

Growing Together in Faith, Wisdom, and Excellence

A GUIDE TO PARENT PARTNERSHIP AT WESTMINSTER

At Westminster, we believe education is more than the acquisition of knowledge. It is the formation of young people who love God, pursue truth, develop wisdom, and faithfully steward the gifts He has entrusted to them.

This work is most fruitful when parents and school share a common vision and walk together in a spirit of trust, grace, and mutual commitment.

1

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO CHRISTIAN FORMATION

OUR COMMITMENT

To cultivate a Christ-centered community where biblical truth shapes teaching, relationships, character, and the pursuit of excellence. Our faculty serve not only as educators, but also as mentors and disciplers who help students understand their identity as image-bearers of God.

YOUR PARTNERSHIP

To value Christian education and reinforce at home the biblical principles taught at school. While families are at different places in their faith journeys, we ask parents to support our Christian mission and encourage their children to grow in faith, character, and wisdom.

2

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO REDEMPTIVE RIGOR

OUR COMMITMENT

To design rigorous learning experiences that stretch students, cultivate curiosity, and develop perseverance. We seek to know each student well, providing appropriate guidance and support while maintaining high expectations.

YOUR PARTNERSHIP

To embrace the value of productive struggle. Learning will not always be easy, and challenges, mistakes, and setbacks are often essential to growth. We seek families who encourage effort over shortcuts, perseverance over immediate success, and personal responsibility over the pursuit of perfect outcomes.

3

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO CHARACTER AND RESPONSIBILITY

OUR COMMITMENT

To create a community where students are known, loved, challenged, and held accountable. We approach discipline and correction as opportunities for restoration, growth, and the development of Christlike character.

YOUR PARTNERSHIP

To support your children in developing humility, respect, diligence, honesty, and personal responsibility. When challenges arise, we hope families will work alongside teachers and school leaders to help students learn from their choices, receive correction with grace, and grow in maturity.

4

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO TRUST AND COMMUNITY

OUR COMMITMENT

To foster a welcoming community marked by meaningful relationships, thoughtful communication, and genuine care for students and families. We value the trust parents place in us and take seriously our responsibility to partner with them.

YOUR PARTNERSHIP

To approach school relationships with goodwill, communicate openly and respectfully, and address concerns directly with the appropriate faculty or school leaders. We recognize that disagreements may arise, but believe they can be navigated with humility, honesty, and a shared desire for what is best for students.

5

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO FAITHFUL STEWARDSHIP

OUR COMMITMENT

To steward the resources entrusted to us with integrity, wisdom, and accountability. We recognize that choosing Christian education represents a significant investment, and we seek to communicate clearly about tuition, financial aid, and financial expectations so families can make informed decisions.

YOUR PARTNERSHIP

To view Christian education as an intentional investment in your child's academic, spiritual, and personal formation. We ask parents to thoughtfully consider the financial commitment, communicate openly and honestly about circumstances that may affect their ability to meet that commitment, and honor tuition obligations in a timely and responsible manner.

OUR INVITATION TO YOUR FAMILY

Choosing a school is about more than academics, activities, or opportunities. It is about choosing the people who will help shape your child's heart and mind during some of life's most formative years.

At Westminster, we are not looking for perfect students or perfect families. We are looking for families who share our vision, value our mission, and desire to grow alongside us.

Our admissions interview is an opportunity to begin that conversation—to learn more about your family, hear your hopes for your child, and explore how we might partner together in the years ahead.
