Hi, this is Valeria Martinez from the Foreign Language Honor Society. Did you know that the invention of the waffle ice cream cone has deep Italian-American roots? While several vendors claimed to invent the ice cream cone, Italo Marchiony, an Italian immigrant in New York City, was granted the official U.S. patent for a machine that made edible ice cream cups back in 1903! He came to America in the late 1800s and started selling lemon ice from a pushcart before revolutionizing how we eat ice cream today.
