During the 2025-26 school year, Bostonia Global utilized Proposition 28: Arts and Music in Schools (AMS) funding to support and expand arts education across both of its school sites. Prop 28 funds supported two full-time certificated educators, Erica Morales serving the elementary program and Andrea Aguirre serving the high school program. Through these programs, students received opportunities to engage in visual and performing arts experiences designed to foster creativity, self-expression, collaboration, communication, and confidence. Arts instruction provided students with opportunities to develop artistic skills while applying critical thinking, problem-solving, and other transferable competencies. At Bostonia Global, arts education is integrated into the school''s competency-based and pathway-driven approach to learning. Students are encouraged to connect their artistic interests and strengths to broader academic, career, and postsecondary goals. The Prop 28-funded programs expanded access to meaningful arts experiences for students across both campuses and supported Bostonia Global''s commitment to developing well-rounded, creative, and future-ready learners.
