8th Grade Trip to Holocaust Museum

The 8th graders traveled by luxury coach buses and spent the day in Cincinnati, Ohio, visiting the Nancy & David Wolfe Holocaust & Humanity Center and the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center.

Students met second-generation Holocaust survivors who shared their connections to the Holocaust through personal stories. They also heard from Steve Copple, whose father was the first Holocaust Survivor in Cincinnati to speak publicly about his experiences.

The HHC specifically highlights the stories of Jewish refugees who were sponsored in the Cincinnati area and arrived at the train terminal where thousands of Holocaust survivors arrived by train from war-torn Europe to rebuild their lives. That very terminal is now the home to the museum. The artifacts and exhibits help tell the story of survival and resilience.

At the Freedom Center, students learned about the courage and cooperation it took to risk everything to help an enslaved woman to freedom.

Also at the center of the museum is an 1800 slave pen that was recovered from a farm in Kentucky owned by Capt. John W. Anderson. The pen was dismantled and reconstructed at the museum. This slave pen plays a role in telling the story of the internal slave trade in the United States.

This trip was made possible through a generous grant from the Ohio Holocaust & Genocide Memorial & Education Commission and perfectly complements the 8th-grade curriculum in ELA and Social Studies.
