GETTING HELP IN BVSD

Communication between school and home is critical to student success. We encourage teachers and parents to share concerns and suggestions proactively. Always start with your child's classroom teacher or special education teacher/case manager. Most issues can be resolved at that level. If it isn't, use this chart to follow the steps for resolution. If you jump to a director without talking to teachers and principals, they will ask you to do that first.

