Twenty-Six D200 musicians earn ILMEA recognition

A total of 26 Woodstock Community Unit School District 200 student musicians were selected to represent District 7 at Illinois Music Education Association festivals held in November.

The selected students represented Creekside, Woodstock, and Woodstock North high schools from the band, choir, and orchestra programs.

The audition process is a significant undertaking for student musicians, who must prepare and submit recordings of music excerpts, etudes, and scales. Only about 25 percent of auditioning musicians are selected for the ILMEA performances.

Congratulations to all of these student musicians and to our excellent music education staff!
