Adventure Awaits: Our Year Unfolded

Adventure Awaits is more than just this year's theme; it's a reflection of the memories, milestones, and experiences that shaped the school year. Every class, club, sport, performance, and event became another stop along the journey, creating stories that will last long after graduation. The yearbook staff chose Adventure Awaits because high school is an adventure filled with unexpected challenges, exciting opportunities, and unforgettable moments. Whether students were taking their first steps as freshmen or preparing for their next chapter as seniors, each Ranger was on a unique path. As you flip through these pages, we hope you're reminded not only of where this year's journey took you, but also of the exciting adventures that still lie ahead.

A New Leader Navigating the Journey

Growing up in Mayfield Village, Ohio, Mr. Puskas always knew he wanted to work with students. After earning a biology degree from The Ohio State University, he began his career as a science teacher and coach at Chagrin Falls High School. His passion for helping students succeed led him into administration, first as an assistant principal at West Geauga High School and later as principal at Kirtland High School. This school year, his journey brought him to North High School, where he is excited to support students, staff, and the school community as the new principal.

Mr. Puskas

Dear North High School Students,

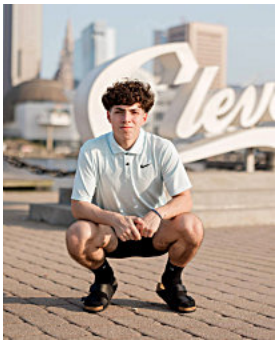

As you turn the pages of this yearbook, I hope you are reminded of all that you have accomplished throughout this school year. Whether it was in the classroom, on the athletic field, on the stage, or in the community, you all have something to be proud of. Please recognize that your achievements could not be possible without your persistence, even when challenges arose. Thank you for your commitment to excellence, and for representing North High school with pride.

With this being my first year at North, I was able to experience all the great traditions for the first time. From Giving Week, pep assemblies, Capstone Showcase Night, musical performances, PBIS events, the rare Ranger Recess, and North vs. South games, this year was one for the books. As you flip through this yearbook today, and for many years to come, I'm hopeful these pictures will bring back memories of all the special moments you shared with your fellow classmates.

Please know this simple fact: the school exists for you, the students. Every moment captured in this yearbook could not be possible without you all. Every single one of you has value, and has contributed positively to North High School in some way. My hope is that this past school year allowed you to explore your strengths and interests, so that the world can benefit from what you have to offer. I could not be prouder to be your Principal. Thank you for a fantastic year. You made the difference!

Sincerely,
Mr. Puskas

For her last high school journey, senior Eva Kendel joined the new community service for art class that she believes will serve as a road of reflection in the future. The art displayed around the school reminds her of the adventures from her senior year. Kendel mentions how "the class and the projects will give us something to look back on during our high school years." Following the lead of Mrs. Staunton and Ms. Kirschnick, Kendel mentioned how their creativity and patience have made a meaningful impact on her and her classmates. Their leadership and feedback give the students the opportunity to create the best work possible.

Armin Bundavica says “friends made the adventure much more meaningful by always being there.” Being part of a community shaped Bundavica by teaching the value of teamwork. A memory that best represents Bundavica´s journey with others was in a marketing class, where he learned how valuable teamwork is. Teamwork mattered most when multiple projects were due and had to work in groups. This shows that adventure isn’t just about the path ahead but also about the connections and growth that happen along the way.

The thing that made the year go by faster for Mary Lee was Choir because "It's at the end of the day, and I got to look forward it everyday.¨ Her favorite adventure from this year was the Murder Mystery and Secret Santa in Choir or going to LCMA. A challenge she overcame this year was being bored. Her friends made every day fun and a day full of laughter.

When asked what made this year's adventure more meaningful, Corey Boling claimed that it would be hanging out with his friends every weekend having fun. He also shared how being part of a group has shaped his year, saying that joining baseball helped shape the person he is today. Boling shared some thoughts about teamwork and support, mentioned that he ¨used teamwork every single practice because my teammates helped me get better.¨

An adventure Jane Dingeldein had to face was her solo and ensemble days. They both helped and pushed her to grow as a trumpet player. It showed her all of her strengths and weaknesses. It helped her create an idea on what to work on for her future adventures. Dingeldein stated, "A small moment that meant a lot to me was passing all of my midterms." This moment allowed her to see that she is capable of doing things she thought she could not do. Passing her midterms also allowed her to prove to herself that she knows what she is doing and helped her self-confidence tremendously.

Marley Meredith explained that "joining med tech made this year more fun and meaningful. I really enjoyed spending my time with the group and learning new things. Meeting new people, thanks to the program, helped me learn new stuff about the communities of other schools.The teacher that I had made learning fun and made me feel more willing to participate in the class because they showed that they cared about us. I think having present family and friends helped me when I went through difficult moments."

Evan Meyer and Maddy Ferrari, both had very exciting adventures throughout their junior year. Meyer states, “My most memorable and crazy adventure was when I went to Cedar Point over the summer.” He added on and said that Aiden Ernst and Johnny Murphy helped along that journey and made that Cedar Point trip so exciting and great to look back on. Ferrari said that her most memorable adventure was all of Homecoming week. She said, “it was all surrounded by good people, good vibes, and good times.” She added on and talked about how all of the people she surrounds herself with make this year’s journey more meaningful to her.

Jackson Sakal´s adventure this year will always be remembered by one word: football. From the start, the season shaped his memories and pushed him to keep going, even when things got tough. The most exciting and unexpected moment came when he was finally cleared after his injury, which was a turning point that made all the hard work worth it. Being back on the field meant more than just playing again; it meant proving he could overcome setbacks. One small moment that ended up meaning a lot was recording his first varsity sack. It was a highlight that showed how far he'd come and made the season unforgettable.

Mark Olson said one of the moments he will remember from this year is when he was playing baseball. Olson said," One of my favorite moments from this year even though it's small, was when I was playing catch with my dad." That's the whole reason why Olson wanted to play baseball. One thing he didn't know that this year North had a Military past, current, and future class, which he thought was very interesting for this year's academic adventure.

Raven Yerich (10) and Brooklynn Burnside

For Brooklynn Burnside, the best part of her high school life is finding out that she is more capable of doing more things than she thought. "My ride or die would definitely be Raven Yerich. Throughout my years here, Raven has stuck with me and has accepted me as a person."

Janessa Pretak participates in drama club as a backstage maker and also helps create props. When asked who made this year fun for her she said, "Sophia Lyon made my year fun because she´s so funny and amazing." Sophia is also a member of drama club and helps with making props.

David Barber said that sophomore year was much better than freshman year because he has more opportunities regarding sports, clubs, and the Tech programs that open every year for sophomores to apply. Barber applied for the construction and welding program. Barber currently doesn't do a sport;however, he has his eyes set on track.

Samantha Eastman believes that Mr. Wheaton has made this year's journey much more meaningful for everyone. By serving as a student aide, Eastman said "it´s helped me talk to new people." These fresh connections show that a great adventure is often found in the friends we make. Every person Eastman meets adds a new chapter to her story at school. This year proves that when you are ready to help others, a grand adventure awaits.

Dylan Albert said "the moment I'll remember was the thrill of beating South on JV, a victory that became a defining highlight of his journey. "The excitement continued off the field during Quarter 1, where spirit week brought a surge of energy and school pride to his daily routine. Nothing topped the incredible opportunity to play under the bright Friday night lights, experiencing the game at its most intense. These memories serve as a reminder that the greatest adventures are often found in the heat of competition and the bond of a team.

J'Lane Johnson said being a part of a group made her year truly meaningful. She explained, ¨Feeling loved, supported, and knowing that she had people there when she needed them changed everything. From everyday moments to cheering together at football games, these shared experiences represent my journey and the memories I'll always carry with me. This year wasn't just about the moments, rather it was about the people who made them matter. Being part of a group that made me feel loved and supported gave me confidence and unforgettable memories.¨

Aaliyah Raymo said that going out of town to Miami, Florida, with friends is one of her favorite memories from this year. She also shared that the most exciting moment was when school started. She said it was exciting because she got to see everyone that she missed. Getting flowers on her birthday was something small but meant a lot and will forever be unforgettable. She said it showed how truly loved and appreciated she was.

Zil Patel has had a very leisurely journey this year at North. Specifically, moments that she remembered as a part of her adventure were times she shared with her best friend. The school year felt the most exciting to her during the North vs. South week. Patel said it was because our school got to do so many memorable activities, and it enhanced the school spirit. A small moment that made her adventure special was when her design got chosen for the North vs. South t-shirt. She was so thrilled because she has a passion for drawing.

Benjamin Russ said "a moment I will remember as part of my adventure this school year was winning my first wrestling match of the season." It was more than just a win; it was the moment Russ realized how far hard work and determination could take him. That first win lit a spark that carried Russ through the rest of the season with confidence. It became a reminder that every great adventure starts with a single milestone. As Russ looked back at the year, that victory stood out as a turning point of his journey. With so much of his high school career still ahead, one thing is certain: adventure awaits.

As Hayden Vahcic navigated her second year of high school, she shared she was most excited to continue progressing socially as well as academically in the future. Vahcic explored the AP route this year. She explained how the classes allowed her to get ahead on college credit and required classes, helping her further down the road. A piece of advice she would give to someone starting out on their own adventure at North High would be to "get ahead of the game." Vahcic warns not to lose yourself in the process of working hard, and she sums up this year's journey as triumphant.

This year has prepared London Turney by helping her grow stronger, more confident, and better at handling challenges. She learned from her mistakes and became more independent, which will help her in whatever comes next. The advice Turney would give for someone beginning their journey is to ¨believe in yourself, stay patient, and never be afraid to try new things because every experience helps you learn and move forward.¨

As Raven Yerich reflected on this year, she shared that "This year has been an eye opener for me, as I'm definitely finding who I want to be when I'm older. It's motivating me to look into colleges" and think about her near future. Yerich is excited to go to Lakeland for her junior year and to take classes that will help her in pursuing her future career as a dietitian. She described her sophomore year in one word: "Reality because I'm now figuring out how my next two years are going to turn out, and also realizing that I won't stay young forever."

Where The Journey Begins

Tibirius Bourgette

James Kelly Jr. and Bradley Chesney

Every great adventure starts with a first step, and for the freshmen, this year marked the beginning of an exciting new journey. Walking through unfamiliar hallways, meeting new friends, and taking on new challenges, they embarked on a path filled with opportunities for growth and discovery.
Like explorers setting out with a map full of possibilities, the Class of 2029 began charting their course through high school. Along the way, they learned, laughed, and created memories that will become the foundation of their story. While the destination may still be far ahead, their adventure is already underway, and this first chapter is one they will never forget.

Throughout the school year Mr. Harbison has played a big role in Adam Brzeski´s journey. Whether it was from helping him with notes or just talking to him, Mr. Harbison helped him through any challenge. Brzeski said " Mr. Harbison has helped me so much this year, and I can't wait for what's to come after this"Brzeski´s dedication to his music reminded everyone to believe in themselves and show them what they can truly do. Because of mentors like Mr. Harbison, students felt ready to take on the challenges in the music world.

For her first adventure at North, Olivia Crum said it has prepared her for many more in the future. She feels as if she got smarter from the challenges she's had to face. Crum claimed she learned better from different things, and they helped her understand the material more. When asked what she's most excited to explore next year, she said she´s looking forward to next years classes, including AP U.S. History. To describe her first journey in one word, Crum answered with "fun" because everyone is very nice in the North. Lastly, some advice she would give to someone who is first starting their adventure at North would be to try your hardest and do your work.

Rachael Seghetti says "the best chapter of her adventure this year was the adrenaline-filled basketball season." When she isn't on the court, she is out exploring the vibrant energy of after-school football games with her closest friends. She has made many new friends this year and plans on making more as she continues her journey throughout high school. These small, shared moments are the true milestones that made her year feel like a grand expedition.

From chaotic hallways to a clearer circle, this year has pushed Biagio Badalamenti to grow, adapt, and realize that his circle matters more than the crowd. Badalamenti´s advice to incoming freshmen is to “Start the year strong and don't look back on the past.” He wants to give the incoming freshmen the best advice to help them prepare for their upcoming journey to the high school.

Christopher Kenneally Jr. said that the grade level meetings made him feel prepared for the next year of high school. He is looking forward to take AP classes next year. If he could describe this year in one word, it would be unexpected because he followed so many paths that he never thought about before. His advice for the upcoming freshmen is to ¨try your best.¨

This year, Ava Brugh has been prepared for what high school has shown her. She has had to adjust to how different her teachers are and how her classes are more advanced now that she is in high school courses. She explained how she is excited to continue to learn more and even take more rigorous college courses because she wants to set herself up for a brighter future. “I would tell everyone to take their freshman year seriously, I’ve heard from a lot of upperclassmen that freshman year really is an important year for everything like your GPA and I believe them,” Brugh states after being asked what advice she would give to someone starting their adventure here at North High School. Finally, if Brugh was able to describe her freshman year in one word she would use the word hectic. She chose this word because there were a lot of things that did not go her way but there were also a lot that did. She stated, “Everything that happened, there was a lot going on. It was like one thing after another; however, it made me believe in myself so much more. I feel like I have grown a lot as a person, and I am grateful that those things didn’t go my way because everything happens for a reason.”

NORTH HIGH SCHOOL

This year prepared Lucy Sanderson for what lies ahead by teaching her how to balance school and understand what her future years at North will look like. She is excited to challenge herself next year with harder classes, especially AP courses. If she had to describe this year in one word, it would be interesting because it was full of ups and downs, but overall it was new and fun. Sanderson´s advice to anyone just starting their own adventure is to ¨be prepared to feel scared at first, but to remember that everything will be okay.¨

Madame Fill didn't always have her heart set on teaching. When asked if she always knew she wanted to work in education, she admitted her plans shifted, as she originally went to Ohio University to double major in French and Political Science before staying a fifth year to get certified to teach. Her path was shaped by mentors, specifically her own French and social studies teachers. A challenge she faced was how tricky it was to get K-12 certified in French, even having to help start an after-school program for little kids just to get her field hours in. After 33 years in the W-E School District, including early years split between the middle schools where she even taught some Spanish, she eventually moved to North in 2000 to have deeper discussions with older students.

Mrs. Reik grew up in Wickliffe and attended a small high school, where she cherished the close knit community. A particular teacher inspired her to pursue a career as a secretary. Through a school program, she secured a job at Lubrizol, where she worked for 14 years. After starting a family, Mrs. Reik sought to work at North High School, which ultimately led her to a career in education. She is very proud of her current position as the principal´s secretary at North High School.

Miss Danch's journey began in Lyndhurst, Ohio. Her social studies, English, and art classes lured her down the path of education, specifically, Mr. Looman, who displayed love for his job, care for his students, and passion for the content. An obstacle she had to overcome was having to learn the subject matter while also learning how to become a good teacher. Danch explored new options by reaching out to an old friend who told her of an opening for a social studies teacher at North. Danch said she quickly realized this move was the right decision and continues to stay at North because of the "very special and unique community."

The Journey That Led to North

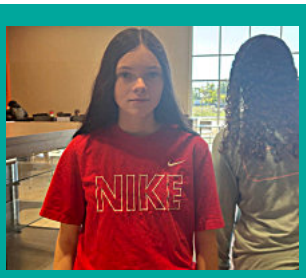

Mrs. Logan attended the Willoughby-Eastlake City Schools and always valued the time that she spent here, specifically in the music program. She saw the chance to come back to the district and have the opportunity to hopefully create a similar space for students, like the one that meant so much to her. Her family is also still in the area, and she enjoys being close to them. Her first teaching experience started when she was in college, where she started working summer band camps at the college and at high schools in the area as a flute sectional teacher. Her first full time teaching job was at a small private school in Ashtabula, where she taught every grade level in the building, which was Pre-K to 12.

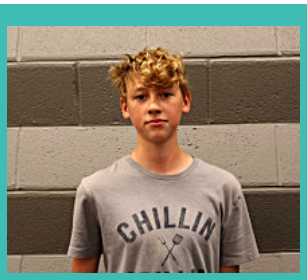

Ms. Lu started working as a school nurse in 2024. She chose North because the staff was welcoming, and she could tell they all value the role of the school nurse and how they can collaborate to support students thriving at school. If she could be a school nurse anywhere in the world, it would be Eastern Europe. She lived there for a year after college and think it would be great to spend more time there. If she could describe my nursing experience in one word, it would be advocacy.

Since high school, Ms. Ploplis knew she wanted to work in education. For her senior internship project, she shadowed her 8th grade teacher and this experience solidified her desire to work in the field. By her senior year of college, she decided to pursue a Master's degree in school psychology. She chose North after completing an internship with the Willoughby-Eastlake City School District last school year, which included a rotation at North. She loved the sense of community in the building as both the staff and students truly enjoy being at North, and she was eager to be part of that. If she could describe her teaching experience in one word, it would be rewarding.

A New Route to Success

This year, a new Tecc Program, called WEBuild, was offered at North High School and taught by Mr. Kemeliotis. This program helps students discover the many paths their futures can take. Through hands-on experiences in a variety of skilled trades, students explored new interests, learned valuable techniques, and gained real-world experience. From construction and electrical work to other essential trades, students built a strong foundation while preparing for industry certification exams that can open doors to future careers. For some, the journey extended beyond the classroom through internship opportunities that allowed them to work alongside professionals and experience the trades firsthand. Nicholas Pfeiler (12) and Michael Lowrie (12) are two of the many students who had internships this spring. With tools in their hands and endless possibilities ahead, WE Build students proved that the road to success can begin long before graduation.

¨If I could give next year's yearbook team advice, I'd say be ready to work, take a lot of pictures, and still have fun while doing it. This year definitely got stressful at times, especially with everything changing during the year and trying to get things done on time while I was on maternity leave, but we just had to push through and stay on top of it. Not everything went as planned either, like trying to cover events and get enough pictures, but we made it work. At the end of the day, I just hope when people look back at the yearbook years from now, it brings back good memories and shows all the time and effort we put in to capture everyone´s adventure in the best way possible.¨

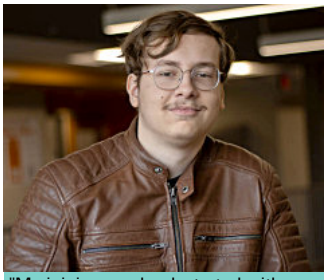

In the yearbook class, every holiday and birthday was a reason to celebrate. For each holiday, students brought in treats and snacks to share. When it came to birthdays, each student took a turn bringing in a treat for another's birthday, making sure everyone felt special and appreciated throughout the year.

"I joined yearbook because I wanted to gain a better understanding about how cameras and interviews work. I also thought it would be very fun and interesting to join this class and be apart of something bigger."
-Alissa Kolenc (12)

"My adventure in yearbook began at a North vs. South wrestling game at South during my sophomore year where I was allowed to take photos that were then used it that yearbook. Since then my passion for yearbook adventures has grown."
-Andrew Galletti (12)

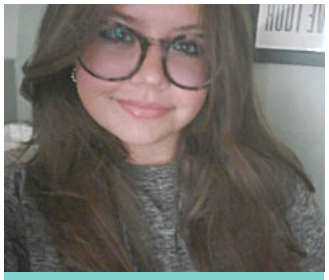

"Me joining yearbook started with my need with extra credit points but spiraled to it being a class that I would go to and be excited for, especially because of my growing passion for photography. After the first year in being in it, I knew I had to re-register for the class again for the years to follow, and I am glad I did so."
-Ethan Janos (12)

"I had always had an interest in yearbook, but with my busy schedule, I was worried I wouldn't be able to commit to yearbook fully. By the time my senior year came around, I was completely at Lakeland and wanted to have a connection to North for my senior year. I enjoy being creative and taking pictures, so yearbook seemed like the perfect option to bridge that gap and harness my interests."
-Holly Mosnik (12)

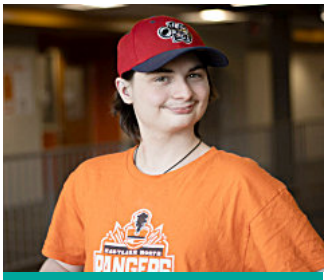

"Well first off I wanted to join because I thought it would be fun, and I knew that Mrs Fryman was a fun and sweet teacher. But I also wanted to join because I wanted to be able to look back at this year´s yearbook when I'm graduated and be able to say that I was apart of making it."
- Izabel Katavic (12)

"I joined yearbook because I wanted a fun class where I could spend time with my friends and make lasting memories during my final year of high school. It felt like the perfect way to capture all the special moments and end my high school adventure on a positive, creative note."
-Kaitlyn Ellis (12)

"My adventure in yearbook started my freshman year with my sister. I knew it would be a great adventure when I got to pass out yearbooks with Mrs Fryman and her newborn her son."
-McKenzye Kissinger (12)

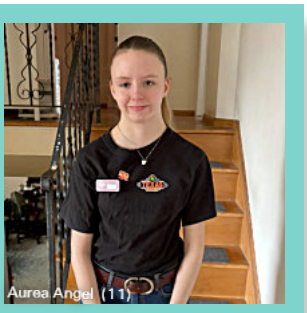

"I joined yearbook because in general I just love photography, and I love working behind the scenes to make something that will be seen for generations to come. Being able to create and shape something so big is just amazing to me."
-Vincenzo DeCapite (12)

Life at North doesn't end when the final bell rings. Once the school day is over, students head off in countless directions, such as working after-school jobs, competing in club and travel sports, taking dance or music lessons, volunteering, spending time with friends, or simply enjoying their favorite hobbies. Whether they're earning their first paycheck, perfecting a skill, or making memories with the people who matter most, these experiences help shape who they are beyond the classroom. Student life is about finding balance, exploring new interests, and making the most of every adventure both in and out of school.

Skipping Ahead

Evan Cumberledge (12) decided to skip his junior year because he wanted to start his plan sooner of going to college and getting a job. Staying an extra year would have delayed his future goals. He feels like he didn't miss out on anything because "sophomore and junior year are kind of the same but senior year is totally different.¨ Advice Cumberledge would give to someone thinking about skipping a grade is to "go for it because it feels more rewarding that you're graduating a year sooner and you also get to meet new people in the class you are graduating with."

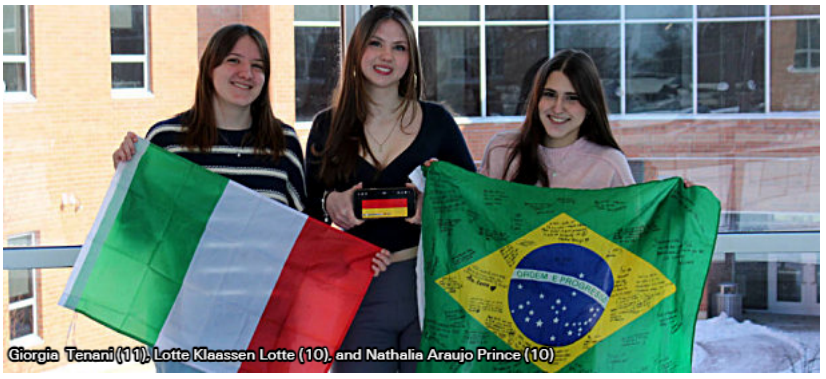

McKenzye Kissinger (12) skipped her Junior year because "I had all the credits to, and if I stayed my senior year would have been really boring." She felt like she didn't miss out on anything by skipping a grade because "a majority of my friends were in the grade above me, so I got to join them and I had already taken all the extra classes I wanted to do." The advice Kissinger would give to someone who is thinking about skipping a grade is "Just go for it. It's worth it and you'll be able to start your future sooner."

Across the Globe

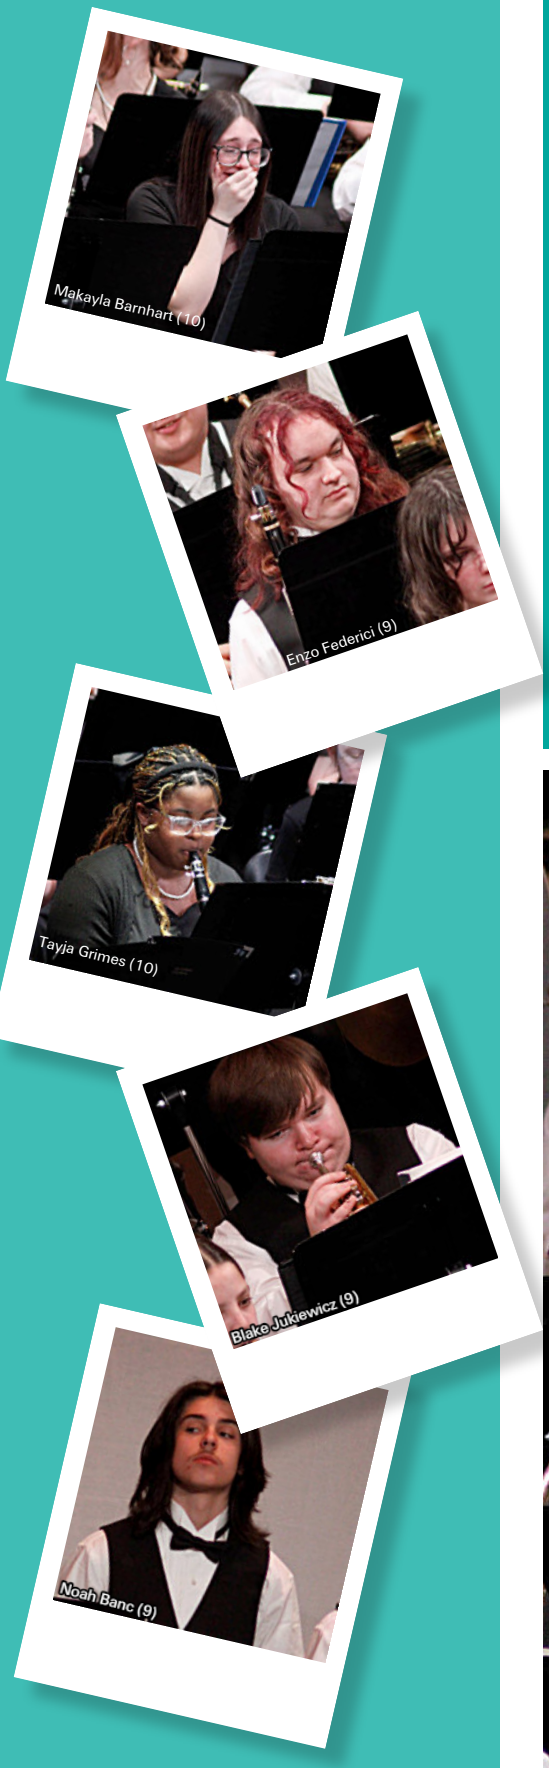

The robotics team begins each season by designing a plan for what they want their robot to accomplish before building from a starter robot. Experienced members take the lead on coding, while the rest of the team collaborates on construction, testing, and problem-solving. As the season progresses, the team creates new challenges for the robot to complete, making adjustments and improvements after each test until they achieve the best possible results.

This year, North High School welcomed three foreign exchange students who brought new perspectives, traditions, and experiences to the Ranger community. Traveling from Italy, Germany, and Brazil, they embraced life in a new country while sharing pieces of their own cultures with classmates and teachers. From experiencing American school traditions to building lasting friendships, their time at North proved that some of life's greatest adventures begin by stepping outside your comfort zone. Though they came from different corners of the world, they quickly found a place to belong and left a lasting impact on the school community.

Stronger Together

If the varsity Rangers football team could describe their season in one word, it would be hopeful. The season ended with a memorable victory against a team many did not expect them to defeat, proving that determination, resilience, and teamwork can turn belief into reality.

What made this team special was not just what they accomplished on the field, but the culture they built off of it. According to Coach Dodd, “Every team is unique and special in its own way,” and this year's team stood out because of their selflessness and accountability. Every player competed not only for themselves but for their teammates, creating a strong bond built on trust and commitment.

One of the season’s most memorable moments came during the final game when the Rangers faced adversity. Rather than giving up, they continued to fight until the final seconds ticked off the clock, showing the perseverance that defined their team.

As the team looks toward the future, there is plenty of reason for excitement. With many sophomores and juniors gaining valuable experience, a new offense developing, and a strong defensive mindset already in place, the foundation for future success has been built. The coaches learned that this group raised the standard and demonstrated that true success comes when every player commits to the team’s values.

This season was never just about wins and losses; rather, it was about growth, brotherhood, and believing in something bigger than themselves. It was the beginning of a journey that has the potential to become something truly special.

Our Final Destination

Brayden Sandstrom (12)

"Passionate, fast and never looking back." For this four year senior, football isn't a game; it´s a way of life. From the nerves of running onto the field to the pride of proving the odds wrong against Mayfield. On his own senior night, Sandstrom learned what it means to stay humble and work hard. Sandstrom's advice to this next generation is to live in the weight room and never stop grinding.

Ethan-John Cauton (12)

Cauton went from being an undersized kid to becoming a tenacious force on the football field. The game taught him persistence, strength, and the importance of pushing forward no matter the challenge. One of his favorite memories was snagging that interception against Harvey. It perfectly captures his belief that hard work and determination always pays off.

Brady Gezann (12)

"Plays low, fast, and violent." That´s his style and it´s what made every Friday night unforgettable. What he'll miss the most is playing along side his teammates, which by the end felt like his brothers with them making and sharing moments that turn into lifelong memories. The moment he won´t forget is ending a chapter of his life with a win. Football has shaped him to be stronger and to drive through every part of life. His advice is: "Time flies, make every moment of it all because before you know it it won´t be here."

The Journey Begins

Matthew Nadock (9) has many goals for his upcoming year, but his main goal is to be starting quarter back for either JV or Varsity.

Elijah Wilson (9) said his biggest inspiration is coach Bowers because "his motivation for the team makes the team do better as one whole."

Creating Our Own Path

Kai Freeman (9) scored a touchdown right after halftime and made the game a close call. Freeman says "Scoring this point shifted the momentum of the game and got people to get their heads back into the game." One of Freeman's goals for the upcoming seasons was to make starting line up for varsity. Another he has is to get more wins under North´s belt.

Cortezes Diming (10) plays both offense and defense. Diming says he loves playing football with his brother. Starting his first year at North was difficult for him for a bit, but he pushed through it and is doing well now.

Learning the Ropes

Freshman outside hitter Jasmine Soto said the biggest difference between middle school and high school volleyball is the level of dedication and commitment players have to the sport. As she adjusted to high school, one of her favorite memories was attending homecoming, where she felt more independent than ever. Soto also learned an important lesson during her freshman year: "It's okay to not have a big group of friends. Quality over quantity, and that is all that matters."

Katarina Grmaca (9)

Making Every Moment Count

Freshman setter Anabella Vujica said her favorite part of the season has been creating memories with her teammates, especially the seniors who she knows she will miss next year. "My favorite memory of this year so far is just making memories with all the seniors because I know next year they're not going to be here, and all my teammates in general," Vujica said. Beyond volleyball, the transition to high school has taught Vujica the importance of responsibility. She explained that her teachers have higher expectations and do not accept incomplete effort, helping her become more organized and improve her time management skills.

Finding a Balance

When junior setter and right-side hitter Emily Svendsen was asked about a hardship she faced this season, she explained that balancing school, volleyball, and finding time for herself was one of her biggest challenges. She overcame it by staying calm, living in the moment, and learning to trust herself. “I’ve learned how to be confident in myself. It has helped a lot with my grades and made me a better person in general,” Svendsen said.

Overcoming Obstacles

Junior defensive specialist Abby Naro said her favorite part of the season was strengthening her relationships with her teammates and getting to know everyone better.Although her season was cut short due to a concussion that kept her off the court for several weeks, Naro found strength through the challenges she faced. The experience taught her a valuable lesson about confidence and self-worth. “This year, specifically, I’ve learned that no matter what happens, I cannot listen to what people have to say about me. People are going to dislike you no matter what, and that is on them. The only thing you can do is treat others how you want to be treated and let their karma come to them,” Naro said.

Exploring New Horizons

When asked what she will miss most about volleyball, senior Alissa Kolenc said she will miss the routine of the season and, most importantly, the friendships she built with her teammates. Although she does not plan to continue playing volleyball after graduation, the memories she made on the court will stay with her. One of her favorite memories was the sophomore-year team campout at the coach's house, where she and her teammates spent the night in a tent with the seniors. The team bonding, connections, and moments spent getting to know each other are memories she will always cherish. When giving advice to younger players, Kolenc said, "Never go 50%; always give 100%. If one person can't see your effort, someone else will."

Students showed up game after game, bringing the energy, school spirit, and encouragement that helped push the team through every set. From cheers after every point to standing behind the team through every challenge, the student section proved that volleyball was more than just a game; it was a community.

When asked what her favorite part about being on the team was, Morgan Petrecca (12) responded with, ¨team bonding, building connections on and off the court, and getting to know the girls in their own special ways.¨

"As a team, we have been working very hard to finish our season strong, and I am very proud of the progress we have made."

With 16 seconds left on the clock, junior Madelyn Flick propelled the Rangers to a 4-3 victory over Geneva in a non-conference showdown. “My mind and heart were racing the last two minutes. I kept telling myself ‘I will score,’ and I was very lucky to get the last-second opportunity,” said Flick. She credited her aggressive approach for helping her break Geneva’s defense.

The Journey Through the Storms

This season, the girls' tennis team faced more than a few rain delays, but that didn't stop them from giving it their all. Every match and practice brought the players closer together, building not only skill but also friendship and resilience. Through every setback, they stayed positive, supported one another, and made the most of every opportunity to play. In the end, it wasn't just about the scores; rather, it was about the memories, teamwork, and growth that made the season truly special.

The Riverside meet took place on Saturday, August 23, 2025, which started off the Cross Country year with every team attending, giving the race a sight to be seen with every school at the starting line. Also, compared to other meets, this once took place later in the day.

The Medina Cross meet took place during Saturday, October 4, 2025. This race was the last of the normal meets that happened this season. Just like other cross country meets, everyone part of the team pushed themselves more than ever when running.

Unexpected Adventure

Matthew Dupnock (12) is a senior who has been running Cross Country for the past 3 years of school. This year, during his run at Medina, his shoe fell off at the start. When most would stop, put their shoe back on and waste time doing so, he instead just picked it up and ran with it in his hand until the finish line. When questioned what was going through his head during the run, he said that he was annoyed and frustrated but, though those were going through his head, he also had a sense of pride within him as well due to passing ahead of others even with his disadvantage.

Packing the Energy

Each sports season, the entire student body gathers in the gym for a special assembly dedicated to that season's sports. During these events, the school honors the senior athletes from each sport for their dedication and achievements. The assemblies also include fun, student-led games and activities, along with cheers and dances from the cheerleaders and music from the band and choir.

Driven to Succeed

This year's tennis team consisted of only four girls. Mrs. Tomb described this as challenging, but stated that each athlete showed incredible effort and determination throughout the season. Mrs. Tomb, the tennis coach, began coaching golf in the early 2010s and has since led several teams with dedication and passion. The two seniors, Reghan Boulos and Alliyah Malik, have been playing since early in their high school careers, bringing experience and leadership to the team helping to educate the freshmen.

When asked about the most memorable part of her golf season, KaiLonnie Arrington (10) said it was seeing how much she improved and persevered throughout the year. She credited Coach Tomb for being one of her biggest supporters as ¨she was always super sweet, encouraging, and very patient with me as a second-year player.” Although Arrington plans to step away from golf to focus on color guard, she knows the sport will always be meaningful to her.

The Loudest Stop

Spirit Week brought the entire school together through friendly competition, creative themes, and a shared sense of Ranger pride. Students dressed up for days like Pajama Day, Duo Day, Sorority and Fraternity Day, and Crazy Orange and Black Day, while teachers joined the fun by decorating their classroom doors and selling grilled cheese, lemonade, and other treats to raise money for United Way. The excitement continued throughout the week with crowd-favorite events like the annual dodgeball game and the chance to pie a teacher, giving students a fun way to support a great cause. From laughter in the hallways to packed stands at school events, Spirit Week reminded everyone that the best adventures are the ones shared together.

For sophomore Juliana Barragan, the best part of Homecoming was spending the night dancing, taking pictures, and making memories with friends. She also noticed that this year's decorations were even better than those at her freshman dance. Sophomore Nevaeh Rodriguez agreed, saying, “My favorite thing was dancing and hanging out with my friends, and I loved the decorations you saw when you walked in.” Students arrived on a red carpet lined with glowing LED candles, setting the stage for an unforgettable evening. Tables decorated with cookies, water, and themed centerpieces welcomed guests before they entered the gym, where another red carpet and elegant hanging chandeliers transformed the space into a night to remember.

Addison McCarthy (12) says she enjoys making the signs for the football games because she has always been big in school spirit. McCarthy claims she's not technically an official student section leader, but she still shows dedication towards the games and decorates the signs everyone sees in front of the Rangers in the stands.

When asked why he wanted to become a student section leader, Gavin Segeleon (12) said "I think it's fun and just do it for my senior year; it's another extra thing to do to make it more memorable." Segeleon's favorite theme was Hawaiian, and his favorite chant is "Here we Go Rangers" because it gets everyone in the spirit.

Eva Kendel (12) said the reason why she's a leader in the student section is because her and her friends got chosen to do it. Kendel's favorite theme was Frat vs. Sorority because she claimed it's really fun to do and she got to make a bunch of sorority signs and brought cup pong to play. Also, everyone participated in the theme, which always makes it more entertaining.

Madelyn Ferrari said "one thing I do before a game is take 10-20 minutes to journal all my thoughts and emotions." One of her favorite things about the team is the traditions they do like praying on the court.

The Journey to the Hoop

Kinsley Piasecki said "In the beginning it was rough, but throughout the season, they were able to make it work." She would tell incoming freshmen to treat any court you´re on like it´s your home court or else you'll run!

Madison Wyrick says "It was a big accomplishment to have a full JV team with freshmen." Her go to thing to do before a game is to talk to her teammates and decompress.

For the Lady Rangers, a smaller roster didn't mean less power, instead it meant more connection. With fewer players in the rotation, every athlete had to be fully "on" at all times. This forced an immediate jump in on-court communication, as the team had to rely on constant verbal cues to navigate defenses and transition plays. They didn't just play together; they learned to speak a shared language of basketball. It is incredibly rare for a JV team to be comprised entirely of freshmen. This unique dynamic created a "sink or swim" environment that these athletes embraced.

The Climb Continues

The freshman and junior varsity basketball teams spent the season building skills, gaining confidence, and growing together with every practice and game. Coached by Tyler Swearingen and Dylan McDonald, the JV team continued to develop teamwork and prepare players for the varsity level. Under the guidance of Brandon Dailey, the freshman team built a strong foundation while learning what it takes to compete at the high school level. Through hard work and dedication, both teams took important steps toward the future of Ranger basketball.

Spirit that Leads the Way

This year's varsity basketball cheer squad passionately cheered the boys through the ups and downs of their season, never wavering in support. To end the team's long journey, the underclassmen made the seniors baskets to celebrate and say goodbye as they head into the next adventure of their lives. Senior Kimora Hillman said something she will never forget from this particular journey would be "how fun and amazing my team was."

The Coolest Stop Yet

In addition to the monthly Ranger Shop and Ranger of the Month, at the end of each quarter PBIS raffled off various baskets and other big ticket items that students could use with their Ranger Bucks for being respectful, responsible, and ready to learn. At the end of quarter 1, Raven Yerich (10) won a custom pair of Ranger inspired Nike Jordans. To keep the adventure interesting, Mr. Puskas challenged students to a basketball shooting game at PBIS festivities and pep rallies throughout the year. If the students won, Mr. Puskas would bring back Ranger recess for the week, but if he won, things would stay the same with Ranger recess not occurring during lunch periods. Each time this occurred, the staff watched in anticipation of what next week´s expedition would bring.

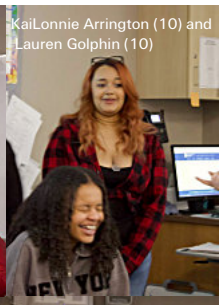

Every year around Valentine´s Day, the Northern Lights sells Sing-o-grams to raise money. This event is popular between couples and friends, and even the staff members are invited to participate among each other to receive a song and candy. Each member of Northern Lights has their song, and they take turns singing to the lucky student that has been selected to receive their song in front of their crew.

Some of the participating businesses included restaurants like Severino´s, Petie´s, Dino´s, Manhattan Deli, and Chagrin River Diner to name a few. This is the first time Empty Bowls has occurred since the pandemic. Over 200 tickets were sold, and the event raised over $4,000 for the W-E Care Food Pantry, proving that this stop was worth the journey.

From First Dive to Final Lap

At Eastlake North High School, every season is an adventure. This year, our swim team proved that the greatest journeys don't always happen on land; sometimes, they begin with a dive. Our swimmers embraced every early morning practice, every challenging set, and every race as uncharted waters waiting to be conquered. From the first splash of the season to the final relay, the Rangers showed that adventure isn't just about where you go; rather, it's about how far you're willing to push yourself to get there. Together, they proved that adventure lives in teamwork, resilience, and the pursuit of excellence.

Kaylynn Pawlowski (9) said that the swim team has shaped her into a better, happier person and made her freshman year more fun. The Journey to the Spotlight

This year, North's drama club embarked on a powerful journey with Radium Girls, a story that follows young women stepping into the unknown. What begins as opportunity and promise slowly turns into a fight for truth, forcing the characters to navigate a world filled with danger, doubt, and injustice. Their journey is not one of travel, but of courage that moves from silence to strength as they demand to be heard.

Behind the scenes, their own journey mirrored the story they told on stage. Rehearsals became long roads filled with challenges, growth, and discovery. Cast and crew worked together to bring each scene to life, learning to trust one another and push through obstacles. Every cue, line, and transition marked another step forward in creating something meaningful.

Radium Girls is a reminder that some of the most important adventures are not easy ones. This production took students on a journey through history, empathy, and resilience, showing us that standing up for what is right is its own kind of bravery. As the curtain closed, they didn't just finish a show, but rather a drama completed a journey they will always remember.

After years of competing, senior Thomas Holtman reflected on the impact track and field has had on his life. Beyond the races and practices, the sport helped shape his character and taught him lessons that will stay with him long after graduation. Track changed me by teaching me that consistent effort leads to results. Showing up every day, even on the toughest days, and giving my full effort helped me grow both as an athlete and as a person. It taught me the importance of discipline, hard work, and dedication in order to compete at my best," Holtman said.

The Journey Starts On the Diamond

First Steps, First Stories

Jack Sebring (9) described this season as a mix of average and fun, with its fair share of highs and lows as he played both shortstop and pitcher. He loves pitching because he feels the game runs through him, and he's grown more confident in taking responsibility on the mound. He explained that Kai Freeman brings the energy, always keeping things light with his humor and dancing. When it comes to pregame, Jack keeps it simple; he just doesn't sleep, which has become more of a running joke than a superstition. Since the beginning of the season, his biggest growth has been mental, building a strong mindset and learning how to stay focused even in the hard times.

Jordan Brindley's (9) journey into baseball began because of his brother, who turned a simple influence into a true passion for the game. As a second baseman, he enjoys being in the infield because he´s always in the middle of the action and ready to make a play. This season hasn't been easy with the team's chemistry feeling a bit off as they push through challenges together. Still, the energy never fully faded. Brindley Kai Freeman keeps things alive, bringing constant noise and hype that lifts the team when they need it most.

Homeward Bound

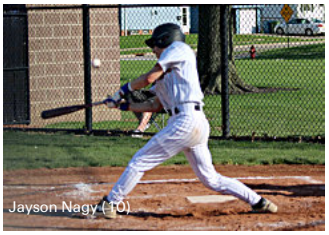

Voices From the Journey

Julius Veres (11) said the heart of the team's energy comes from Bradyn Silbaugh because he´s smart, loud, and impossible to ignore. First base is where his heart is, but he also plays third and fills in wherever he's needed. Baseball has been a part of him since he was young, and it came naturally, almost like he was born to play. Thanks to his dad, he's reached where he is today. When it comes to team chemistry, Veres describes it as "humorous." They keep things light and never too serious, and that's what defines this JV team.

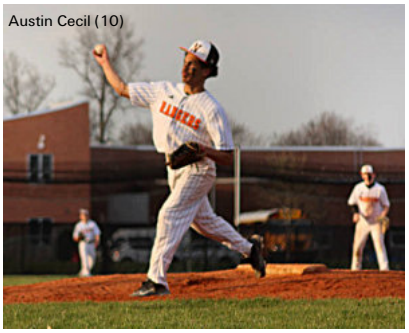

Jadien Parks´ (11) baseball journey started at a young age, and he's stuck with it ever since. If he had to describe the team's chemistry in one phrase, he'd say it's "all over the place." Some days they're locked in, and other days they're not. Their communication hasn't always been there either. Playing center field and catcher lets him see the whole field and stay involved in every play. When it comes to energy, it's a mix; he brings his own, but Julius Veres keeps things loud and lively. If the season had a soundtrack, he'd pick "Congratulations" by Post Malone because it´s a perfect fit for a year marked by pushing past struggles at the plate and finally finding his rhythm.

Swinging for Greatness

Brady Gezann (12) encourages incoming freshmen to "not take the seasons for granted." For Gezann,, the highlight of his high school career was the annual Myrtle Beach trip with his teammates, which was the very group that motivated him to play all four years. While he is excited for the chapters ahead, he will deeply miss the bond he shared with his team at North.

Nicholas Kovach (12)

Nick Kovach said the most memorable moment of his baseball career was pitching junior year. Since freshman year, Kovach believes he has grown into a better teammate by always cheering on others and learning important life skills through baseball. His advice to younger players hoping to make varsity is to keep a good attitude because coaches notice players who say positive and supportive. Kovach also said his favorite memory from this season was the teams walk off win against Chardon the night before.

More Than A Game

Billy Murphy's favorite moment was hitting his first varsity home run against Chardon, with the excitement from his teammates making it especially memorable. He approached games with a simple mindset just having fun, rather than following a strict routine. A standout experience for him was his first start on the mound against Mentor, where he helped secure the team's first win over them since 2016. He considered playing Brush as his toughest challenge, and credits his team´s chemistry and how they played together since they were young as to why the team outshines others.

This year's Varsity softball team began their season by hitting the road and heading down south to Myrtle Beach. Throughout the course of spring break, the girls played four scrimmages and two games bringing home a 2-0 start to their season. Sophomore Hayden Vahcic shared "Starting the season on a winning streak gave me a lot of confidence and momentum coming back home. The Route to Adventure

Jasmin Buchanan (11), said her game plan is "Run as fast as you can once you get the ball." Whether she's executing her favorite play, F1 Plus, or sprinting for the end zone, her speed is undeniable. Buchanan proved that against Riverside, dominating the field with 200 rushing yards and two scores to lead the team to a win. She always gets herself a well deserved ice cream treat, regardless of the scoreboard.

Making our Mark

Jazel Llamas said "My favorite memory from flag football was the final game of the season; it was the moment we truly saw how much we had grown as a team." To any underclassmen thinking about playing: just go for it! It's an incredible experience where you'll build lasting friendships and have a great time on the field.

Adventures on the Tennis Court

Alexander Paoloni (9)

Coach JC highlighted that ¨this season's tennis team showed incredible growth, determination, and dedication. Their drive to improve every day played a huge role in the success they had this year. One match that really showed their hard work was against Riverside, where they stayed focused and locked in. The most improved player was Colin Sykes (10), who was one win away from districts. Overall, the team put in great work, and if they continue to put in the effort, they can be even stronger next year.¨

Shawn Allen (10)

Colin Sykes (10)

When asked about his most challenging journey, Nathan Milam (10) said,, "Our sectional court, which was in Solon and we were surrounded by really good people. Regardless, we conquered it by just having fun during the match."

Every other year before prom, North High School partners with the Eastlake, Willoughby, and Willowick first responders to present a powerful demonstration highlighting the dangers of impaired and distracted driving. Designed to feel as realistic as possible, the event features lifelike special-effects makeup, real emergency vehicles, flashing lights, and sirens to show students the devastating consequences of unsafe decisions behind the wheel. This year's demonstration introduced a new element, which was a Life Flight helicopter landing on school grounds, illustrating to students a firsthand look at how emergency medical teams respond to the most serious accidents, making the experience even more realistic and impactful.The demonstration serves as a memorable reminder to make responsible choices and help ensure everyone arrives home safely.

Spring Into Action

As winter turned to spring, Ranger athletes traded gyms for fields, tracks, courts, and diamonds, ready to take on a new season of competition. From early morning practices to game-day excitement, each team worked to build chemistry, improve their skills, and represent North with pride. These team photos capture the athletes, coaches, and friendships that made the spring season one to remember, preserving the moments before the action began.

#EJStrong

During one of senior EJ Cauton's final track meets, he suffered a severe brain injury that changed the season in an instant. In the weeks that followed, the Eastlake community and local organizations rallied around EJ and his family, organizing fundraisers, providing meals, and raising awareness to support his recovery. Custom apparel was created to help generate financial support, while also showing the community's encouragement and solidarity. Through an incredibly difficult time, the overwhelming support from friends, teammates, neighbors, and local businesses demonstrated the strength of a community coming together for one of its own.

Something Rotten!

This year's musical, Something Rotten!, transported audiences to the Renaissance with a hilarious story full of comedy, music, and unforgettable characters. Set in the 1590s, the production follows brothers Nick and Nigel Bottom as they struggle to compete with the wildly popular William Shakespeare. Desperate for a hit, Nick seeks the help of a fortune teller, who predicts that the next big thing in theater will be a "musical," which leads to a series of hilarious misunderstandings, over-the-top performances, and catchy songs. From elaborate costumes and energetic choreography to impressive vocals and comedic timing, the cast, crew, and directors worked together to bring this award-winning musical to North High School. Through months of rehearsals and behind-the-scenes dedication, Something Rotten! became a memorable production that showcased the creativity, talent, and teamwork of North's theater program.

The Ultimate Adventure

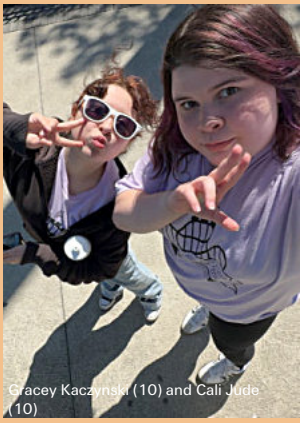

Every spring, the band, choir, and a few math classes venture to Cedar Point for an adventure filled day. While students enjoy the rides, explore the park, and make memories with friends, the day also includes educational activities that make the trip more than just a day of fun. Both the band and choir group perform and entertain guests with their musical and vocal talents, while the math classes utilize math to analyze information about various roller coasters. Despite the work involved, it is a day everyone looks forward to each year.

A new tradition at North High School is the PBIS Bash that typically occurs on the last class day before finals begin. This day was implemented to celebrate students in grades 9-11 and their hard work. Students use Ranger Bucks to purchase food, drinks, and participate in various activities and games. This year, each grade attended an assembly called Think Interactive where they participated in trivia and games to earn gift cards. The fun-filled day ended with a kickball game between staff and students.

On May 1, 2026, North High School students stepped into a world of elegance and grandeur for a prom night that lived up to its Royal Night theme. The atmosphere was electric, buzzing with a high-energy spirit that carried from the very first entrance to the final song on the dance floor. It was a true visual feast; the room sparkled with an array of beautiful dresses-from classic ball gowns to modern silhouettes and bedazzled suits that shimmered under the venues lights. Making Our Mark

The Class of 2026 left a lasting mark on North High School, making the most of every moment during their final week as Rangers. They celebrated with cherished traditions, including Senior Sunrise and Senior Sunset, the senior prank, Senior Awards, the Senior Picnic, and the Senior Parade. Before graduation, many seniors returned to their elementary schools to reconnect with the teachers who helped shape their journey and inspire their success. As they shared one last week of laughter, memories, and celebration, the Class of 2026 reflected on how far they had come and looked ahead to the adventures waiting beyond North's halls.

Between posing with presidents (the stone kind, anyway) and surviving a marathon of monuments, North seniors traded school bells for the high-energy buzz of the city of Washington D.C. The students marched through history, fueled by overpriced caffeine and the frantic need to see everything at once. It wasn't just a field trip; it was our final "out of office" before the real world begins.

The Yearbook Staff created this book for you! :)
Our staff tried to make sure that we have created an inclusive yearbook with as few mistakes as possible. If you have any concerns about the book or recommendations for next year, please put them in writing, suggest a way to solve the problem, and bring them to the yearbook room. Please remember that this book is created by students for students. We try to make it great, but it is not a professional publication. Although we have made every attempt to make this an accurate account of the year, some errors are bound to occur. It is our hope that, as a student, you wish to share with staff members what you like about the book.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Fryman and the 2026 Yearbook Staff
