NDEAM 2026: The Neurodiversity Employment Landscape

The employment landscape is constantly evolving, especially for neurodivergent individuals. Hear from Laura McNulty, Executive Director of the Neurodiversity Employment Network of Philadelphia, and Abby Jayroe, Senior Vice President of Strategic Partnerships & Operations at NEXT for AUTISM, who will help you navigate the changing landscape, offering the latest information on opportunities and resources for neurodivergent individuals in the employment world.

Engage with us in conversation about what neurodivergent employees can teach us about the future of work and what Pennsylvania employers can do to attract, support, and retain this growing segment of the workforce. Attendees will leave with practical considerations they can bring back to their own organizations, along with a clearer understanding of how workplace practices can create more opportunities for neurodivergent people to succeed and thrive at work.
