

MADISON LEARNING SERIES: FOR PARENTS, CAREGIVERS & TEACHERS

DIFFICULT CONVERSATIONS, DEEPER CONNECTIONS: BUILDING RESILIENCE IN NEURODIVERGENT CHILDREN

How do you discuss challenging topics with a child who thinks deeply, feels intensely, and asks complex questions?

This session provides parents of gifted and twice-exceptional children with practical strategies for navigating sensitive conversations about mental health, loss, and other difficult subjects.

WHEN:

Monday,
November 30, 2026
6:00 - 7:15 PM

WHERE:

Madison School
District Governing
Board Room
5601 N. 16th Street
Phoenix, AZ 85016

Emily will address how to:

Learn how to balance honesty with age-appropriate explanations, validate intense emotions while building coping skills, and create safe spaces for processing complex feelings.

Discover techniques for transforming challenging discussions into opportunities for emotional growth, deeper parent-child connections, and increased resilience.

Emily Kircher-Morris,
M.A., M.Ed., LPC

Emily Kircher-Morris, M.A., M.Ed., LPC, is an author, Licensed Professional Counselor, and host of The Neurodiversity Podcast. Drawing on her clinical expertise and background education, she frequently speaks and provides professional development worldwide to help families, educators, and clinicians better support neurodivergent minds.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT:

ELIZABETH WARNER, GIFTED COORDINATOR AT EWARNER@MADISONED.ORG