Course catalog

An explanation of all classes is available in the FCPS Course Catalog. The catalog lists course numbers, subject areas, grade levels required to enroll in the course, credits earned upon successful completion of the course, required prerequisite course(s), and course descriptions. Students should be enrolled in courses that meet graduation requirements and prepare them to meet their educational and career goals. Contact counselors for assistance and to learn about educational and career opportunities.

Grading Scale

Frederick County Public Schools uses a 0-100 percentage scale converted into letter grades (A-F) and a 4.0 GPA (Grade Point Average) scale to measure academic achievement. A failing grade (F) shows that the student has not mastered the content in the class. Plus/minus (+/-) modifiers are used to signify higher or lower levels within a grade band (e.g., B+ is higher than B).

Letter Grade	Numeric Grade	Regular	AP/Dual Enrollment Regular + .05
A	90-100	4	4.05
B	80-89	3	3.05
C	70-79	2	2.05
D	60-69	1	1.05
F	Below 60	0	0

How is my student graded in middle and high school?

Grades are not based on one final exam. They are a mix of daily homework, quizzes, major projects, and final exams. The students are graded using a combination of summative and formative assessments.

Summative (Product) – 70%

Summative assessments are final evaluations that measure a student's mastery of specific standards or skills. Assignments in this category may be reassessed. Examples include projects, performance tasks, major writing pieces, presentations, laboratory reports, and tests.

Formative (Process) – 30%

Formative assessments are designed to provide students with ongoing feedback as they work toward mastering standards and skills. These assignments offer opportunities to practice and identify areas for improvement before completing a summative assessment. Examples include quizzes, class assignments, and graded homework.

Graded homework may be included as part of the formative category and may account for no more than 10% of the overall course grade. Not every assignment must be graded.

Please note: The examples listed are not all-inclusive. Some assignments may fall into either category depending on how they are used. For example, a lab activity could serve as either a formative or summative assessment based on its purpose.

School Contacts

If you have questions about grades or how to support your student, please contact your student's counselor or teachers. You can find counselor information on each school's website in the "School Counseling" section. Teachers' names are listed in Infinite Campus and on report cards.

To contact staff, there are several options.

ParentSquare

Allows you to send a message to any staff member. It will automatically translate messages into English if needed.

Staff Directory

Each website has a "Staff Directory." Choose the "contact" button under the person's name. You can send a message in any language.

School Phone Line

Staff may be working with students at that time, but you can leave a message. Translation may not be available immediately.

Liaison Contact

The liaisons can help direct your message and answer questions.
