November is Good Nutrition Month

November is Good Nutrition Month, and it’s a wonderful time to highlight how we bring fresh, wholesome choices to the cafeteria table every single day. Fruits and vegetables sit right at the center of the school plate. Every school breakfast and lunch includes a vibrant variety of options—from crisp green veggies and rich red and orange vegetables to wholesome legumes and delicious fresh, frozen, canned, or dried fruits. Thanks to national school meal standards, students enjoy a wider variety, larger portions, and are encouraged to build healthy habits by taking at least a half-cup of fruits or veggies with every meal. Here’s to a nutritious and energizing November of Powering Potential!

Our Team

At Central Bucks, our work-based learning program trains students with special needs in our school kitchens, giving them hands-on skills, real responsibility, and a path to a job with us. Many of these students go on to join the Aramark team as employees, and they are some of the most dedicated, reliable, and positive people we work with. Their pride in their work shows in every meal they help prepare. We're proud of what they've accomplished and grateful to our school partners who make this program possible.
