A FREE EVENT FOR PARENTS, CAREGIVERS, AND SUPPORTIVE ADULTS IN A CHILD'S LIFE

TINSEL, TRADITIONS, AND BOUNDARY CONVERSATIONS

The holiday season brings opportunities to connect with family, friends, and traditions. It can also be a meaningful time to help children learn about boundaries, consent, and respect.

Join CARES NW Prevention for a conversation about how parents and caregivers can use holiday gatherings as opportunities to build these skills while helping relatives and friends understand and support these positive values.

We'll discuss:

- Boundaries, consent, and respect during the holidays
- Helping children use their voice and make body-safety choices
- Communicating family expectations with relatives and friends
- Using holiday traditions to model healthy relationships and connection

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8TH
VIRTUAL
TWO DIFFERENT TIMES AVAILABLE

Morning session
11:00 AM – 12:00 PM
(click to register)

Evening session
6:30 PM – 7:30 PM
(click to register)

cares northwest