c. TTUSD has a newly refined District Vision, which will act as the North Star for the District; a task force of 60 people was formed to help refresh the District's Strategic Plan; we will keep the same three focus areas (Academic Achievement, Support Systems, and Community Connections), but will establish new priorities for the next five years within those areas; tomorrow (October 14) is the first meeting where the team will dig into data
d. District Technology Updates
    i. TTUSD will focus on what are the right tools for teachers in the classroom; last week there was a Parent Workshop and Student Workshops at the High School level with Michael Angelone, cofounder of IncredibrAIn, which focused on AI and its impact, as well as thinking about safety and executive function/teaching students how to use technology/AI in a meaningful way; the next step is to bring experts together to give a vision of what they see possible for AI and how to use it
    ii. The District Technology Usage Dashboard monitors the daily screentime of students during the school day; on average it was about 1.34 hours/day during September, which is close to last school year's average throughout the year; there is a live link on the slide in the presentation that breaks the screentime usage down by school and shows which tools the students are using; TTUSD takes District data, technology, and AI adoptions seriously
e. Measure AA is winding down, with it continuing this year and next year; as it is coming towards an end, the Board called for an election this November putting Measure P on the ballot; this is a renewal of the current parcel tax; Measure P asks the community for an additional $40/year to make up the loss due to inflation; Measure P is for a nine year duration, and will help keep the current programs going; 100% of the funds stay local, there is strict oversight with independent audits as well as a Citizens' Oversight Committee to monitor the budget is being spent as promised to tax payers; there are also exemptions for seniors 65 and over as well as low income homeowners with disabilities

f. TTUSD Student Enrollment - enrollment has been fairly steady and stable from June 2026 to September 2026; enrollment (with Sierra Expeditionary Learning School) tends to hover around 4,000 students

6. Approval of 2026-2027 Measure AA Budget - October Adjustment

   a. Assistant Superintendent Chief Business Officer Todd Rivera reviewed the October adjustment; this is the revised budget we do every year in October based on official enrollment numbers as of Census Day; during the October revision, the only column we change on the budget is for supplies; we do not change the budget for staffing/FTE; the last page shows variances by school site between the original adopted budget and the October revisions; the adopted budget is based off 25/26 enrollment numbers; in October we update the budget based off 26/27 enrollment numbers
   b. John Neuberger motioned to approve the revised budget; Rachael Kuttel seconded; unanimous approval of the revised budget

7. Measure AA Site Highlight

   a. Truckee High School - CTE and AP Programs
   b. Principal John Neuberger reviewed the presentation linked above, highlighting programs/employees funded by Measure AA
   c. Measure AA covers 7.4 FTE at Truckee High School and THS has 14 Advanced Placement class options for its over 800 students
   d. Mike Mazzie teaches AP European History (and is the only AP Euro teacher at THS) and also teaches AP Computer Science; students appreciate these classes and how they help prepare them for their future education/careers

e. Dana Frank teaches the Culinary Arts Career Technical Education pathway courses; students are learning skills they will use after high school; completion of this pathway gives students a ServSafe Certificate, which is a help in the workforce; the expenses of the culinary class in general (ex. industrial dishwasher that uses certain soap) are high, so the assistance of Measure AA with this is crucial
f. Eniko Kuch teaches AP Pre-Calculus and AP Calculus AB; Measure AA also assisted with calculator purchases for this class g. Trent Kirschner teaches the Emergency Medical Response Career Technical Education pathway and Introduction to Fire Science; Measure AA assists with being able to offer hands-on training with appropriate materials and PPE (personal protective equipment)
h. In addition to the courses listed in the presentation, THS also offers the following AP courses: U.S. History, Government, Fine Arts, Ceramics, Language, Literature, and Spanish
i. Principal John Neuberger emphasized the importance of Measure AA in being able to offer the breadth of classes and high-level learning opportunities that students at THS deserve
