Power Hour: time to focus

A dedicated study hour for P-TECH college success

CEDAR VALLEY | REQUIRED STUDY TIME

POWER HOUR | 1:00–2:00 PM

A time to complete work, prepare, and keep making progress.

What is Power Hour?

Power Hour is a scheduled hour of focused study for P-TECH students at Cedar Valley. It gives students time during their college day to complete assignments, review course materials, prepare for tests, and stay organized. Students who are already passing use the hour to strengthen their understanding and prepare for upcoming work.

Who attends?

All P-TECH students at Cedar Valley who do not have an in-person class from 1:00-2:00 PM must report to the study room.

Students with an in-person class during that hour attend their class.

How is the time used?

Students work on college assignments, study for quizzes and tests, review notes, and prepare for upcoming deadlines.

The goal is to use the full hour productively and ask for help when needed.

Why it matters

Consistent study time helps students build strong college habits, stay on track, and take ownership of their learning. Families can support Power Hour by talking with their student about what they completed and what is coming next.
