Idaho Child Find

SOME CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES ARE NOT IN SCHOOL

Child Find is a service that finds and screens preschool children's growth and development, and informs older students with delays of available services.

It is important to ask questions about your child's development when he/she is young, since that is the time of the greatest growth and development.

Preschool skills of thinking, moving, and talking form the foundation for later school success.

Does your child:

◊ have difficulty interacting appropriately with peers?
◊ have difficulty following/remembering directions?
◊ become restless or have an excessive activity level?
◊ have speech difficulties?
◊ have behavior which differs significantly from peers?

If these or other areas of behavior concern you, contact your local school district about its screening program and services available to those who qualify for special education.

"All school-age children and all preschool children with disabilities have the right to a free public education."
