Dear Prep Family,

A few weeks ago, I celebrated the wedding of two Scranton Prep graduates in New York City. It was one of those occasions when Prep seemed to be everywhere. The bride and groom were Prep graduates. Their siblings were Prep graduates. Their parents were Prep graduates. Everywhere I looked, I was surrounded by people whose lives, in one way or another, had been shaped by this place.

And it reminded me of something that is easy to forget in the busyness of a school year: Scranton Prep becomes part of people's stories.

This year, our school-wide read is David McCullough's "The American Spirit". As I have spent time with his speeches, what has stayed with me most is not a collection of dates or presidents or great events. It is people and their stories—people who made decisions without knowing exactly where those decisions would lead the people who took risks, experienced failure, persevered, and ultimately lived lives that mattered in ways they probably could not have imagined at the time.

There is something profoundly familiar in that. For more than eighty years, young people have walked through the doors of Scranton Prep without knowing exactly where their stories would lead. They came to us as teenagers, still discovering their gifts, their hopes, their faith, and the people God was calling them to be.

And then they went out into the world. They became doctors and teachers, attorneys and artists, business leaders and public servants, parents and grandparents, priests and religious. They built careers and families and communities. They experienced success and disappointment, joy and loss. And through all of that, something of Prep went with them.

That is the remarkable privilege of this mission. We become part of our students' stories—and, in ways we could never fully measure, they become part of ours.

Our Report on Support tells another part of that same story.

The names on these pages represent far more than gifts to a school. They represent people who believe that the story of Scranton Prep is worth continuing. Your generosity makes it possible for a young person to sit in a classroom and encounter a teacher who believes in them before they fully believe in themselves. It creates opportunities for students to discover talents they did not know they possessed, friendships that may last a lifetime, and a faith that will accompany them long after they leave Wyoming Avenue.

Most importantly, your support allows us to continue doing what Prep has always done: caring for, educating, and forming young people for college, for life, and for eternity.

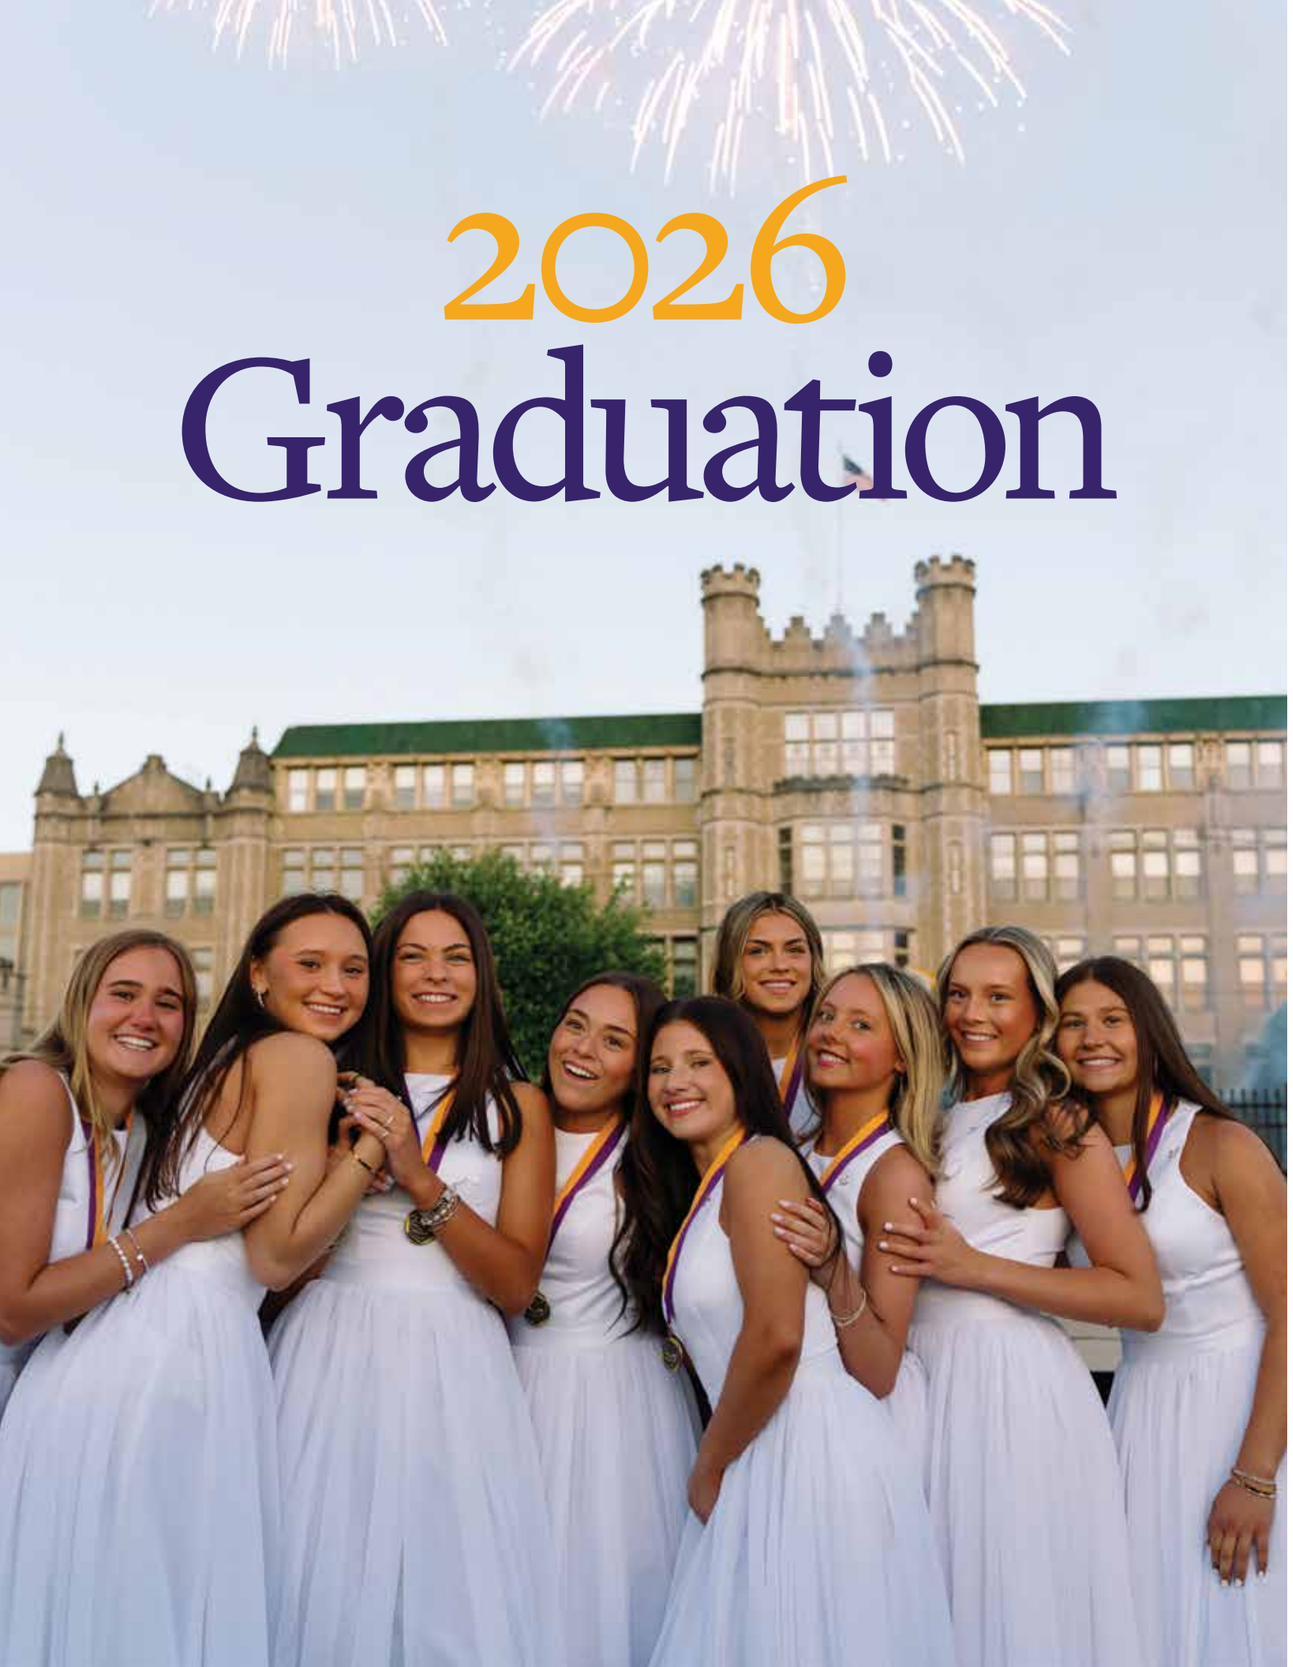

None of us knows exactly how the stories of the students in our classrooms today will turn out. Neither do they. But because of you, Scranton Prep gets to be part of those stories.

And someday, perhaps at a wedding or a reunion or simply in an unexpected encounter years from now, we will catch another glimpse of just how far those stories have traveled.

Thank you for believing in them. Thank you for believing in this mission. And thank you for continuing to be part of the story of Scranton Prep.

2026 Graduation

The Scranton Preparatory School Class of 2026 leaves Loyola Field and the halls of Prep with much to celebrate and even more to be proud of. This remarkable class distinguished itself through academic excellence, leadership, athletic achievement, artistic talent, and an unwavering commitment to service. They embraced the Jesuit ideals of being men and women for and with others, leading with compassion, integrity, and a desire to make a difference in the world around them. Whether in the classroom, on the stage, on the athletic fields, or in service to the community, the members of the Class of 2026 continually challenged themselves to seek the Magis, the greater good. As they move on to colleges, careers, and new opportunities, they leave behind a legacy of faith, friendship, resilience, and excellence that has strengthened the Scranton Prep family and will inspire generations of Cavaliers and Classics to come.

- 99% of the class of 2026 is attending college.
- The class submitted nearly 1,400 college applications, and there were 1023 total college acceptances for the class by 208 different colleges and universities.
- For the next four academic years, a total amount of over 61 million dollars in merit scholarships has been awarded to this class.
- They will attend 59 unique colleges and universities across 17 states and the District of Columbia this fall.
- 41% of the class will attend a Jesuit university (67 grads).
- 49% of the class will attend a Catholic university, including Jesuit (80 grads).
- 71% will attend private universities; 29% will attend public universities.
- 69% will remain in-state for university; 31% will attend an out-of-state university.

We welcome the Scranton Prep Class of 2023, who arrive as a vibrant and diverse group of 165 freshmen, representing 36 different grade schools from across our region. The class includes 91 young women and 74 young men, each bringing their own talents, experiences, and perspectives to the Prep community.

Reflecting Scranton Prep's commitment to making a Jesuit education accessible to deserving students, 102 members of the class are receiving financial aid or merit scholarships.

Together, these newest members of the Prep family begin their journey ready to learn, grow, serve, and become Ad Altiora Natus— Born for Higher Things.

In the Footsteps of St. Ignatius

Reflections from the Camino Ignaciano, June 2026

This past June, seven members of the Scranton Prep Community participated on a pilgrimage, "In the Footsteps of St. Ignatius," beginning in Bilbao, Spain and ending in Rome, Italy. This pilgrimage for the faculty, staff, and administration of Scranton Preparatory School was made possible only through the extraordinary generosity of two members of our Board of Trustees, whose support provided this meaningful opportunity for faith, reflection, and community.

As lay men and women working in a Jesuit institution, we play an essential role in carrying forward the mission and values of Jesuit education. For that reason, it is important that we understand the life, experiences, and works of St. Ignatius of Loyola and the principles that shaped his vision. His journey of conversion, reflection, discernment, and service helps us better understand why Jesuit schools emphasize educating the whole person, finding God in all things, and striving for the Magis. By becoming more familiar with Ignatius, we are better equipped not only to teach our students, but also to model the compassion, reflection, generosity, and commitment to others that define a Jesuit education.

On Loyola Castle, birthplace of St. Ignatius...

"Standing in Loyola Castle this summer, I was reminded that hundreds of years ago, in that very place, one person made the decision to begin again. He could never have imagined all that would grow from that transformation. And yet here we are. Now it is our responsibility to continue what Ignatius began—to create an environment where hope, kindness, forgiveness, positivity, and goodwill grow abundantly around our students. Because we never really know how far the influence of one positive choice, one act of kindness, or one new beginning might travel."

Posie O'Brien Granet '94, Director of Alumni

On Montserrat...

"Montserrat was especially meaningful to me. I found it incredibly humbling to pray before the statue of Our Lady, where Ignatius laid down his sword, and with it, his entire identity.

We all carry swords. They may not be like Ignatius', but we carry things that keep us guarded, protect us, or define us. Perhaps those same things are the ones that keep us from becoming who God has created us to be."

- Matt Bernard, Director of School Counseling, Social Studies Department

On Manresa where Ignatius drafted the Spirtual Exercises...

"The cave reminded me that transformation rarely happens all at once. Ignatius did not enter Manresa as the saint we know today. He entered carrying wounds, questions, and struggles. Through prayer, reflection, and discernment, God gradually shaped him into something new. I realized that growth often happens in those caves of our lives, the places we would never choose, yet the very places where God does some of his most important work."

- Christine Greco '82, World Language Department, Chair

On the Catacombs of Domitilla...

"Celebrating mass at that moment with my dear friends, I felt an overwhelming connection to the Scranton Prep community, to St. Ignatius, and to my faith. I envisioned a direct line from those sacred catacombs to the halls of Prep."

- Dan Goffredo, Social Studies Department, Chair

On the Rooms of St. Ignatius...

"We kept saying that the pilgrimage provides. And sitting in that room, I realized that it had. It provided exactly what I didn't know I needed: a renewed sense of gratitude for the people who brought me here, pride in the mission we get to carry forward, and, most importantly, a sense of purpose in being part of it."

- Brianna Hall '15, English Department

Where gratitude meets tradition, and generosity shapes tomorrow.

"Having graduated from Scranton Prep over 40 years ago, I can honestly say that my relationship with the school is aging like a fine wine, for only years later am I truly able to comprehend how impactful attending Scranton Prep was in my life. It was almost as if the school were an omnipotent being that knew right from the beginning how my life would unfold. I had seen the "Scranton Prep" story over and over again through the years. A detail here and there might be different among the various students that walked through the hallowed halls of 1000 Wyoming Avenue, but we were all raised to be women and men for others, strong, resilient, faithful, and loving. Some would take a path far from home, and others would stay close. But all of us were taught how to live our lives with our hearts.

I am grateful for the academic rigor of all of the classes, for teaching me discipline and precision. I thank the teachers who constantly encouraged me to explore deeper and who instilled in me a sense of intellectual curiosity and critical thinking. I embraced the opportunity to grow outside the classroom from the plethora of extra-curricular offerings that challenged me to pursue excellence and required me to prioritize my time. All of this was done with a backdrop of knowing that I was supported and loved by my teachers and friends, that gave me the confidence to go out into the world to pursue my dreams.

I graduated from Scranton Prep and continued my education at the University of Pennsylvania and at Harvard Business School. I worked as a public accountant at Arthur Andersen, as an investment banker at Merrill Lynch, and as an avid volunteer in the not-for-profit world. The most cherished part of my career was as a board member at Scranton Prep.

I married my best friend and soul mate Jeff, who I met in college, and we had the privilege of raising our two beautiful daughters, Christina and Tae. Living life can be glorious and difficult, sometimes at the same time. Thank you Scranton Prep for giving me the resilience to power through the difficult times and the grace to appreciate all the beauty life has to offer. Scranton Prep prepared me for every aspect of life, and because of that, I am inspired to give back my time, energy, and financial support to ensure that everyone who desires a Scranton Prep education has the opportunity to experience it."

- Debbie Kim Zajkowski '82

Rev. T. Donald Rinfret, S. J. Awardees

Each year, the Scranton Prep Alumni Office remembers Rev. T. Donald Rinfret, S.J., who served as Prep's Headmaster from 1966 through 1977, and when Prep was incorporated separately from the University, as Prep's first President from 1977 until 1981. In 1982, the Scranton Prep Alumni Board of Governors decided to honor Fr. Rinfret by naming its highest award for him. It is given annually to a Prep graduate who has brought distinction to the school through the service of others, particularly in ways that reflect Prep's motto: Ad Altiora Natus. This year, we honor Deborah Kim Zajkowski from the class of 1982.

The 2026 Scranton Prep Auction, "It's 5 O'Clock Somewhere", was a tremendous success! A heartfelt thank you goes to Tony '80 and Karen Domiano for serving as this year's outstanding chairs and bringing their vision and enthusiasm to this beloved event. For one magical evening, the Xavier Center was transformed into a tropical paradise, complete with island-inspired décor and music, laughter, and the vibrant spirit of the Prep community. The auction raises vital funds that directly impact every one of our students in every way. We thank our benefactors, our parents, alumni, and our community for their support of our goal to provide Jesuit education to the young people of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

This Is Faith in Action.

Scranton Prep's Summer Service Program is a long-standing and deeply valued tradition that provides our students with opportunities to put their faith into action through service to others. Over the years, students have traveled to Mexico, Richmond, West Virginia, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Reading, immersing themselves in experiences that challenge them to step beyond what is familiar and encounter the realities of others. As we look to the future, we are committed to broadening these opportunities, both domestically and abroad, so that even more students can experience the transformative power of service and encounter communities and perspectives beyond their own. These experiences are an important part of the personal and spiritual growth that takes place during a student's years at Prep, deepening their faith while fostering empathy, compassion, and a lifelong commitment to social justice. Summer Service brings our Jesuit mission to life and reflects the values of the Graduate at Graduation, helping our students become more open to growth, intellectually competent, religious, loving, and committed to doing justice. Through serving alongside and learning from others, our students begin to understand more fully what it means to become men and women for and with others and to carry that responsibility with them long after they leave Prep.

My service trip to Punta Gorda, Belize was easily the most eye-opening trip that gave me a different perspective on my life back home by the end of it. Being there for a week made me realize just how much I must be grateful for and how easy it is to take certain things for granted in everyday life. Experiencing the natural beauty and scenery was unlike anything I had ever seen with my own two eyes. But more than anything I will remember how welcoming the people were to us throughout this trip. It felt like we had belonged in their community for years by the end of it, because of how open-minded and friendly the people of Punta Gorda were. It was obviously very meaningful to be able to give back to others, but the relationships built were the highlight of this trip. You become incredibly close with the community around you, and you leave Belize with experiences and relationships that will last you a lifetime.

This Is For and With Others.

El Salvador 2026: An experience carried home.

No olvidada. Not forgotten. This is the common theme woven throughout our entire trip to El Salvador in April 2026. Listening to a man's story of his wife who disappeared migrating to the US, and how he now helps other families find their lost loved ones; celebrating Mass in the exact Church Monsignor Romero was assassinated in, due to his Jesuit values and compassion for the El Salvadoran people; staying in people's homes in the community of El Papaturro, eating their food, and bridging communication gaps with gestures and laughter, playing tag, mika, and making bracelets with children of the community, all of these moments of our trip, and all those in between, will stay with my peers and I for long after we leave Scranton Prep, not to be forgotten.

In each of these moments that will not be forgotten, there was a deeper meaning: the one our Jesuit education always challenges us to find. We are taught to search for and recognize the purpose behind thoughts, actions, and prayers. To examine why and how. A couple times on the trip I had to physically stop in my tracks as I realized my feet, my mind, and my heart would not be where they are today if not for the Jesuit faith. If not for Scranton Prep. While El Salvador was an Immersion Trip, the service of my peers and I began when we arrived home. We are sharing the stories of the people we met, using our Jesuit education to stand in educated solidarity with the people we encountered in El Salvador. There are many stories that go unheard or unshared throughout life, and this trip gave us the opportunity to give our ears and hearts to new people and experiences, to share what we learned so these stories are not forgotten. No olvidada.

- Anna Brown '26

Humbled. This past week my students and the people of El Salvador reminded me what service is really about. Remembering that it is not how I can change their lives but how I can be changed through authentic encounter. Thank you to my students for showing me this in action. Thank you to the people of El Salvador for helping me to understand the gritty realities of the martyrs who have so influenced my spirituality. Thank you to Scranton Preparatory School for giving me the opportunity to go. Finally thank you to CRISPAZ: Christians for Peace in El Salvador for helping to guide our experience.

This Is Service That Changes Us.

Lessons in Humanity, Kinship, and Encounter from Los Angeles.

Over Scranton Prep's 2026 Spring Break, Abril Lopez '18, Dominique Preate '19, and I took six Prep seniors and four Prep juniors on a service trip to visit, to serve with, and to learn from many service communities in the city of Los Angeles. Students encountered various kinds of service from the kinship found at Homeboy Industries, to the grace performed at Midnight Mission on Skid Row, to the bravery emboldened at Alexandria House. For one week following our service each day, we gathered at our base at Dolores Mission Church to share in group reflections on the occurrences of the day.

My immediate hesitation with this inaugural service trip, one which I voiced in my opening reflection to our wonderful students, was a fear of "saviorism." I feared that, by my students and I intruding on the service being done in L.A. with our Nike sneakers and official Philadelphia Phillies merchandise, we would conflate ourselves as saviors, young adults from a prestigious school changing the lives of those rehabilitating gang-members and houseless individuals in need of resources. I feared this hypothetical intrusion. I feared those we worked with would see us as little more than vacationers. I feared negative effects on those in need despite our best intentions. I feared these things until I began my conversations with these communities.

What is service if not graceful intrusion?

These communities opened their doors to Prep, its students and its faculty, not predominantly for us to serve them but for them to serve us. By working alongside these communities, we began to see those in need less as a demographic or a statistic, a reality deeply ingrained in our modern culture, but as people, as lives being lived, as us. The opportunity to listen to those in need, to hear their hardship paired with their humanity, actualized their existence in our minds; our experience changed the terms "gang member," "homeless individual," "recovering addict" from stock caricatures to human faces.

I could not attest to the need for the continuation of this service trip greater. As our cherished city continues to evolve, so too does its demographics, its challenges, its needs. The trip to Los Angeles made my students, my fellow faculty members, and I better equipped to welcome Scranton's changes, to see this change from a vastly improved lens of humanity, to grow alongside the change.

- Zane Price '19, Alumni Service Corps Member, History Teacher

The Kino Border Initiative has chosen Scranton Prep as one of their select groups due to our students' drive, intelligence, compassion, and humanity when visiting the Kino facilities. Through service trips like these, our students learn about various issues on a more personal level. This trip takes what they have learned the last three years and allows for them to live out Jesuit ideals and really be "Men and Women for Others".

- Abril Lopez '18, Assoc. Director of Admissions

Honduras is plentiful in love and hospitality. It is a country of reflection; just as the ocean reflects the sky, the beautiful community and culture reflects the beauty of the land. The smiles shared between one another each day are as bright as the sun, and the generosity shown between both neighbors and guests alike is seen everywhere.

- Layla Hardy '27

This Is Building Possibility.

Summer sounds different in a high school like Scranton Prep. The daily bustle of changing classes, dining hall discussions, after-school club meetings and practices, performances, matches, and games is replaced by the slower, steady pulse of deep cleaning, painting, rearranging furniture, and the quieter bustle of students exploring, reviewing, and learning in summer enrichment courses. Sometimes that quiet is punctuated by construction projects, masonry work, or the buzz of large cranes on the front lawn. But a sense of calm and stillness prevails, even as the world outside can hear and see that the work of Scranton Prep continues.

Those listening closely, however, have heard another kind of building echoing through the halls of Scranton Prep for the past three summers. Yes, Prep has been building! Not with jackhammers and cranes, but with robots and skillets. Not with blueprints and bricks, but rockets, recipes, photographs, and clay. Not buildings and structures, but futures. Through a community centered on exploration and discovery, BUILD invites middle school students to spend part of their summer learning through hands-on experiences making, experimenting, creating, questioning, and discovering the world around them for themselves.

At its foundation, BUILD is a five-week summer program designed to prepare middle school students for success in high school and beyond. Each day, students strengthen the essential skills that help build that success through engaging classes in reading, writing, mathematics, and leadership. These foundations are accompanied by hands-on workshops, field trips throughout Northeast Pennsylvania and beyond, community service projects, and many opportunities to explore, create, collaborate, and discover new interests. Together, these experiences allow students not only to sharpen the academic tools they will carry into high school, but also to grow in confidence, independence, curiosity, and their ability to learn alongside others.

Long after the summer construction equipment disappears and the familiar sounds of a new school year return, BUILD continues to reflect a simple belief that is the very heart of Scranton Prep: give young people a strong foundation, challenge them to discover what they love and are capable of, and surround them with a community that believes in them —and there is no telling what they can build.

This Is a Legacy That Lives On.

Celebrating Fr. Mac at 100

In March, the Prep community was honored to celebrate Fr. Mac's 100th birthday and to recognize a man who remains a mentor, an inspiration, and an example of faithful leadership to all of us.

Fr. Bernard McIlhenny began his ministry in Scranton in 1958 as Scranton Prep's Headmaster. His visionary leadership helped lay the foundation for the tremendous growth, innovation, and many accomplishments that have shaped Scranton Prep over the past 80 years. Fr. Mac often reflects on how growing up in a Jesuit parish profoundly influenced the course of his life, reminding us that "the environments that nurture our young people often shape the people they become." His life is a testament to the lasting impact of communities that instill faith, values, and a commitment to serving others.

Create Your Legacy at Prep.

A planned gift is a meaningful way to support Scranton Preparatory School beyond your lifetime while helping to secure the future of Jesuit education for generations to come.

Planned giving can be as simple as including Prep in your will or trust, naming the school as a beneficiary of a retirement account or life insurance policy, or making a gift of appreciated assets such as stock or real estate. Many planned gifts can provide tax benefits while allowing donors to make a lasting impact.

Legacy gifts support scholarships, academic excellence, innovative programs, and the long-term financial strength of the school. They ensure that future generations of Cavaliers have access to the same transformative Prep experience that has shaped so many lives.

By including Scranton Prep in your estate plans, you can create a legacy that reflects your values and commitment to the mission of Prep.

For more information, visit our planned giving website https://scrantonprep.giftlegacy.com/or contact the Office of Advancement.

Turn Your Tax Dollars Into Opportunity.

Two tax-credit programs can make supporting a Prep education more affordable than ever.

PENNSYLVANIA EITC
Redirect your PA taxes. Change a student's life.
A simple look at how a $10,000 EITC contribution can work.

1. $10,000 CONTRIBUTION — Start with a $10,000 contribution.
2. $9,000 PA TAX CREDIT* — Receive a Pennsylvania tax credit.
3. $1,000 FEDERAL CHARITABLE DEDUCTION* — Potential federal charitable deduction.
4. $10,000 SUPPORTS SCHOLARSHIPS — Your contribution supports student scholarships.

SUPPORTS NEED-BASED SCHOLARSHIPS
Helping students and families right here in Northeastern PA.

INDIVIDUALS & BUSINESSES
Available to qualifying taxpayers with Pennsylvania tax liability.

ALREADY PAYING PA STATE TAXES? TAKE CONTROL OVER WHERE THEY GO.

COMING IN 2027
Federal Scholarship Tax Credit
A potential new way to support Scranton Prep students through your federal tax dollars.

UP TO $1,700 IN FEDERAL TAX CREDIT*

YOU (DONOR) → SGO (SCHOLARSHIP GRANTING ORGANIZATION) → STUDENT (STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP)

HOW IT COULD WORK
- Donate up to $1,700 to Scranton Prep through a Scholarship Granting Organization.
- Receive that same amount as a federal tax credit, not just a deduction.*
- Potentially zero net out-of-pocket expense.*

PENNSYLVANIA PARTICIPATION REQUIRED
This federal tax credit will be available to Pennsylvania donors only if the Commonwealth elects to participate. Scranton Prep will keep our community informed as details are finalized.

SCHOLARSHIP GRANTING ORGANIZATION
Gifts must be made to a Scholarship Granting Organization (SGO). Scranton Prep and Saint Joseph's Prep have formed an SGO known as PJH'S. Donations made through this program may be directed to either school through the SGO.

*Program details and tax treatment are subject to final rules and individual eligibility.

Contact the Scranton Prep Advancement Office to learn more about tax-credit giving.
Call 570-941-7743, advancement@scrantonprep.org, scrantonprep.org/giving for more information.
