we are also offering:

- Honors Physics (CWU Physics 111)

"To the Heights"

Verso l'alto

This year, Campus Ministry has centered the Prep community around a single rallying cry: "To the Heights." The theme takes its name from Verso l'alto, a phrase associated with St. Pier Giorgio Frassati, whose life of faith mirrored the discipline, joy, and hard work he brought to summing the Alps.

Frassati was a young Italian layman known for his devotion to the Eucharist, his generosity to the poor, and his adventurous spirit. His canonization as a saint fell during this school year, giving the Prep community a timely, living example to rally around as the theme took shape.

"To the Heights" calls students to strive for excellence in every part of life — intellectual, physical, relational, and above all, spiritual. Throughout the year, students were challenged to "search for that which is higher," seeking Christ more deeply in their academics, athletics, friendships, and faith.

Campus Ministry carried this message through retreats, sports and ASB messaging, banners and posters around campus, and daily prayer — keeping the theme present in the rhythm of everyday student life.

St. Pier Giorgio Frassati

"Let your light shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your Father in heaven." — Mt 5:16

Service

One of the most important aspects of the educational experience at Tri-Cities Prep is our focus on community service. By the time a student graduates, they will have completed at least 140 hours of service, culminating in a senior project focused on serving marginalized individuals in society. The Class of 2026 graduated having given over 7,000 hours of service to the Tri-Cities community over their four years of high school — from blood drives to food collections and everything in between.

Clubs & Activities

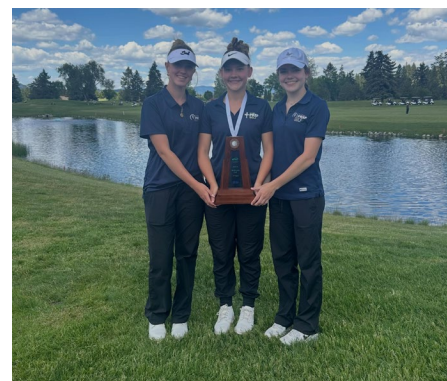

At Tri-Cities Prep, students have endless opportunities to explore their passions through a variety of clubs and activities. This year, Chess Club brought home 2nd place at the 2B Washington State Chess Championship in March, and Science Olympiad claimed 3rd place at the Regional Tournament. From Red Cross Club to Recycling Club and beyond, our students dive into learning, leadership, and service beyond the classroom — hallmarks of the Jaguar spirit!

Athletics

Tri-Cities Prep proudly offers eight competitive athletic programs, providing students with opportunities to grow and excel on and off the field. As a member of the WIAA 2B classification and the EWAC conference, Jaguar athletics had a standout year at the state level: football brought home the WIAA 2B State Title, baseball placed 2nd, girls golf placed 3rd, and boys basketball placed 6th — a season Prep will remember for years to come. Our programs continue to grow, and we're excited to welcome girls soccer to the Jaguar family starting in the fall of 2026.

Annual Auction

On March 28, 2026, Tri-Cities Prep hosted its annual auction, themed "Livin' on a Prayer" in full 80s hair band style. Over 280 guests came together — many in their best rocker wigs and denim — to celebrate and support our school, raising an impressive net total of just over $211,000. Proceeds benefit essential school operations and tuition assistance, helping ensure continued excellence in education for all who want to attend Prep. The evening was both a rocking good time and a joyful celebration of the Tri-Cities Prep community.

Tri-Cities Prep Boosters

Boosters provide support for extracurricular activities which bolster learning, develop character, and advocate leadership in our students — volunteering their time and always displaying good sportsmanship.

This year, the majority of Boosters' support went toward feeding teams on the road and covering student admission to playoff games, so Jag Fans could cheer on our athletes all the way to state. Boosters also helped fund Senior Banners and goody bags celebrating our senior athletes, and supported student faith life through XLT and All Schools Week. Beyond dollars, the Boosters community gave generously in kind — including over 53 rosaries made and prayed for students on retreat. Boosters have committed to providing driving range nets and a putting green for golf and a new sound system for softball, both still pending delivery, and hope to help fund facility improvements to the new home soccer/football field in the years ahead.

The Tri-Cities Prep Foundation was established with the primary goal of furthering Tri-Cities Prep High School's mission. Even though it operates independently, the Foundation is closely associated with the school and is exclusively dedicated to raising and overseeing an endowment fund, the income from which is distributed to Prep at the end of each fiscal year.

Benefactors 2025-26

"Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver." — 2 Cor 9:7

Like most Catholic schools, Tri-Cities Prep depends on tuition proceeds and the generosity of donors to cover the costs to educate our students. We offer a sliding scale tuition model, and no student is turned away based on their inability to pay full tuition. We also rely on donations for capital projects to maintain and expand our growing school. Thank you to our many benefactors in our community and beyond who help us fulfill our mission!

We, the community of Tri-Cities Prep, have great hopes for the young women and men who graduate from our school. St. Ignatius of Loyola challenged us to instill in students the desire to lead and to serve others for the greater glory of God. We humbly take up that challenge. Inspired by the four hundred year old Ignatian tradition, we strive to prepare young people to be men and women for others. The document that follows is our guide. It helps us clarify our purpose and direct our actions. For a more in-depth profile, see the “Grad At Grad” page at tcprep.org.

Open to Growth

Tri-Cities Prep students at the time of graduation have matured emotionally, intellectually, physically, socially, and religiously to a level that reflects an intentional responsibility for their own growth. In the tradition of Ignatian high schools, the graduate is at least beginning to stretch the mind, imagination, feelings, and religious consciousness.

Religious

By graduation the Tri-Cities Prep student will have a basic knowledge of the beliefs and practices of the Catholic Church and their development. The graduate will also have examined personal religious feelings and beliefs in order to establish a relationship with God and a religious tradition and/or community.

Committed to Justice

The Tri-Cities Prep student at graduation is preparing to take a place in the local and wider community as a competent, concerned and responsible member. The graduate has begun to acquire the skills and motivation to live as a person for others.

Intellectually Competent

By graduation the Tri-Cities Prep student will exhibit a mastery of the fundamentals of the academic requirements for higher education. While these requirements are broken down into departmental areas, the student will have developed many intellectual skills and understandings, which cut across and go beyond academic requirements for college entrance. The student, moreover, is beginning to see the need for intellectual integrity, particularly the need to integrate the spiritual values of the school with all aspects of life.

Loving

The graduate is also on the threshold of being able to move beyond self-interest and self-centeredness in relationships with God and other people. The student is beginning to risk deeper involvement in relationships by disclosing him/herself, accepting the mystery of another person, and cherishing that person.
