1. Narrative description of the Proposition 28 arts education programs funded (2500 character limit).

SpEd: There were no applicable Prop 28 expenditures during fiscal year 2025-26.

Court: Funding supported a poetry residency and wellness-arts instructional materials for students at the Juvenile Justice Center (JJC). A poetry consultant teacher guided students in reading, analyzing, writing, performing, and publishing original poetry, while accompanying wellness-arts materials supported students' engagement with creative and expressive arts practices. This programming continued to provide a safe, structured creative outlet for youth, supporting intellectual curiosity, communication skills, and emotional development. Poetry and expressive arts instruction served as a catalyst for learning across academic subjects, fostering self-expression and personal growth for students in a system-involved setting.

Community: Funding supported visual arts instruction and materials across community school sites, including general art supplies and instructional materials, and access to a Glowforge laser cutter/engraver for design and fabrication-based art projects. One or more art consultant teachers provided direct instruction in visual arts techniques, creative design, and hands-on fabrication, giving students exposure to both traditional and digital/making-based art forms. This programming expanded students' access to visual arts instruction, supported creative skill-building, and provided an engaging, hands-on complement to their academic coursework.
