STUDENTS As a pupil, I understand that being successful relies on me: Arriving at school on time, well-rested, and prepared. Committed to following school rules and the norms of the classroom. Be responsible for my day, be determined to be open to opportunities to better my intellect and turn any failure into a pathway towards achievement. Cultivate and draw from the strength of getting to know my peers and adults and understand their importance. COMMUNICATION ABOUT LEARNING Together, we ensure every child, every day, experiences high-quality instruction, meaningful relationships, and the support needed to learn, grow, and succeed. Daily use of ClassDojo helps students know how they are doing in relation to school expectations, in the classroom, and with each other to cultivate a multidimensional student. Parent Square provides extensive news and is also a two-way communication for parents and teachers. Students, Teachers, Parents/Guardians – Working Together for Success!	IN THE CLASSROOM As an educator, I devote my efforts to being prepared, present, and ready to receive my students. Utilize the tools and standards provided, as well as accommodate my class to allow learning to reach all levels. Always be aware that every step taken by us gets stamped as a process for our students. Recognize the importance of staying in communication with parents. Provide time to share information about what is going on at school to draw a picture of the student away from home. Celebrate the diversity of the class. AT HOME As a parent, I will support the high achievement habits of being prepared before we leave the house. Working to set a schedule at home to provide norms that will structure the learning long term. Leave the house on time and in dress code. Monitor personal communication devices and make sure they are being monitored at home and not being abused at school. Provide time to communicate about the school day. Be a role model of a respectful person. Keep up with communication with school and teachers. Sign all required forms and return them as soon as possible.	OUR GOALS FOR STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT DISTRICT GOALS Keep our families informed about news that affects students and our communities—opportunities to acknowledge parents' and community members' concerns and suggestions. Highlight opportunities for parents to improve their understanding of the curriculum by providing education and support. SCHOOL GOALS Provide opportunities for more parent involvement. Share more by consistently providing avenues of more robust communication. Support PTO membership drives to have more parents involved through day-to-day or cycles of involvement. Continue to be a hub of education, information, and community collaboration

2026-27 Braeburn Elementary School-Parent Compact

WHAT IS A SCHOOL-PARENT COMPACT? A successful compact is the collaboration of students, teachers, and parents. This will illustrate the goals and responsibilities that will ultimately lead to success for all our students. An emphasis on high-quality instruction will be overlaid by these three layers of support. Students are responsible for reaching these standards set in school by teachers and at home by parents. JOINTLY DEVELOPED WITH PARENTS/GUARDIANS Every school year, parents and families are invited to review our compact to reflect any changes in our campus and district. It functions as a living operating document that parents can bring up for discussion during the year. The voices of the elements of the compact, in the form of teachers/school, parents, and students, can share edits to map out a successful school year. These meetings are run through our Title 1 program that facilitates semester meetings. These meetings are always on Parent Square and open to our parents and families.
