These are the top first-year varsity cross country runners on Long Island. In order to qualify, the runner has to have had no experience running in a varsity cross country race before this fall. Their age/graduating class does not matter. They are listed in alphabetical order by last name.

GIRLS

Ella Behrens, Miller Place, Jr.

She is a former soccer player with some prior track and field experience. This summer, she decided to give up soccer in exchange for year-round running. That decision was smart. The 20-minute, 14.63-second time she clocked on the 5-kilometer course at Sunken Meadow State Park — one of the state's hardest courses — ranks ninth on Long Island.

The Future of Miller Place Communication

The Communication Challenge

When information is spread across too many places, important messages can get missed.

- Email, websites, apps, paper notices and calendars compete for attention.
- Families may not know where to look for the latest update.
- Multiple children can mean multiple schools, teachers and communication streams.
- Important reminders, forms or schedule changes can be buried in inboxes.
- Language differences can make school messages harder to understand.
- Teachers spend time sending the same information through different channels.

ParentSquare: One Place to Look

A consistent communication hub can reduce the guesswork for families and staff.

1. ONE HUB
   District, school and classroom updates in one app.

2. ALERTS + REMINDERS
   Important information is easier to find and act on.

3. CALENDAR
   Events and dates are visible in one place.

4. TRANSLATION
   Messages can be translated into 190+ languages.

5. DIGITAL FORMS
   Complete permission slips and forms from a phone or computer.

6. STUDENTS
   StudentSquare gives students their own communication hub.

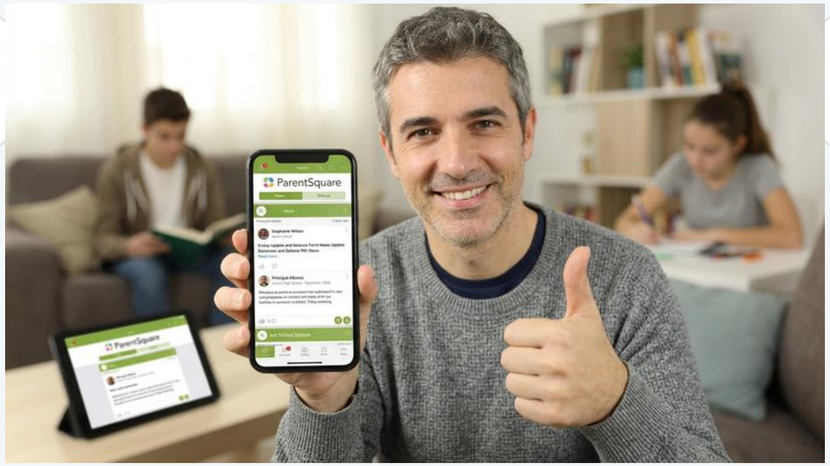

Less searching • fewer missed messages

How It Helps Parents, Teachers & Students

Three groups. One communication experience.
