

A message from our Superintendent:

Welcome to Tallapoosa County Schools - a community committed to helping every student achieve their fullest potential and preparing all learners for success in College, Career, and Life. We believe in setting high expectations, building strong, trusting relationships, and providing safe, inclusive learning environments for all students, faculty, and staff. Together with families, local businesses, and community partners, we share the responsibility for educating tomorrow's citizens.

What We Believe

- We foster strong relationships between students and educators so each student feels known, supported, and encouraged.
- We maintain safe, welcoming school campuses where learning is a top priority.
- We collaborate with stakeholders - parents, local businesses, and community organizations to strengthen opportunities for our students.
- We set and uphold high expectations so students develop the academic skills, character, and resilience needed for life beyond high school.

Our Vision For Students

Tallapoosa County is building students today for a better tomorrow by providing diverse learning Pathways - including one-to-one devices, Dual Enrollment, Advance Placement courses, and career and technical training at the Edward Bell Career Tech Center - so every student can pursue their interests and earn credits that advance future goals.

About Our Community

Tallapoosa County spans 716 square miles in Alabama's Piedmont region and includes Lake Martin and cities such as Dadeville, Jackson's Gap, Hackneyville, Daviston, New Site, and Reeltown. Our county is home to a diverse population and a workforce connected to nearby metropolitan areas. With five schools and a dedicated career tech center, our district is an economic and educational anchor in the region. Our committed teaching staff - nearly all Highly Qualified - drives student learning and achievement each day.

Pride and Achievement

We celebrate the accomplishments of our students and teams: in academic performance, fine arts, state championships in athletics and extracurricular activities that reflect the commitment, teamwork, and school spirit present across our district. These achievements highlight what is possible when students are supported by excellent teachers, involved families, and strong community partnerships.
