Work-Based Learning	Required work-based learning opportunities		Math-College Research Project: Students are researching out of state colleges. They research the general costs (& more detailed costs), entry requirements, & other money involvement with integrated math concepts.	To Be Revised	Mock Trial simulation to learn about trial procedure, interpret evidence, question witnesses, and construct compelling legal arguments.	Presentation about voting and access to voting
Integrated Curriculum	Multidisciplinary Integrated Curriculum		English, Math, Science, & Social Justice: Students research, study, collaborate, and discuss data collected about the social, emotional, economic, and environmental impact homelessness has on our collective communities. Essential Question: What is your social and ethical responsibility to the world?	Law, Chemistry, English, & World History: Students will learn about the scientific and historical causes of climate change and will engage in an activism project to fight climate change and mitigate its effects.	English, History, & Law: Students work on Argumentation skills throughout the year. At the end of 2nd semester, students choose a Social Justice topic related to Law for further research. In this cross-curricular project, students analyze source credibility, gather evidence from numerous sources, synthesize research and compose an Argument Paper. Various components of this project will be conducted in the three core classes. At times they will be collaborating with peers and presenting information.	Government: Students will be working towards the State Seal of Civic Engagement with curriculum from the Constitutional Rights Foundation.
